BLACK OR WHITE TIE?
WITH A DINNER SUIT.

CONSULT FARMER'S SARTORIAL PSYCHOLOGY.

"And study fashions to adorn my body."—Shakespare.

The question has been raised, vide paragraph in the Evening News, owing to Mr. Cyril Mackay, playing as Joe Brooks ("PAID IN FULL," at the THEATRE ROYAL), wearing a white tie with his dinner suit.

"On Mr. Mackay's behalf it is stated that the white tie is 'the latest thing in evening wear both with the dress suit and dinner jacket.'" But—

IN FARMER'S SARTORIAL PSYCHOLOGY, "A Correct Guide to Dress," will be found a complete exposition of what to wear upon all occasions. And the Tie with the DINNER JACKET MUST BE A BLACK BOW.

Of course, most men wear what custom sanctions, but dress is as much subject to change as language, and orators, as the late Mr. Gladstone frequently pointed out, make new words as they are required. But to know what is correct in dress,

YOU CAN TELL

"Robur" by the appetising, pleasant aroma which fills the room where it has just been made. It has a fulness and a richness which are not easily described, and the natural creamy taste which it possesses makes it a favourite with most people who try it without prejudice. We assort it into four grades, and put it up in packets and tins—full weight in each. You can get it from your grocer.

James Service and Co., Proprietors,

P.S.—For everyday family use we recommend the "No. 2" Grade.

SHANTUNG SILKS.

A DISPLAY IS MADE IN ONE OF OUR GEORGE-STREET WINDOWS, AND IN OUR SILK DEPARTMENT ON FIRST FLOOR.

The success of this delightful Summer Dress Silk does not depend entirely upon the unprecedented vogue there is for Shantungs this Season, but upon the durability of the texture. Three qualities:—

QUALITY A.—The colours comprise: White, Cream, Sky, Pastel Blue, Amethyst, Vieux Rose, Rose Pink, Heliotrope, Light Brown, Dark Brown, Navy, Reseda, Moss, Black, Dahlia, etc. 26 inches wide .... 3/3 yd.

In this better quality the colours are of beautiful tones, and quality of an "even" nature. 33 inches wide 4/11

Cyril Mackay presents a masterly portrait of the weak and currish Brooks. The Captain Williams of George Bryant is an impressive figure so long as he remains Bad, and William Desmond's 'Jimsy' Smith—a delightful, if unusual, character, compounded in about equal parts of goodness, generosity, strength, and brain power—must win the affections of all right thinkers."

THE MAJOR'S NIECE.

BY GEORGE A. BIRMINGHAM.

(ALL RIGHTS RESERVED.)

CHAPTER XVI.—Continued.

A loud cheer from the shore greeted the party as they stepped into the boat. Meldon took one of the Spindrift's flags in his hands, stood in the stern, and waved it. The coast guards, inspired by the moving scene, pulled briskly. Meldon's advice to Marjorie was unfortunately wasted. She had no opportunity of behaving with dignity. As the boat grounded Mrs. O'Halloran and Mary Garry rushed into the water and seized the child. Between them they carried her ashore. They, Miss Garnett, Jamesy Deverill's wife, Flanagan's wife, and nine strange children, who had gathered to the scene as mysteriously as vultures to a battlefield, formed a group round Marjorie, repelling the Major, who wanted to satisfy himself that his niece was really safe. Maher-Shalal-Hash-Baz yelped with frenzied delight at the return of his master. He also succeeded in biting the heel of a policeman's boot and tearing a long hole in the leg of Paudeen Canavan's trousers. Major Kent, driven from the neighbourhood of Marjorie, wrung the hands of Meldon and Gregg, and then tipped everybody who could be tipped, including Flanagan the farmer, with the utmost liberality.

"I'm glad to see," said Meldon, "that you've got over that fit you had, Mary Garry. Perhaps next time I tell you to bring tea into the drawing-room you'll bring it without arguing."

"Let the girl be," said Mrs. O'Halloran. "Haven't you had your 'nough of mischief-making for one day? Or do you want to drive her off into hysterics again?"

"Miss Garnett," said Meldon, "I suppose it was you who let Mrs. O'Halloran out of the kitchen, where I had her locked up safe. I don't blame you, for I'm sure you meant kindly; but when you know her better you'll wish you hadn't been so foolish."

Mrs. O'Halloran and Miss Garnett had evidently become fast friends. Neither of them took any notice of what Meldon said. They took Marjorie by her hands, each holding one of them, and led her up towards the house. Mary Garry and the other two women followed, all of them weeping with excitement and joy. The nine children, their curiosity about Marjorie more or less satisfied, remained on the shore to watch Meldon and Gregg put on their clothes.

Major Kent hospitably asked Meldon, Gregg, and Ford to dinner. Meldon alone accepted the invitation. Gregg pleaded a desire for dry clothes, and declined to accept the Major's offer of a suit. Ford said that his own dinner was waiting for him at home. Both of them wanted to have the satisfaction of being the first to tell the news of the adventure to their wives.

Meldon, dressed in the suit of the Major's clothes which had been offered to Gregg, complained of hunger. There seemed to be little chance of getting anything to eat. Mrs. O'Halloran had not so much as boiled a potato during the afternoon, and flatly declined to attempt any kind of cookery. She and Miss Garnett sat in Marjorie's room. They discussed the day's proceedings till the child went to sleep and then continued to discuss them in whispers. Mary Garry flitted rapidly in and out of the room, until Mrs O'Halloran sternly forbade her to venture upstairs again. She then retired into the yard, and fed Paudeen Canavan on cold beef and soda-bread. Meldon, driven to desperation by want of food, caught her in the act. He rescued the beef, and succeeded, after raiding the larder and the storeroom, in gathering other materials for a meal.

With satisfied appetite, he and Major Kent retired to the study and shut the door.

"I shall telegraph to-morrow morning for Margaret," said the Major. "I can't stand the responsibility of taking charge of that child any longer."

"I daresay you're sorry now," said Meldon, "that you didn't invite my little girl when I suggested it. She'd have looked after Marjorie, and all this wouldn't have happened."

"I shall telegraph for Margaret to-morrow," said the Major, stubbornly.

"You may telegraph if you like; but if you do, you'll simply infuriate your sister, who won't a bit like being dragged away from the European capitals, and you won't be any nearer getting out of the very awkward position you're in now. I don't know, Major, whether you quite realise what you've done, but you and Marjorie will figure in every paper in the United Kingdom in the course of the next three days."

"Nonsense."

"It's not nonsense. Here you've had the entire police force of this part of the country turned out in full uniform, with their officer at their head. You've had a resident magistrate ready to administer any Act of Parliament you chose to ask for. You've had four coastguards, commanded by their officer with brass buttons on his coat, rowing long distances in a large black boat—a boat that belongs to the British Navy. You couldn't have made more fuss if the Germans and the Russians together had attacked Portsmouth Lodge in fire-balloons. You can't do that kind of thing and expect to keep it quiet afterwards."

"Nonsense," said the Major. "Who'd write to the papers? I shan't. Ford won't. Nor will Gregg. I don't suppose you will."

"I'll tell you who'll write. Doyle's nephew. He's already done a long account of the Lord-Lieutenant's visit for the Dublin papers. He expects to make at least thirty shillings out of it. Now if a function of that kind—a thing which occurs practically every week during the first year any Lord-Lieutenant is in Ireland—if it's worthy thirty bob, what do you suppose the papers will pay for a really exciting thing like this? I don't know, of course; but I should say not less than five pounds. Do you suppose that Doyle's nephew will let an opportunity of the kind slip? Not he. He wouldn't be Doyle's nephew if he did. He's round at the police barracks this minute, I expect, interviewing the sergeant and picking up picturesque details from the men. When he's got all he can out of them he'll go on to the Coastguard Station. He's sure to do a paragraph about you as a grief-stricken uncle, overwhelmed by a sudden and totally unexpected calamity. He'll work in Mary Garry and Mrs. O'Halloran. He'll trace out Olivia's antecedents and describe her personal appearance. He'll telegraph the whole thing to-night at about 9 o'clock, so as to have it in good time for the Dublin papers to-morrow morning. The English press will copy it the next day."

"I don't believe," said the Major, "that the newspapers will print a rigmarole of that sort. What on earth interest would the public take in a little girl going for a picnic to a yacht?"

"That won't be the point at all," said Meldon. "If there was nothing more than that the papers wouldn't so much as say 'Thank you' to Doyle's nephew. The real value of the story lies in your ridiculous behaviour; in the summoning of a small army of police and coastguards to rescue a child who was perfectly safe all the time."

"Let them print what they like," said the Major desperately. "It won't matter to me if they choose to make fools of themselves. But, of course, they won't. Even if the Dublin papers mention the matter they'll say very little about it; and no other paper will copy them."

"Won't they? Just you wait and see. This is the month of August, and Parliament isn't sitting. There's hardly a single politician in the whole country making a speech even on a Sunday. They're all playing golf. The wretched reporters are wandering about with notebooks in their hands, driven to desperation for the want of something to write about. They have motor car accidents and 'Sad fatalities while bathing' stuck into the most prominent places in their papers. They'll be down on you in swarms. The first one will arrive in all probability the day after to-morrow, and from that on you won't have a quiet hour. If I were you I'd get Paudeen and Marjorie and yourself photographed in a group. Leave a couple of hundred copies of the picture at the gate lodge, and tell Jamesy Deverill to give one to each man who comes to see you. You might stave off the worst of them that way."

"I shall telegraph to Margaret," said the Major. "She's in Vienna now. She might be here on Monday or Tuesday if she started at once."

(To be continued.)

WHAT DOES MR. M'GOWEN MEAN?

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—Mr. M'Gowen said in a speech last week: "It had been decreed by Providence that man should labour to live; that by the sweat of his brow he should advance; that by the exercise of his God-given muscles and powers he should develop the resources of the land, and then contribute to the well-being of humanity." Now, that sounds very fine, but what does he mean? Mr. M'Gowen is leader of the Labour party, and so is the head of trade unionism and the Trades Hall, and these combined forces stand against men using the full extent, or even to a moderate extent, their God-given muscles and powers. Their faculties are oppressed and their output and wages minimised to about half by the Trades Hall and trades union rulers. How? Take the rules as to the quantity of work. Then look at the subscriptions and fees to unions, etc., to pay salaries, etc., to numerous officers. Consider also the levies of various kinds, including a forced subscription to a Labour press.

These levies and subscriptions deprive wives and children of some of the comforts earned by a man's labour and by "the sweat of his brow." Let the mechanic and working man say whether I am right or wrong. More than that, I challenge the officials of the Trades Hall Council, the trade unions, and those who work to keep up the agitation, to produce a detailed aggregate statement of their salaries, wages and expenses of their offices.

I am, etc., FOOT RULE.

LAW REPORT.

IN BANCO.

(Before the Chief Justice, Mr. Justice Pring, and Mr. Justice Sly.)

THE NEW ATTORNEY-GENERAL.

The members of the Bench having taken their seats, the Attorney-General (Mr. W. A. Holman) announced to the Court that he had had the honour to be appointed Attorney-General of New South Wales.

The Chief Justice: I congratulate you on having attained to such an honourable and responsible position.

A SOLICITOR EXONERATED.

RE ALEXANDER SCOBIE.

Mr. Blacket, instructed by Mr. T. Michell, appeared for the Incorporated Law Institute, in support of a motion by which Alexander Scobie, solicitor, of Junee, had been called upon to answer certain matters contained in affidavits filed by the institute. The Attorney-General (Mr. Holman), instructed by Mr. F. A. Commins, of Junee (by Messrs. Garland, Seaborn, and Abbott), appeared for the respondent, to show cause. Mr. Blacket said that the Court disposed of the matter originally on May 30 last, when the rule nisi was discharged, but it was mentioned again three days afterwards, as it was stated that additional facts had come to light. The matter first came before the Court upon affidavits, in which it was stated that in 1907 respondent had received from one John Gooby certain instructions in connection with the transfer of a special and also a residential lease from himself to Jonathan Gooby. As to the special lease no question arose, as that transfer was duly registered. The transfer of the residential lease was sent through, but it was objected to by the Lands Department, because the signatures which it purported to bear were not the signatures of the parties. This matter was not before the Court on the previous application, and the institute charged the respondent with misleading the Court by making an affidavit of May 20, which omitted any information that the transfer which respondent had sent through had been refused by the Lands Department, on the ground that the signatures were not the signatures of the parties. He quite admitted that the original transfer was stamped, but apparently it had been lost, and a copy was sent by respondent's clerk, who wrote the signatures of the parties. The institute wrote to respondent from time to time, but as he did not furnish a sufficient explanation the case was referred to the Court.

The Chief Justice said that on the original motion the Court, being of opinion that the matter had been properly explained, discharged the rule nisi. Afterwards, upon being informed that there was some error about the statements as to the transfer of the residential lease having gone through, the Court ordered the matter to be restored to the list.

Mr. Blacket: Yes, that is so; and, of course, the matter bore quite a different complexion from which it did before. What the institute charged was that when respondent in his affidavit referred to "the said transfer," he intended that it should be taken to mean the original transfer, which it was not, but merely a copy.

The affidavits on both sides having been read, Mr. Scobie was examined, and said that he had inspected the copy transfer at the Lands Department. The body was in his own handwriting, but the signatures were written by a clerk named Clare. Egan was in his employ up to October 6 of last year, but at the time he (respondent) was busily engaged in the court at Junee, and he ascertained afterwards that Egan was away from the office, and he did not see him again until October 19. He believed at the time that the original transfer was sent down to Sydney by Egan on October 6. The "Thomas Charles Humphrys, J.P.," on the copy transfer was in the handwriting of Clare. He did not think the other signature was like Egan's.

The Chief Justice, in delivering the judgment of the Court said that, though the matter was a proper one for inquiry, it was of opinion that it would not be justified in making any order implying that respondent had been guilty of any improper conduct, except that in his earlier affidavit he should have set out the whole circumstances exactly as he knew them. His explanation was that he was advised not to do so, and that it would be time enough when the circumstances were referred to by the other side. Still, when any slur was cast upon a man, and he knew facts which would enable the Court to have a complete view of the case, he should, in his own interests, make the whole circumstances known to the tribunal investigating the matter. For that reason the Court thought that the affidavit filed by Mr. Scobie should have distinctly made reference to the fact that the documents which had actually reached the Lands Department as the original transfer had been discovered by the department not to be the document signed by the transferring parties. If that had been done, and an explanation had been given which the Court had now before it, it would have been justified in arriving at the conclusion which it did before. Having the additional facts before it the Court was of opinion that no order should be made. He thought, however, that the costs of the Law Institute should be paid by the respondent, because if he had explained the matter fully at first the present proceedings would not have been necessary. As to the costs of the former proceedings the Court made no order at the time, and made no order now.

EQUITY COURT.

(Before the Chief Judge, Mr. Justice Simpson.)

LATE W. J. ELLIOTT'S WILL.

A FRIENDLY SUIT.

Mr. R. K. Manning, instructed by Messrs. Shipway and Berne, appeared for the plaintiffs, Percy Witton Berne and Dora Russell, and Mr. Rich, instructed by Messrs. Shipway and Berne, for the defendants Charles Louis Elliott, Albert Horace Elliott, Vera Edith Elliott, Edward Alexander Elliott, and William Jacob Russell (all under the age of 21 years); and Mr. J. A. Browne, instructed by Messrs. Shipway and Berne, for the defendant Mrs. Florence Maud Ward.

This was an originating summons in connection with the will and codicils of William Jacob Elliott, late of St. George's-crescent, Drummoyne, the plaintiffs being the executors, the Court being asked to determine whether the executors had power to apply the income of the estate, after payment of an annuity of £200 towards the maintenance of the infant beneficiaries.

His Honor made an order allowing the trustees to apply more money than the will provided for towards the maintenance of the children.

CAPO v GAGLIARDI.

This case was continued, and stands part heard.

IN PROBATE.

(Before Mr. Justice Street.)

A MISSING WILL.

Re Herbert Stock, deceased.

Mr. Murray Prior, instructed by Mr. W. A. Windeyer, appeared for Rosina Stock, widow of the late Herbert Stock, and moved that probate be granted to her of a draft of a missing will. The testator, it appeared from the affidavits, died suddenly on August 3 last while travelling in a train near Yass. He duly made and executed his will on February 4, 1901, whereby he left all his property to his wife and appointed her sole executrix. Though search had been made, no trace of the will could be found, although the testator referred to it several times prior to his death. After hearing argument his Honor reserved his decision.

BANKRUPTCY COURT.

(Before the Registrar, Mr. F. H. Salusbury.)

HEARING OF CREDITORS' PETITIONS.

Sargood Bros. against W. Todd. Petition not served. Case adjourned till October 31.

Alfred Weaver Allen against Jean M'Leod. The sequestration order was made, Mr. W. H. Palmer being appointed official assignee.

CERTIFICATE APPLICATION.

Re Robert Spear Begbie. Bankrupt appeared in person. The Registrar found that the bankrupt had brought on his bankruptcy by unjustifiable extravagance in living, had contracted debts without a reasonable or probable expectation of being able to pay them; had made a composition with creditors previously; and did not show that his estate then paid 10s in the £, nor produce a certificate from his then creditors that his failure was, in their opinion, caused by misfortune only. The certificate was granted, subject to bankrupt punctually paying £2 10s fortnightly.

VOLUNTARY SEQUESTRATION.

William James Honniball (sometimes known as William James Patterson), of Mirool Creek, near Narrandera, labourer. Mr. C. F. W. Lloyd, official assignee.

INDUSTRIAL COURT.

(Before Judge Heydon.)

MECHANICS AND MINERS.

The Federated Mining Mechanics and Mutual Protective Association of Australia appealed against that portion of the Newcastle Collieries (Newcastle and Maitland workers not miners) Board's award, which provides for a sliding scale of wages for mechanics.

Mr. H. M. Cohen (of Messrs. Bray and Cohen, of Newcastle), with Mr. W. Waller, secretary, appeared for the union; and Mr. Kelynack, instructed by Messrs. Sparke and Millard, of Newcastle, for the Colliery Proprietors' Defence Association.

Argument was concluded, and his Honor reserved judgment.

UNITED STOREMEN.

An application was made by T. Miller, secretary of the United Storemen's Union, for the constitution of a wages board, to inquire into the conditions of the industry in which the applicants are engaged.

Mr. V. Read (Read and Read) appeared for the Master Retailers' Association, to ask for the exemption of all shops that come under the provisions of the Metropolitan Assistants' (Drapers) award; Mr. Kelynack, instructed by Messrs. Minter, Simpson, and Co., appeared for the Vacuum Oil Company, and asked for time to consider the nominations of the representatives.

The hearing was postponed until Friday to allow of due notice being served on those interested.

SUMMONSES FOR MONEY DUE.

Thomas Wilton summoned William Warbrick, builder, of Marion-street, Enmore, for £4, balance of wages alleged to be due. Mr. Croft appeared in support of the summons; and Mr. H. T. Morgan for the defence.

It appeared that complainant went from Sydney to a job near Woodstock, for which defendant was the contractor. He was paid 9s 6d per day as a hod-carrier. Under the award, if a man is engaged in Sydney for a job in the country he has to be paid 10s 4d, and the only question at issue between the parties was whether complainant was engaged by defendant in Sydney. Defendant said he did not engage the man in Sydney. He believed his son, who worked on the contract as a bricklayer, did, but without witness' knowledge or authority. His son paid the man's fare up, he believed, and witness paid his fare back to Sydney. He could have got plenty of labour in the country.

His Honor, in giving judgment, said he thought complainant was engaged in Sydney to work in the country, and therefore gave a verdict for complainant for the amount claimed.

SUMMONSES FOR PENALTY.

George Richmond Young, secretary of the Shop Assistants and Warehouse Employees' Federation, proceeded against Marcus Clark and Co., Ltd., of Miller-street, North Sydney, on an information charging defendants with paying V. Lundie, a storeman and packer, over the age of 23 years, less than the prescribed rate of wages, viz., 27s 6d per week, instead of 42s.

Mr. Jagelmann appeared for the defence.

The defence was that Lundie was not a storeman and packer, but a generally useful.

His Honor held that the case was not proved, and dismissed the information, with £2 2s costs.

G. R. Young, secretary of the Shop Assistants and Warehouse Employees' Federation, proceeded against Frank Mette, trading as the Frankfurt Sausage Company, Ltd., on an information charging that an employee, Florence May Shine, cashier, was paid less than the stipulated wage, £1 4s, viz., 17s 6d per week. For the defence it was pointed out that there was a mistake as to the girl's age, and that directly after the inspector called her wage was increased to £1 4s, all the back money was paid up, and the girl had also been given her meals. His Honor said the fact that defendant had given the girl her meals was a mitigating circumstance. He imposed a fine of £1 10s, with costs £1 11s 6d, in default 24 hours' hard labour.

(Before Mr. G. C. Addison.)

CASUAL LABOURERS AND OVERTIME.

The Registrar gave his reserved judgment in the case of the Balmain Ferry Company, Ltd., which was the respondent in a case in which it was summoned by the secretary of the Firemen's and Deckhands' Union (Mr. George Albert Nichols), on two informations. One was that the defendant company had paid a fireman at the rate of 10d per hour on boats authorised to carry more than 600 passengers, instead of 10½d as prescribed by the award, and the other was that it had worked an employee in excess of 120 hours per fortnight, without paying overtime rates.

With regard to the information re rates on boats with more than 600-passenger capacity, the Registrar remarked that a breach had admittedly been committed. The employee concerned had received a larger amount during some of the time than he was entitled to under the award. The case was one under the circumstances that could be met by a nominal penalty. A fine of 5s was imposed.

With reference to the other matter, the Registrar said that he recognised the importance of the principle involved, and had, therefore, given it the consideration due to it. The information, he held, was not supported by the evidence, and he, therefore, dismissed it. In some cases the hours worked as firemen and deckhands were considerable per fortnight, but in others the proportion was very small. He could not come to the conclusion that the 120 hours worked was firemen's and deckhand's work as contemplated by the award. It appeared there was an omission in the award, that, while certain rates for overtime were fixed for firemen, there was no provision made for firemen's work in connection with yards. He held that the 120 hours worked did not entitle to overtime.

Mr. Croft appeared for the union, and Mr. M'Donell (Messrs. M'Donell and Moffitt) for the respondent.

WORKING ON HOLIDAY.

George Kent, of North Sydney, pleaded guilty to two informations laid by the secretary of the Furriers' Union, charging him with working employees on a public holiday contrary to the award. In this case the holiday concerned was the 27th June, about which considerable uncertainty as to its observance had existed. Defendant said he did not know whether it was a holiday or not. He was fined 1s in each case, and £1 3s costs. In connection with this matter one employee was fined 1s and 5s 6d costs for working on a public holiday.

E. Casey and C. Thomasen, trading as Casey and Thomasen, of North Sydney, were each fined 6d and £1 7s costs on a similar information.

CLAIM FOR COMMISSION.

Joseph v Wells.

Mr. Pickburn, instructed by Messrs. F. Gannon and Sons, appeared for the plaintiff, Francis Henry Joseph, trading as Joseph and Co., hotelbrokers, of Sydney; and Mr. Watt, instructed by Messrs. Buchanan and Smithers, for the defendant, Florence Wells, licensee of the Trafalgar Hotel, George-street, Sydney.

The claim was for £47 10s, commission in respect of the sale of the Trafalgar Hotel, for which plaintiff said he found a buyer. The defendant pleaded never indebted.

His Honor, in giving his reserved decision, returned a verdict for the defendant.

(Before his Honor and juries.)

NEWTOWN TRAM ACCIDENT.

Gurrin v Chief Commissioner.

Mr. A. Thomson and Mr. H. Stephen, instructed by Mr. W. C. Clegg, appeared for the plaintiffs, Ellen Gurrin (wife of Frederick Martin Gurrin), Frederick Martin Gurrin, and Stella Mary Gurrin (an infant, who sued through her father as her next friend), all of 7 Munni-street, Newtown; and Mr. Pickburn, instructed by Mr. Cargill (Solicitor for Railways), for the Chief Commissioner for Railways and Tramways.

There were two actions amalgamated, the wife claiming £300, the husband £100 (for loss of his wife's services), and the daughter £400, in respect of an accident alleged to have been due to negligence on the part of the defendant's servants, a conductor and driver, who were in charge of a certain tramcar.

The defendant denied that the injuries complained of were caused by any negligence on the part of tramway servants.

The case for the plaintiffs was that on May 25 last Mrs. Gurrin, with two daughters and a niece, left at 20 past 9 in the evening to catch a tram at the terminus at Henderson-road, near Erskineville station, the tram being due to leave at 9.30. They gave themselves plenty of time, and when they arrived at where the tram was standing stationary they saw a tram official looking at the Bundy clock, at which the conductors register their times. Mrs. Gurrin placed the little girl, Stella, aged 8 years, in the tram, and was proceeding to get up herself, when the tram started off with a jerk. She hung on to the stanchions, and eventually fell on her left side. About 20 or 30 yards from the starting-point the little girl seemed to be whirled out of the fast moving tram, and fell in a heap on the road. The girl was picked up unconscious, and at the hospital was found to have sustained a fracture of the skull. Her skull was trepanned, and a piece of bone removed from the back of it. The child remained in the hospital a month. Mrs Gurrin was found to be suffering from an injury in her left side.

Comment was made by counsel for the plaintiffs on the fact that, despite the accident, the tram did not stop, but went right on to Sydney.

By consent, it was agreed that the jury should return a verdict for the plaintiffs in the following amounts:—The wife, £100; the husband £31 10s; and the daughter, £200.

CLAIM FOR £1000.

Collins v Ryan.

Mr. Carlos and Mr. Coen, instructed by Mr. J. J. Carroll, appeared for the plaintiff, Mary Eliza Collins, of 18 Campbell-street, Erskineville, widow, and administratrix of the estate of John William Collins, quarryman; and Mr. A. Thomson, instructed by Messrs. Norton, Smith, and Co., for the defendant, Nicholas Ryan, quarry-owner, of Ocean-street, Bondi.

The action, which was to recover £1000 damages, was under the Employers Liability Act, plaintiff claiming compensation for herself and eight children in respect of an accident which happened in the defendant's quarry at Bondi, by which her husband was killed. Defendant was a quarry proprietor, carrying on business at Bondi, and in the quarry were two cranes. On May 18 Collins was employed in the quarry, and at the time of the accident one of the cranes was shifting a stone of 30cwt for the purpose of weighting one of the legs of the crane. The crane leg was not properly weighted, and this stone was for the purpose of remedying this defect. The crane had no proper slewing apparatus, and the deceased had a rope pulling the stone round to deposit it at the leg of the crane. The crane was originally a hand crane, and had been turned into a steam crane, and was working as a steam crane on this occasion. While the stone was being pulled round something happened which caused the leg of the crane to "pick," through it being insufficiently weighted. The result was that it knocked an immense stone against the deceased, and broke his leg. He was taken to St. Vincent's Hospital, and died there the same day. Plaintiff set out that the defendant had not employed a certificated engine-driver, that he had not given the required notice of the erection of the crane, and that on the occasion in question the defendant had not gone the right way about shifting the stone.

The defendant pleaded not guilty, and raised the question of contributory negligence. The case stands part heard.

QUARTER SESSIONS.

(Before Judge Rogers and jury.)

Mr. R. Harris, Crown Prosecutor.

CHARGE OF BIGAMY FAILS.

Rosanna Wicks pleaded not guilty to a charge of bigamy. The Crown case was that accused married Charles Wicks on January 11, 1884, and while so married went through the marriage ceremony with Joseph Sena, on June 5, 1909. It appeared from the evidence that accused was married in 1878 to a man named Simpson. He died, and she then married Wicks. While the latter was alive she went through the marriage ceremony in 1898 with one named Wilson, and again in 1909 she married Sena. Sena only lived with her a few months, and then deserted her, and it was when she sued him for maintenance that he made inquiries and found that Wicks was alive.

Accused said that she believed her previous husbands were dead when she married Sena. Since 1889 she had been practically supporting herself.

After a short retirement a verdict of not guilty was returned, and accused was discharged.

QUARTER SESSIONS.

Albert Rivett, George Hay, and Winifred Casamento, breach Marriage Act (part heard); May Taylor, stealing; Thomas Gray, uttering counterfeit coin; William Randall, perjury.

MARRYING A MINOR.

BREACHES OF ACT ALLEGED.

TWO MINISTERS CHARGED.

Albert Rivett, George Hay, and Winifred Casamento pleaded not guilty at the Sydney Quarter Sessions yesterday to charges arising out of the marriage of Jennie Mirinato to Adolfo Domenici. Rivett was charged with having committed a breach of the Marriage Act in unlawfully marrying the said people, they being under the age of 21, and Hay and Casamento were charged with having aided and abetted Rivett in so performing the marriage. Mr. H. Harris appeared for the Crown; Mr. Hawkins appeared for Rivett, and Mr. Teece (instructed by Mr. Henry Dawson) appeared for Hay and Casamento.

Jennie Mirinato gave evidence to the effect that Mrs. Casamento told witness that she looked too young, and suggested how she could make herself look older. She also advised witness not to be afraid when she saw the minister, but to say that she was 21. In company with Domenici witness went to Hay's office in Elizabeth-street, and he told them they could not get married at his place. Witness then told Hay that she was 21, and that Domenici was 21 or 22. Hay asked them for their addresses, and they told him that they lived in Crown-street, a few doors from one another. Hay then told them they would have to pay 15s, and after they had paid him he gave them a piece of paper with some writing on it, and told them to take it to Rivett. They met Rivett at the Protestant Hall, and Domenici handed him the paper Hay had given them. Rivett then celebrated the marriage, and a man came in to witness their signatures. A fee of 12s was requested, and this Domenici paid. They then went back to Mrs. Casamento's house, and on the way called on Hay, who wished them good luck.

By Mr. Hawkins: Witness eloped with Domenici on December 8, and stayed at a house with him that night. Witness also signed a declaration that she was over 21. All the statements she made to Rivett about her age, place of birth, and residence were false.

Adolfo Domenici said that it was his wife who suggested they should get married, she telling him that he was to say he was over 21. He believed his wife's age was 15½ years.

His Honor suggested that the girl should appear in Court attired as she was at the time of the marriage, but as she objected to come into court the jury retired to view her in her bridal dress.

Witness, continuing, said that his wife's parents did not know they intended to get married. He heard Mrs. Casamento tell his wife to change her dress as the one she was wearing made her appear too young. Mrs. Casamento also advised his wife to put her hair up. Witness here corroborated the previous evidence in regard to the wedding ceremony.

The evidence of the girl's parents was to the effect that she was under 21, and that consent to her marriage had not been given.

Detective Bradley gave evidence respecting conversations he had with both Rivett and Hay. Mrs. Casamento, who was also seen by witness, told the latter she had given the girl a skirt, as the one she was wearing was not suitable.

By Mr. Teece: Hay handed witness the register without any hesitation.

Corroborative evidence was given by Detective Rochaix, and the Court adjourned till this morning.

BRITISH IMMIGRANTS.

At the council meeting of the British Empire League, held on Friday, the following resolution was unanimously passed:—"This league trusts that the authorities will take prompt and adequate measures to remove the serious obstacles to immigration existing under present conditions, whereby large numbers of specially selected British emigrants for Australia are unable to secure passages to the Commonwealth owing to lack of shipping accommodation. This league trusts, moreover, that the authorities may cause every facility to be afforded to British emigrants to travel by British ships only."

It was stated that many intending immigrants who had passed the examination and sold their homes, were waiting for passages, all the accommodation on outgoing vessels having been filled in advance.

EDUCATION.

PLAY AND THE SCHOOLS.

Mr. Jas. Dawson, M.A., Chief Inspector of Schools, in presenting the P.S.A.A.A. awards on Saturday morning at the Sydney Girls' High School, referred to the importance of sports and games in connection with present-day education. The public was not aware of the great services rendered in organising such extensive schemes as the annual P.S.A.A.A. club competitions of cricket, football, etc. If the department, he said, were to organise a special staff of men and women to control the P.S.A.A.A., and pay special salaries for the work, it would not secure a better service. The schools, by their competitions, were extending the practice of athletics to every boy and girl, but wider playing areas would have to be provided, while in new localities provision would have to be made for suitable reserves for the children. The size of the playground was a more important question than the size of the classroom.

THE TEACHERS' CONFERENCE.

The arrangements for the election of delegates to the forthcoming conference of teachers in December, for which nominations close on October 31, have been left to a special committee of the teachers' council. Nomination papers for the election have been sent to every metropolitan member. A good deal of interest is being taken in the present nominations, since matters of considerable importance are to be discussed in connection with the establishment of secondary schools in 1911. Primary teachers will probably come to be regarded in a different light from secondary teachers, and the existing classification of teachers in New South Wales is likely to be disturbed. Any improvements making for the disintegration of the teaching body of the State will consequently be carefully watched by the council of 1911.

VOICE CULTURE.

The metropolitan members of the Teachers' Association have during the past eight weeks received a series of addresses on voice-culture practically illustrated by Mr. Walter Bentley. The addresses, attended regularly by some 200 teachers, were delivered on Wednesday nights at the lecture-hall of the North Newtown Practice School and on Saturday mornings at Mr. Bentley's rooms in Phillip-street. The closing address was given last Saturday, when special thanks were conveyed to Mr. Bentley for his kindness in affording teachers opportunities for improving themselves in the matter of voice culture.

SANITATION AND THE SCHOOLS.

The past six months have seen much sickness among children in the metropolitan district, measles, scarlatina, diphtheria, whooping cough, and more latterly mumps, being very prevalent. The Department of Education has issued instructions to teachers on the sanitary arrangements in Public schools, which go far towards minimising the spread of infectious diseases. The department requires all outhouses to be kept clean, and the teacher in charge is expected to make daily inspection. Disinfectants can be obtained from the department, and teachers are instructed to obtain them and use them thoroughly when there is any infectious disease about, or whenever the conditions call for their use. In the wet-sweeping process adopted in the schools many of the cleaners use disinfectant in the water daily. In the country districts teachers are similarly required to take special precautions. The sanitary arrangements of many country towns are anything but satisfactory, and if there is an epidemic amongst the children, the cause is to be found in the general condition of the town, not in that of a particular institution. But, nevertheless, all questions of sanitation invariably receive immediate attention.

SWIMMING CLASSES FOR WOMEN TEACHERS.

Arrangements have been made for the holding of swimming and life saving classes for women teachers of the metropolitan and suburban schools during the ensuing season. The Department of Education desires that as many as possible should attend the classes, which will be conducted by Miss W. L. Gormley. The object of the classes is to secure a greater number of women teachers qualified to conduct the supervision and instruction of girls in swimming and life-saving. The swimming classes at the schools for girls are regarded as much the work of the school as are classes in reading, mathematics, or any other subject.

APPLICATIONS FOR NEW SCHOOLS.

The following applications for new schools have been granted:—Gotha, provisional; Warnerdale, Wyong, provisional; Cherry Tree, Leeville, half-time; Murragang, Casino, half-time; Cormena, Copmanhurst, half-time; Bonalbo, Tabulam, provisional; Bruxner, Casino, provisional; Pulganbar, Gordon Creek Station, provisional; Dunedoo, public; Garrymangle, Narrabri, half-time; Wilga Park, Narrabri, half-time; Upper Jiggi Jiggi, provisional. Schools for Lower Creek, Bellerd Estate, Iron Pot Creek, Mountain Creek, Botany North, infants; and Jerricknowa were declined. The applications still under consideration are: Jackson's Waterholes, Grabben Gullen Road, Warrell, Doonside, Napier, Peak Hill-road, Boree Creek, Black Swamp, Boree Creek Closer Settlement, Rocky Creek Station, Nidgiabil, Cox's River, and Walla Walla South.

NOTES.

The Public Schools Challenge Shield for drill, won by Stanmore S. P. School, at the last P.S.A.A.A. annual sports, was presented on Saturday morning. Mr. T. Owen had charge of the successful squad.

The Shoalhaven District teachers are desirous of hearing more of the teachers' superannuation scheme, and have asked Mr. Dent, of the council, to visit them at an early date.

THE AFRICAN NEGRO
HAS BEAUTIFULLY PEARLY TEETH—CLEAN, WHITE, AND PERFECT, WITHOUT A FLAW, EVEN IN OLD AGE.
LIVING NEAR TO NATURE, HIS DIGESTION IS PERFECT.

Dr. Livingstone, and later Sir Henry Stanley, both of whom spent much time in the exploration of Africa, in their memoirs mention the fact that members of all the tribes that they came in contact with possessed beautiful, white, pearly, sound teeth, and that on investigation they found that this was due to the fact that the digestive organs of the negro had never been impaired, and that they were able at all times to take care of the coarse foods that were taken into the stomach.

The negroes' food is of the plainest kind, and is seldom, if ever, cooked. It is eaten as it is found, with but little preparation.

The cause of unsound and imperfect teeth found among civilised people is due to two important facts—the prevalence of dyspepsia, indigestion, and stomach troubles and the food we eat.

In the foods that we eat there is a lack of phosphates and other materials necessary to make repairs and supply the waste in the teeth.

Then, again, few people in civilised countries are free from dyspepsia, which interferes with the whole system, and causes trouble everywhere.

To have sound teeth cure your dyspepsia and eat proper foods, and you will have little trouble with them.

A tin of Dr. Sheldon's Digestive Tabules should be kept in the house at all times. They are invaluable for dyspepsia, sour stomach, indigestion, and put the stomach and intestines in a healthy condition.

These Tabules contain powerful ingredients which assist the stomach in the process of digestion, and put it in a healthy condition.

There are many bodily ills due entirely to stomach troubles.

If you are ill, ask yourself if your trouble may not be caused by indigestion.

This may be the cause of the whole difficulty, and to cure it means to have perfect health.

You can obtain Dr. Sheldon's Digestive Tabules everywhere at 2/6 a tin of 80 Tabules.—Advt.

THE WEEK IN LONDON.

AN AUSTRALIAN'S NOTES.

(BY OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

Labour War.

LONDON, Sept. 23.

Rarely, if ever, can there have been so widespread restlessness in the ranks of organised labour as that which has been manifested here during the past few weeks. From all over the country, and in trade after trade, have issued threats of strikes and lock-outs. Conferences and meetings of masters and men are of daily occurrence. In the great shipbuilding dispute of the north, the representatives of the men and the Federation of Shipbuilders are in close and anxious pursuit of peace. In Wales thousands of coalminers have been laying down their tools promiscuously, ceasing work to-day and returning to it to-morrow, as though it were not so much that their grievance was great as that their envelopment within the general sweep of unrest was unescapable. The railway men of the Great Northern system have so far adjusted their dispute that an arbitrator has been decided upon; but in Lancashire, where hundreds of thousands of cotton operatives are threatened with a lock-out that will involve the stoppage of 40,000,000 spindles, the issue is still in the balance. News comes, too, of a threatened strike of English seamen and dockers, in preparation for which 13 trades unions, representing 160,000 men engaged in the transport industry, yesterday agreed on federation; while, as if to show the spirit of unrest as limitless in its sweep, industrial troubles in Germany are spreading on all sides, and hundreds of thousands of workers there are in danger of serious loss. It would seem, thus, that the world is working up to a general labour war of the gravest character. The most disquieting sign is that of the complete failure, of late, of organisation designed to hold labour together. Against it, however, and indicative of a happier outcome, is the patient care with which all who bear the responsibilities of representation seek to unravel the problems before them. The spirit of compromise may yet save the situation.

Buried Treasure.

The day is not yet, and with good hap will be far distant, when the spirit of romance may remain unmoved by the adventurous quest of hidden treasure. It is enough, however, to fill us with regret at the assurance, this week, of a careful investigator, that the long-sought treasure of Tobermory is like to fail us after all, for the reason—sufficiently effective, it must be allowed—that though a Spanish galleon lies there safely enough, she is empty of the plate and the gold ornaments and the millions of pieces of eight with which the romance of so many generations has credited her. The galleon is the Duque di Florenzia. She was one of the finest of all that fine array of the battleships of the Armada which Spain hurled across the Bay of Biscay so proudly, and which Drake and his fighting fellows hurled back again, a shattered remnant. She carried 52 guns, and was manned by 286 sailors and 100 marines. When Drake's pursuing fire-ships came upon the Spaniards off Flanders, the fleet of 120 ships that still remained fled into the North Sea. Many were wrecked upon the coasts of Scotland and Ireland. The Duque di Florenzia put into Tobermory Bay for repairs, and her commander, having bargained with the Highland chieftain whose home it was, landed, did him some service, and received on board one of his followers, come for payment of certain stipulated moneys. The man did not return. On the contrary, the ship weighed anchor, and her sails filled. Treachery was abroad. But the gallant Highlander met the occasion. With no time to lose, he sought and found the powder magazine, laid a train, fired it, and blew the vessel up with all on board, of whom two only reached the shore. Ever since then the galleon Duque di Florenzia has lain beneath the deep waters of Tobermory, and time enough has elapsed for the building up of fabulous traditions concerning a ship believed from the first to have carried no less than five million pieces of eight. This week's chronicler, however, goes over the ground so deliberately as to leave us in little doubt that his deductions are correct. He shows how, though repeated search was made in the 17th century, and though rumour ascribes to an engineer the discovery of much treasure in the year 1688, little is known to have been found save a few guns, some copper utensils, and some cannon balls; how in the 18th century more guns and a few gold and silver coins were brought to the surface; how the search languished for long periods, to be undertaken again 30 years ago, with little result until 1903, when extensive salvage operations revealed much interesting minutiae, but nothing of pieces of eight. The work of the past summer has been similarly unprofitable. The bones of many men have been discovered, and, by request of the Spanish Admiralty, removed to Spain for honourable burial, but of other treasure nothing; and but small hope of it remains. Thus vanishes a long-cherished dream begotten of a more romantic past.

Sarah Bernhardt in London.

The music-halls, for some time past winning all along the line in their fight for theatrical status, have triumphed conclusively this week. Mme. Sarah Bernhardt is at the Coliseum—truly a variety star of dazzling magnitude! As a matter of fact, the Coliseum, though a variety house, is the most palatial theatre in London, and sad, indeed, is it to see, as one often does see there, the performance upon the stage so little worthy of the great auditorium and its magnificent appointments. In respect at any rate of the theatre which she has chosen for her music-hall debut, even Sarah Bernhardt is amply housed. Care has been taken, too, with the programme arrangements, and the complaint, made, I think, before last year's Parliamentary Committee on the censorship, of the hopelessness of music-halls in their projection, in close proximity, of, say, a troupe of performing animals and a "turn" of artistic value, cannot just now be fairly levelled at the Coliseum management. An accomplished Russian singer precedes Mme. Bernhardt, and the delightful Balalaika orchestra from St. Petersburg follows her. There is thus no risk of shock from the appearance of the greatest actress of our time in altogether incongruous surroundings. Nor is there any question of the success of her experiment so far. This week she is playing the second act of "L'Aiglon," supported by her own company. It is the scene wherein the son of Napoleon is seen in the Castle of Schonbrunn, surrounded by his enemies, and attended by one faithful friend, the veteran soldier of his father, who urges the young Duke to escape to France; the scene with the toy soldiers on the table, and the plan of the battle of Austerlitz. It gives La Bernhardt opportunity for some stirring declamation, and some exquisitely-delivered regret for the days that have been and can never be again. Moreover, it allows this really wonderful old lady—who publicly announces her age as 66 years, and whose first care on her arrival in London on Sunday was to insist on her claims as a great-grandmother—allows her to reveal herself as a delightfully boyish boy, slim of build, and erect of carriage, and graceful of movement. It was that revelation of her that first startled us on Monday. The curtain rose, and the great actress was found standing alone upon the stage, apparently lithe and young, and completely suited by the cream uniform and the top-boots of the Duc de Reichstadt. A great cheer went out from an audience numbering thousands; but presently the theatre was filled with one voice. It remains a wonderful voice. As the Duc de Reichstadt Mme. Bernhardt uses it largely in its lowest register. It had not thus the variety of inflection possible to it, presumably, in an unmasculine role; but nevertheless there was that in it on Monday night which thrilled its audience. Voice of gold in the sense that once attached to it, perhaps it was not. But its lightest word was audible throughout the vast theatre; it rose magnificently in denunciation, it rang out gloriously as the young Duke rehearsed the valorous days of old and the battles of the Grand Army; and it was as incomparably full as ever of tears as he sighed over the past that had gone for ever, and the melancholy measure of his own fortune.

ON THE LAND.

FARM AND STATION

FROZEN MEAT APPLIANCES.

The enormous growth of the frozen meat industry in Argentine has had the effect of producing various developments which have operated to the advantage of the undertaking. When the trade was first entered upon in that country it was impossible to predict its wonderful success. Those who launched into it did so in the early stages with considerable fear and trembling, but whatever misgivings were felt were soon dispelled, and it became apparent that a business had been inaugurated which would play an important part in the commercial history of the country. The most sanguine expectations of the pioneers of the Argentine frozen meat trade were more than realised, and it is much to the credit of those then engaged in the industry that they did not allow their success to lead them into careless methods. From the very first the utmost care has been exercised in handling the trade, so that at the present time the organisation and system in existence are of a character to ensure the best possible results. From the final fattening of the animals on the pasture grounds, to the killing, freezing, and shipping, the arrangements conduce to the maintenance of the highest degree of condition. It is because of the attention paid to details that the Argentine frozen meat holds so high a place in the world's markets, and it is also by reason of this that the article comes so seriously into competition with the Australian product at Smithfield. While Australia has been content with the somewhat antiquated methods which have marked her frozen meat trade, Argentine has been on the alert for any improvements which would give her leverage in lifting the industry to greater success. Take, for instance, the special cold storage barge recently built in Liverpool expressly for the conveyance of meat from the freezing works to the ocean liners loading at the various Argentine ports. This class of barge is stated to be superior to anything hitherto built for transportation of meat under refrigerating conditions, both as regards the exact and complete control of temperature and the facilities for speedy loading and discharging. With such a plant in use it becomes an easy matter to deliver the carcases to the steamers in practically the same condition of temperature as they leave the freezing works. Take again the automobile refrigerated meat waggon used in Argentine for the land transport of frozen carcases from the cold stores to the steamers. Such adjuncts to the industry, while they do not represent a very large expenditure of capital, add materially to the success of the undertaking, and at the same time preserve the condition of the meat—a factor which is always a very vital one in the trade.

These are some of the points upon which Australia must bestow more attention if we are to benefit as fully as we should from the frozen meat industry. The conveyance of frozen carcases through the streets in ordinary lorries is not the wisest system of transport to adopt, nor is it advisable to allow lorry loads of meat to stand exposed to the sun while waiting for the slings at the vessel's side. Yet this sort of thing takes place in Sydney, and we are apt to wonder why Australian meat is quoted lower than Argentine on the Smithfield market. It is realised by everyone who has given the matter any consideration that the system adopted in Australia is not calculated to produce the best results. It is also known that the methods in vogue here are making it easy for outside competitors to forge ahead and absorb the cream of the business in London. The president of the Sydney Chamber of Commerce on the occasion of the last annual meeting spoke very soundly when he said respecting the trade: "It would appear that without Government interference no improvement will be made in meat shipping methods. And this being so, the sooner the Government takes some action the better, both for the credit of the port and for the producer's pocket. The trade in frozen meat is of vast importance to the pastoral industry. And it is important, when we have to compete for custom in the world's markets, that our meats should be placed before consumers in at least as good order and condition as that sent from any other part of the world."

AGRICULTURAL SCHOLARSHIPS.

Entries for the "Herald" and "Mail" scholarship at the Hawkesbury Agricultural College close November 21. This scholarship is tenable for three years, being of the value of £100. This amount covers fees and incidental expenses during the term at the college. It is open to boys whose parents reside in the State, and those who intend competing for this opportunity to procure a splendid agricultural education should take the matter up at once. Candidates must be between the ages of 16 and 18 years. The examination for the scholarship will take place simultaneously with those conducted throughout the State by the Department of Public Instruction for the High School scholarships, and will take place on December 1 and 2. The paper will be a somewhat hard one, as it is necessary to have a high test where success is confined to one candidate. On the other hand, care has been taken to arrange an examination which, while it would encourage study along the lines deemed necessary for a beginner at the Hawkesbury College, will not interfere with the course of the lad's study for other careers. The opportunity is one that should appeal to any lad with a taste for agricultural life, either on the farm or on the lines of scientific research.

ITEMS.

The showery weather has delayed shearing in some parts of Riverina.

Hay-cutting has commenced in the Ganmain district. Although good, the crops are not equal to those harvested in that locality last year. The wheat being cut is of the Bunyip variety, the earliest yet grown in the district. Hay-cutting is a week or so earlier than usual.

About 2000 acres of Doodle Cooma West station, near Henty, was offered at auction on Saturday, and realised from £6 10s to £7, being purchased by local buyers.

The Department of Agriculture has issued a subject and author index of the first 20 volumes of the Agricultural Gazette of New South Wales (1890-1909). Considerable trouble has been taken to make it complete. It is proposed to make a charge of five shillings for the index.

Auburn station has been sold on account of the trustees of Messrs. Robertson and Wagner, by Messrs. Trebeck, Son, and Co., Sydney, the purchaser being Mr. J. H. M'Connell, of Brisbane. It comprises 520,000 acres of leasehold country. The same firm also report having leased for Mr. E. A. Ryrie, with W. H. Graves and Company, Ltd., his Mullengudgery estate, on the western railway, comprising 27,000 acres, for a term of years, to Mr. A. B. Triggs, of Yass.

Shearing commenced in the Moss Vale district at the beginning of this month, and the mild weather experienced during the first fortnight was all in favour of operations, but the sudden change during the last ten days has been the cause of large numbers of sheep dying after being shorn. It is reported that one owner has lost 150 head.

Further copious rains having fallen in Eastern Riverina during the past few days, all anxiety as to the harvest has been allayed. The crops are now safe without any more rain between this and harvesting. Most of the early crops in the Junee, Coolamon, Ganmain, Matong, Wagga, and surrounding districts are in splendid condition, but some of the later-sown areas show rather backward growth. Crops four and five feet high are common. If it had not been for the dry period in the early part of the season the yield would have been quite equal to the abundant harvest of 1909-10. As it is, the general opinion seems to be that it will fall just a little short of that record. Many of the farmers about Ganmain are confident that their yields will be fully as great as they were last year.

ENGLISH WOOL TRADE.

MARKING TIME.

NEW BUSINESS QUIETER.

(FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

BRADFORD, Sept. 23.

There is not a great deal new to report in connection with this week's business, for, with the time approaching for the opening of the sales in London, everyone feels disposed to wait and see what is going to happen. The longest vacation of the whole year has been characterised by a season of activity such as is seldom seen. At the same time it is remarkable that for the last three years a big weight of new business has been done during August and September, the orders placed for the succeeding spring season being sufficient to cause a great covering movement on the part of spinners and manufacturers. All this has been reflected in the course of wool and tops, and the trade done during the past eight weeks has been on a gigantic scale. Many would have preferred a quiet period in order that prices for fine wools might have been adversely affected, but such has not taken place. Next week sees the beginning in real good earnest of a new season in Australia, and we are certainly reaching a somewhat critical period. All through this year we have foretold a big trade, with no cheapening of fine wool values; but all the same we must admit to being somewhat dubious about the future. So long as a big consumption is maintained in England and on the Continent, prices will not suffer a great deal, but it is the fact of having to start buying in Australia on a 2/5 basis for 64's tops which is sufficient to cause the most optimistic to pause. All kinds of contradictory statements one hears at the hands of both spinners and manufacturers, and there is no doubt that the whole of the home trade in particular has been stung into action by manufacturers demanding such sensible advances on their new season's goods. High prices in the past have always brought about a certain reaction, and the present is hardly likely to be an exception. Everyone feels that values are high and somewhat dangerous, and users are quite prepared to go on purchasing on a basis of, say, 2/2 for a 64's top; but there is hardly likely to be a big forward business done at to-day's rates. A fall at the beginning to the level I have named would prove to be one of the best things that could happen in the interests of even growers, much as they would dislike having to sell their new clip wools at a shade less money.

The past week has not been productive of anything extraordinary by way of new business, but all the same there is in a quiet way a nice trade doing. Some firms report more actual sales of tops than others, and this fact is the outstanding feature of this week's market. Others are asking prices which clearly indicate that they are not wanting to sell further, for, as they candidly state, they have sufficient orders for delivery this side of November, and many importers have so far refused to sell forward until Adelaide opens. I do not think for the past five years there has been such a small quantity of tops sold for January to April delivery as we have seen this year. Taking merinos as a whole there is general soundness in all quarters.

AMERICAN WOOLS IN BRADFORD.

American-grown wools are to-day being offered to West Riding users. Some fine territory wools (60's to 64's quality) have been bought by the head of a leading firm of London-Bradford buying brokers, who has just been paying his annual visit across the Atlantic, and he has also purchased nearly 1000 bales of Australian merinos at what seems to be a reasonable price. I am not surprised at the purchase of the latter, but to be able to buy American merinos is what I certainly am astonished at. I had word yesterday from Boston that these merinos have been bought on practically a "free trade" basis, and this is all the more surprising when American growers are supposed to obtain the benefit of 11 cents duty on colonial merinos and crossbreds.

CROSSBREDS STEADY AND FIRM.

The position of crossbreds is still sound, but less actual business is passing. Some topmakers seem to think that prices can go on for ever advancing, and if they have any stock to sell that they ought to obtain a higher price than they did the last time they sold. Fourteenpence three farthings will still buy a fair average 40's prepared top, although some are still quoting as high as 15d. A good deal depends upon the actual position of the topmaker, and there is a consensus of opinion that next week will bring about distinctly dearer wool. The quantity available of New Zealand produce is larger than we have seen for some years back. In 1908 there was an accumulation of wool on account of the slump in the earlier part of the year, but apart from that we have to go back to 1903 to find a crossbred offering equal to what we see to-day. However, there will be no difficulty in lifting the entire lot, and selling brokers will do well to sell. It is rather interesting to know that more Bradford buyers than ever have left for New Zealand, and this is bound to go on as time elapses. There seems to be abroad throughout the entire consuming world a wool hunger which is almost unsatiable, and users here are going still more to the centres of production for their supplies. There has been this week more inquiry for 46's, while 50's are somewhat neglected. It seems to be now-a-days a question of price, and the more reasonable an article a man can show the better chance he has of making a successful sale. As far as one can see the rise in medium and coarse crossbreds will probably be 5 to 7½ per cent., but on fine descriptions I do not anticipate more than an improvement of 5 per cent. Merinos look like being par to 5 per cent. higher, especially good combing descriptions. What is most wanted are undoubtedly topmaking wools.

ARE WOOL PRICES HIGH ENOUGH?

Next Tuesday the fifth series of London sales commence, and already considerable interest is manifest over the opening results. That wool will be dearer is a foregone conclusion, the question being, what will the advance be? All this directs the attention of consumers to the question as to whether wool itself is not now dear enough, and if the present high prices are going to last for another season. It is generally agreed there is going to be no slump, but all the same the majority are of the opinion that to-day's rates are too high to be expected to maintain the present standard during the next few months. Manufacturers are just commencing to show their new styles for the winter of 1911, and they are meeting with a somewhat mixed reception. Winter fabrics, as everyone knows, are heavier, consequently they require a larger weight of raw material. This all means stiff prices, and the advances which are being asked are causing much indignation on the part of a good few wholesale buyers. To be very candid, I am afraid there is trouble brewing, or else a good deal of substitution is going to be indulged in. For instance, the buyer of a large wholesale house this week was shown a line of medium worsted suitings at 5/9 per yard, broad width. The next style was a woollen imitation, the price being 2/6 per yard. Of course, there was a difference in the handle and the wearing qualities of the cloth, but the one at 2/6 appeared on the surface quite as smart and good as the one at 5/9. The buyer emphasised his position by stating that all the makers' patterns that he had looked through during the past week gave unmistakable signs of substitution, manufacturers evidently knowing that it is useless presenting "all wool" made fabrics and asking the prices which they would be compelled to if genuine. In other words, there seems to be growing discontent at the present high value of good cloths, and all along the line I hear of cheaper woollens supplanting the dearer worsteds. This is a circumstance which those going out to Australia will do well to study, for it looks to the most experienced in the trade as if to-day's rates will not last through the coming importing season. There is a limit to which raw material can go, and in view of the somewhat serious outlook in the labour world it certainly is imperative on the part of those operating both in London and Australia to look well to what they are doing. The labour difficulties which have arisen, and which affect the cotton, coal, and shipbuilding industries, are a factor which cannot be ignored, for a slowing down in consumption cannot but have an untoward effect upon wool prices. The news to hand this week from Brisbane shows that buyers are still paying prices on a full par with what are ruling at this centre, and to find good spinners' 64's tops made from fleece wool costing from 2/5½ to 2/6 is certainly an item which cannot be ignored. There is every indication that in two months' time some fair big quantities of new clip wools will be pouring into consuming centres. If the trade can lift prospective supplies at anything like to-day's prices, it will be a wonderful feat.

AGRICULTURAL SOCIETIES.

ALBURY.—At a meeting of the committee of the Albury Pastoral and Agricultural Society the treasurer stated that the year's operations would show a profit of £350. The date of next year's show was fixed for September 12, 13, 14. It was decided that prizes of £5, £3, and £2 for the best three bags of wheat, three distinct varieties, be offered for next show.

SCOTCH COMMISSIONERS' TOUR.

THE NORTH COAST LAND.

PARTY GREATLY IMPRESSED.

DRAKE.—The main party of the Scottish Agricultural Commission reached Lismore on Saturday night after traversing a country whose sleek green hills was a complete revelation. Up till now they have not seen anything to compare with it in Australia for productivity of grasses and fodder plants. The general expression of opinion among them was that it seemed stocked quite up to its capacity; but the plentiful sprinkle of clover and other grasses among the paspalum maintains the butter fat test at a high standard, while keeping the stock in first-class condition. The commissioners, while recognising the distance from farm to factory, incline strongly to factory separation as affording a solution of the question of unevenness of grade in butter.

At Lismore, Mr. H. R. Alexander, manager of the Wollongbar Experiment Farm, who met the party immediately upon arrival, was eagerly pounced upon and questioned by all the members of the commission. A little informal welcome was given by Alderman R. J. Spinks, Mayor of Lismore, and Councillor Navin, president of the Gundurimba Shire, on the balcony of Ryan's Hotel, and several well-known district farmers and residents of the town were present.

Before leaving Scotland it was distinctly laid down that Sunday was to be observed in true Scottish fashion, and accordingly the programme of travel drawn by Mr. Percy Hunter shows Sundays as rest days, one being marked at Lismore. The good people of that town who attended kirk last Sunday were treated to a rendition of the hymns by six rolling voices of their "ain folk," the president (Sir T. Carlaw Martin) being the possessor of a fine baritone. The eighteen miles between Lismore and Casino was traversed in the cool of the evening. The party, totalling eight, got an early start to-day from Casino by an excellent motor car, provided by Mr. D. McIntosh, of Casino, which proved quite equal to the task of lifting them and their luggage. In the cool, bracing air the sturdy car sped along a road which was a welcome surprise to men who have just experienced some stirring adventures over rough roads. The trip from Casino to Tenterfield afforded the commission an opportunity of seeing some of the best pastoral land of the northern portion of the State.

During the past ten years much of the land comprising the Tomki, Wooroowoolgen, and Kyogle stations has been subdivided, and the commissioners were enabled to see hundreds of prosperous dairy farms scattered throughout the country which was not long since devoted entirely to the production of beef cattle. Several members of the commission, notably Dr. Gibb and Mr. Henderson, are specially interested in the production of beef cattle. On the way through Dyabba specimens of Herefords which were seen aroused their enthusiasm. At Sandilands a fine mob of young draught stock were gathered by the roadside, and were viewed with interest. On Tabulam, which was passed through at noon, some fine Devon cattle were seen, and throughout these three fine properties the visitors were struck by the unbroken stretch of natural pasturage in the shape of many varieties of nutritious grasses, specimens of which were collected by the botanist of the party, Dr. Wilson.

BANGALOW.—Sir John Sinclair and Messrs. Dunlop and Greig, members of the Scottish Commission, arrived at Bangalow on Monday. They were met by the members of the A. and I. Society, and entertained at breakfast. During the day they inspected the farm of F. Reading, and were supplied with returns of cream, pigs, crops, and young stock. The commissioners were well satisfied with the information received, and left for Ballina in the afternoon.

CASINO.—The Scottish Agricultural Commissioners were to have arrived on Tuesday, and the council intended giving them a civic reception and luncheon, but the arrangements were cancelled. A party of three arrived here by motor from Lismore on Sunday night, and went to Tenterfield next morning. The balance of the party are coming on Tuesday, and will proceed straight to Kyogle, and thence down the coast. Considerable dissatisfaction is felt because they are not staying here, as it gives them no chance of seeing many parts of this rich district.

GLEN INNES.—The main party of the Scottish Agricultural Commission arrived by motor from Casino at Tenterfield at 5 p.m. An informal reception was held by Alderman Stewart, Mayor, who welcomed the visitors in a neat and brief speech. Sir C. Martin, in reply, expressed great pleasure at the reception, especially in such numbers, and regretted that time would not permit of a longer stay. They would rigidly adhere to the programme as laid down by Mr. Percy Hunter. Mr. George Valder, Chief Inspector of the Department of Agriculture, also met the commissioners, and will travel with them, his expert knowledge being eagerly requisitioned on the train journey to Glen Innes, where they stayed on Monday night. Tuesday is to be spent visiting farms in that district, and inspecting stock on the show ground, which are being specially paraded for that purpose.

BUSH FIRES.

WAGGA.—Owing to the splendid season and the risk of bush fires the Kyeamba Shire Council has decided to prohibit burning off in any form during the months of November, December, January, and February, within the shire.

DAIRYING.

GRAFTON.—During September the Copmanhurst Dairy Company manufactured 7346lb butter, which realised £349, suppliers receiving cheques amounting to £282.

DISTRICT ITEMS.

ADELONG.—Shearing has commenced at most of the sheds in the district. Very few sheds have started with the full complement of shearers. Some have had to delay the opening of sheds owing to the scarcity of shearers. The season so far is one of the best seen here for many years. Grass is very plentiful, and the crops are looking well.

GLEN INNES.—Last week's rain was the best that has fallen in this district for many weeks past, and, although it will prove very acceptable, it is not nearly sufficient for the crops, which are somewhat backward owing to the extraordinarily dry spell experienced in these parts during the past three or four months. A steady, soaking rain of two or three inches is needed, both for crops and herbage.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

CURLY LEAF.

N.C., Young.—With reference to your inquiry, some growers have obtained satisfactory results by spraying with Sunlight soap—1lb to about 10 gallons water.

SPRING DEBILITY.

BILE BEANS ARE THE TRUE TONIC AND BLOOD-PURIFIER.

It is well to remember that at this season, of all others, the human system needs toning up, and putting in thoroughly healthy condition. At springtime you should feel so full of life and vigour, your energy should be just bubbling over. If, instead, you feel only equal to walking at a snail's pace—feel out-of-sorts, "headachy," "livery," bad tempered, without appetite, or have blood troubles, such as blotches, pimples, boils, rashes, eruptions, or irritation—depend upon it you are "liverish," your system is out of order, your blood is impure—you have spring fag. Bile beans are the finest medicine known for the ailments of spring. Being purely vegetable, and working on Nature's own lines, they purify the blood, flush the bowels, and regulate them to natural effort, cleanse the stomach, regulate the liver and bile, and tone up the whole system; and with your system thus toned up you are in a condition to withstand the health dangers that lurk in the springtime.

Mrs. S. Lewis, of 5 Avon-street, Glebe Point, Sydney, expresses her gratitude to Bile Beans as follows:—"Some twelve months ago a friend of mine told me she had used Bile Beans, and that they had cured her of Biliousness, and as I was at that time run-down from anxiety and overwork, she advised me to try them. I needed a real 'pick-me-up,' as I felt as tired in the morning as when I went to bed, and my appetite was greatly impaired; in fact, I was quite done up, and did not know what to take to recover my strength. Although I was a little prejudiced against medicines in general, I was persuaded to give Bile Beans a trial, and it is with much pleasure that I tell you a very few of them worked a miracle with me. I began to feel the benefit at once by being quite bright after taking one or two at night, and my usual health began to return to me. I would now have no other medicine in the house."

Insist on having Bile Beans—refuse all worthless substitutes. 1s 1½d and 2s 9d per box.—Advt.

DURHAM AND HASTINGS-MACLEAY.

The second ballot vote in Durham and in Hastings-Macleay will be taken on Monday next, and it is more important than ever that two dependable Liberals should be returned. The so-called Independent candidates, even if they did not announce themselves as straightout supporters of the Labour Government as soon as the House met would in any case be very little use to Mr. Wade. We want close party organisation more now than ever we did, and the smaller the number of Independent Liberals is kept the better is the chance for effective party unity. While Liberalism is in Opposition it will need all the discipline as well as all the discipleship it can get to keep it together. In the two electorates at issue the selected Liberals are both good and tried men, thoroughly well known on the North Coast, and having the highest reputation. In regard to Hastings-Macleay Mr. Davidson has all along been one of the most conspicuous of the country members on the Liberal side. He has always given the most earnest attention to his work, and besides being a good party man his contributions to debate have been marked by an enlightened common sense that never failed to command respect. It is impossible that his great services to the North Coast railway can have been forgotten, and it is worth while recalling the fact in this connection that Labour bitterly opposed that vitally important instalment of development at every stage. The North Coast has certainly nothing to gain from an Independent candidate, who might at any time show a leaning to Labour; and it should never forget how much of its rapid progress of recent years is due to the administration of Mr. Wade. Mr. Morton has already made a bad beginning from a Liberal point of view, and the electorate should do its utmost to make sure of the selected Liberal candidate.

Much the same remarks apply to Durham. Mr. Brown is another man who has shown conspicuous energy and ability in the service of the North Coast. Mr. Bennett, the Durham Independent, has been spoken of as "as good as a Labour man." These two electorates therefore must strain every nerve to give Mr. Wade a solid Liberal party. St. Leonards has set them an example they must do their best to follow. Liberalism may appeal to them on the broadest grounds of policy and common sense, for the evolution of a small Independent group giving a precarious support to Mr. M'Gowen would be the worst thing that could possibly happen at the present crisis. With the numbers so even anything that causes a blurring of party lines can only have an evil effect upon Parliament. It would be better to have the House proved unworkable straight away. With these two seats safe for Liberalism of a frank and undiluted kind, there should be a willingness among those members who may be inclined to support the Labour party, though elected to follow Mr. Wade, to reconsider their position. They must remember that they have already been denounced for their Liberal views, and they will receive no mercy when Labour has done with them. Much therefore depends on next Monday's polling, and Liberalism throughout the State looks to these two electorates for generous support in its hour of need. Liberalism in the pre-election campaign achieved wonders when it is remembered what it had to live down, and it will now be able to effectively cripple any drastically socialistic tendencies Mr. M'Gowen may develop. The second ballots, if they all go to Liberalism, as seems likely, will be a good omen for the future of the party.

LAW REFORM.

For many years in this State law reform has been one of the subjects of which much has been heard, and for which little has been done. From time to time we have been reminded by the High Court that our system of procedure is obsolete, and may lead to grave injustice. Private members like Mr. Levy have bewailed the expense of litigation, and have promised to do their utmost to find a remedy. We have been told that successive Attorneys-General have caused bills to be drafted for codifying certain branches of the law, and for bringing others up to date. But the bills remain in the official pigeonholes. Private members get very little opportunity of embodying their views in the statute book, and the advice of the High Court remains unheeded. With the exception of Judge Heydon's great work of consolidation, of the new rules drawn up by the Judges, and of the introduction of shorthand writers, nothing has been done. There are, of course, obvious reasons to account for the delay. The subject has none of the attractions of those that excite party controversy, and must therefore be postponed to others that do. It is naturally left by laymen to experts; and lawyers are, with the exception of doctors, the most conservative of professional men. In England the great changes of the last century were brought about by Lord Chancellors—by Lord Cairns, a Conservative, and by Lord Selborne, a Liberal. In this State there is no office corresponding to that of Lord Chancellor, and the Attorney-General is fully occupied in administering his department and in explaining the contentious measures of the Government of the day.

If Mr. Holman decides to follow the advice of the High Court he is hardly likely to be criticised, except by the members of his own profession. The main charge against the judicature system is that in Victoria the cost of litigation has been increased by the number of interlocutory applications. The answer is, that it would be easy to obtain the benefit of simplicity and uniformity without these non-essentials, and no complaint is now heard in England, where the system is firmly established. It seems probable that part of the work of bringing the law up to date may now be done by the Federal Government. The late Ministry abandoned its proposal to bring forward a uniform Companies Act in deference to the decision of the High Court that the power of the Commonwealth was confined to interstate transactions. That restriction may be limited by one of the amendments to the Constitution proposed by Mr. Hughes. If the Labour Government will condescend to a measure of pressing importance, but of no party significance, it will make the law of joint stock companies the same in all the States by introducing a bill on the lines of the English Act of 1908, as has already been done in New Zealand. There will still, however, be left to Mr. Holman the amendment of our statutes relating to conveyancing and to trustees, in both of which we are considerably behind Victoria. The excessive cost of litigation is a matter which can probably be affected by the Government in its administrative capacity only, not in its legislative capacity. Much has been done by the strengthening of the State Full Court, and the consequent diminution of appeals. The evil has to some extent cured itself, as the High Court have in their decisions dealt with the different branches of the law. But, as has already been demonstrated, much can still be done by the Judges and by the Attorney-General. The Judges can add to the usefulness of the Commercial Court, with its promise of speedy decisions and of freedom from technicalities. The Attorney-General can see to it that in making new appointments merit is the only qualification, and that Acting Judges are never appointed except in cases of necessity.

THE SCOTTISH COMMISSION.

It was quite to be expected that the members of the Scottish Agricultural Commission, who have just passed through the far Northern River districts, would be impressed by what they saw. No party of practical men could fail to be impressed with the fertility and great stock-carrying capabilities of those districts. It is not too much to expect that they will find something to admire in most of our settled districts. But if it is not too late in the day to do so, we might again direct the attention of those responsible for the Commissioners' itinerary that it is not our settled districts that our visitors are here to inquire about. We should be careful not to make the same mistake in New South Wales as, unfortunately, seems to have been made in Queensland. In their very natural desire to be hospitable—and the Queenslanders are nothing if not hospitable—our neighbours of the North forgot that the Commissioners were not here merely on a holiday, but that they had a definite work to do, and not much time to do it in. The latter were therefore obliged to give up to the hosts who insisted upon entertaining them time which they could have spent to much greater purpose in looking at the country. Furthermore, it was not realised that continuous entertainment becomes, at last, to the entertained, a burden too grievous to be borne.

So far as entertainment is concerned there appears to be a fair prospect of the embarrassing experience of Queensland not being repeated. But, even so, it is not at all so sure that we are going to make the best of the commission's visit. Many of the places marked out for call are showplaces—quite delightful, no doubt, to a social pilgrim; but not at all calculated to enlighten the commission as to the opportunities there are in this country for Scottish immigrants. A general conception of what the settled or partially settled districts are like can be obtained in the journey through them. From the windows of a railway train enough can be seen of country when improved and in occupation. Stoppage for detailed examination is only useful in cases where the object might be to show the results of settlement upon resumed estates—a kind of settlement which should appeal to immigrants. But what we should take every pains to show are the Crown lands which are, or shortly will be, available for settlement. The commission should see the Dorrigo and the country back of the Dorrigo. It should see Pilliga Scrub. It should be shown the resumed properties on Monaro, and the large extent of Crown lands in the vicinity of Batlow. It should be shown the Barren Jack irrigation areas. It should be shown the large area of wheat land lying to the east of Hillston, which a railway will open up. It should be shown estates upon which the share system, both in respect of dairying and wheat farming, is being carried on with good results. These are the things which the commission has journeyed a long way to see, and we should be very careful that all such there are to see should be seen. But if the essential things are to be seen, and these only, the programme is capable of amendment.

THE RELEASE OF BOWLING.

No doubt the release of Bowling was inevitable in the political circumstances that have now arisen. The Labour candidates during their campaign made so much capital out of his imprisonment that they have in common decency to give him the benefit of their success, though he is likely enough to prove a thorn in Mr. M'Gowen's side. That is all very well, and is a matter between Labour and its supporters. On more general grounds this political interference with the course of justice is difficult to defend. No doubt there are still many people who think that Bowling was the victim of the "Coercion Act," and others who think that his imprisonment had at least something to do with the Industrial Disputes Act. The facts, of course, are that Bowling was tried on a criminal charge before an ordinary Judge and an ordinary jury. The ordinary jury found him guilty, and the ordinary Judge sentenced him to a short term of imprisonment, tempering justice with mercy. One of the favourite Labour charges for the past few months has been that about Mr. Wade's abolition of trial by jury. It is the irony of fate that Mr. M'Gowen's first administrative act has been to abolish trial by jury in the case of Bowling, and to substitute "political" justice for the law of the land.

It is to be observed that no question of the propriety of the sentence has ever been raised—the law is simply set aside. When the Wade Government determined to show more mercy to the various minor victims of the coal strike the case of Bowling was subject to revision along with the rest, and no suggestion came from any proper source that his sentence had been excessive. The action of members of the Labour party all through in regard to this matter has been open to criticism. Apparently they did not much mind Bowling going to prison at the time, and it was only just before the elections that they woke up to see what fine capital they could make out of him. The result could hardly fail to be a perversion of justice. As a juryman wrote in our columns earlier in the month, the correctness of the verdict was never challenged, but the jury, instead of being allowed to do their duty without fear or favour, have been stigmatised all over the country, and represented in the most shameful colours. The whole story is a sorry one, and its political epilogue is no better than what has gone before. So far as Bowling himself is concerned, we have no feeling whatever in the matter; but so far as political Labour is concerned we can only say that while it has kept its pledges it has established a dangerous precedent.

THE SEASON'S OUTLOOK.

It is very obvious that the State's return from the great staple industries is not going to be so good this season as last. The wheat harvest prospects, as shown in detail in our "On the Land" columns yesterday, do not at the moment justify an expectation exceeding a ten-bushel average. This is a great drop on last year's fine average; and while a good fall of rain over the areas most in need would do much to improve the prospect, an appreciable proportion of the crops are beyond recovery. Very fortunately, however, the unfavourable conditions do not extend throughout the entire wheat belt. Over the south-western slopes of Riverina, although the season began badly, it afterwards took a beneficial turn, and has continued good up to the present. As a result the yield from the section of the State which includes more than half of the total area under wheat is likely to be quite as good as last year. Certainly the growers have still to run the risk of tempest, fire, and pests; but assuming that no such calamitous visitations overtake them, the men of the southern districts generally can expect to count up the results of another good year. The present contrast between the prospects in the southern section of the wheat belt and that of the north, however, serves to bring under notice the peculiar alternation of seasonal conditions experienced over this area. When the south is good the north is usually bad or indifferent, or vice versa. Last season and the season of 1903, when crops were almost uniformly good over the whole of the wheat country, are the two exceptions of a long run of years. In the north and north-west the recent frosts are responsible for as much damage as the dry weather, the Tamworth and Manilla districts apparently having suffered very severely from this cause. It is questionable, however, if the crops of the north and middle west could have suffered so much from the dry spell if the more thorough farming methods of the drier districts of the south were in vogue there.

From the purely pastoral standpoint, the season is less productive than last; still, taken altogether, it is by no means a bad one. Although more sheep will be shorn the total clip will be lighter, with a larger proportion of the lower quality wools, for which the market at the moment is not satisfactory. The best wools, however, seem to be holding their own. Shortage of feed over parts of the Central and North-western slopes is responsible for the extra heavy supplies of cattle, which are selling at unsatisfactory rates, and the market for sheep and lambs is not so reliable as owners might wish. The dairying districts, however, are mostly flourishing, and the exports of butter for the season show a great increase over previous years. This is some set-off against smaller returns from wool and wheat. In most of the fruit districts, too, the season is in growers' favour. While, therefore, the total production will not be up to the great figures of last year, it will be up to a good average, and if prices for the main products keep at remunerative levels there need be no appreciable ebb in the tide of the State's general prosperity. It is unfortunate, however, that in the sections of the State where the season, so far, has been unfavourable, there are many new settlements on resumed holdings, and the failure or comparative failure of the first crops will be a severe handicap to holders whose store of capital is small.

Banquet to Mr. Wade.—The executive appointed to make the arrangements in connection with the banquet to Mr. C. G. Wade met at the Town Hall yesterday afternoon. The Lord Mayor, Alderman Allen Taylor, presided. It was decided that the banquet should take place on November 7. The reports of the members of the executive showed that a considerable number of tickets had already been applied for. The executive considered the question of holding the banquet in the Town Hall, and throwing open the galleries to the general public, in this way meeting the suggestion that the function should be of a nature in which all might join. This matter is to be decided at the executive meeting on Thursday. In the meantime an early application for tickets is considered advisable. The committee were unanimous in their intention to present Mrs. Wade with a substantial souvenir, and already a number of donations, some from distant parts of the State, have been received by the hon. treasurer, Mr. Harry S. Levy. It is not intended to limit the number of subscribers, nor the amount of their individual subscriptions; but to afford to the supporters and admirers of Mr. Wade all over the State an opportunity to participate if they so desire. The meeting was most enthusiastic, and the dominant note was a keen desire to make the banquet as great a success as possible, and the presentation to Mrs. Wade a substantial one.

Queen Victoria Markets.—At the meeting of the special committee appointed to consider the proposals for remodelling Queen Victoria Markets, which was held yesterday afternoon, Alderman Hagon presided. Messrs. Cutler and Cuthbert, of Melbourne, whose plans secured the first prize of £400 awarded by the council for remodelling the building, attended to personally explain their plans. These involved the remodelling of the whole building, but as the order of leave by the council only referred to the remodelling of the ground floor the committee were unable to hear the witnesses on the larger question. The plans will therefore have to be modified, and Messrs. Cutler and Cuthbert accordingly asked to be allowed to appear again before the committee to make a further statement dealing exclusively with the ground floor. The committee, in granting the request, expressed their appreciation of these gentlemen coming from Melbourne to meet the convenience of the committee.

Opening of Term.—The final Term of the Supreme Court for the present year was opened yesterday, the Bench consisting of the Chief Justice, Mr. Justice Pring, and Mr. Justice Sly, appearing in their ceremonial gowns and wigs. There was a large attendance of members of the Bar, which included the new Attorney-General (Mr. W. A. Holman), who announced his appointment, and Messrs. B. R. Wise, K.C., C. G. Wade, K.C., A. G. Ralston, K.C., Langer Owen, K.C., S. Ernest Lamb, K.C., J. Garland, K.C., J. L. Campbell, K.C., E. J. Loxton, K.C., H. Montgomerie Hamilton, Harold M. Cockshott, A. P. Canaway, T. Rolin, W. Blacket, Dr. E. M. Brissenden, L. Whitfeld, F. Leverrier, A. B. Piddington, and W. Hugh Mocatta. Only a few ladies occupied the jury box, but there was a considerable number of the general public in the galleries. The attendance, however, quickly dwindled away after the formal business had been concluded.

Australia's Danger.—"If Australia is to become great we must check this inordinate love of pleasure," said the Rev. J. Dempsey in the Pitt-street Congregational Church last evening. "Christian people," he remarked, "ought surely to know how to get the most enjoyment out of life. There should not be this wholesale desecration of God's holy day, and if we are to allow the drink traffic, which is sapping the best blood of our nation, to go unchecked, we cannot become a great nation. Pride destroyed Greece, avarice destroyed Spain, sensuality destroyed Rome, and the three evils we have here are a strong enough combination to bring ruin to the strongest people. The Puritan was never afraid of pleasure, but his fear of God prevented him from making pleasure the main business of life. If you would save this land of yours there is a great need for a new Puritanism, bereft of its old harshness, but still retaining that fear of God which causes men to fear nothing else. And you can only have good government by having good men connected with it."

Four Generations Record Votes.—A unique experience in election contests is narrated by Mr. Edward Campbell, who acted as deputy returning officer at Richmond on Friday week last, when four generations of a local family visited the polling booth to vote. The party consisted of Mrs. Ashton, a native of the district, 94 years of age, her sons in or approaching the 70's, her grandsons and granddaughters in and nearing the 50's, and her great-grandchildren, well on in the twenties. The great-great-grandchildren of Mrs. Ashton are not yet qualified. The old lady, who possesses a wonderful memory, was born in the year before the battle of Waterloo was fought, and has lived under six Sovereigns.

Chamber of Manufactures.—At a special meeting of the Chamber of Manufactures held last night, under the presidency of Mr. Wunderlich, it was decided to increase the council from 17 members to 24, and to appoint two scrutineers, not including the secretary.

New Watson's Bay Steamer.—The new steamer for the Watson's Bay and South Shore Ferry Company, which was ordered from Mr. David Drake, of Balmain, a few months ago, will be on the water in the course of a few days. She will be 125ft long, 27ft 3in beam (over guard), and 9ft 8in in depth. She will be slightly larger than the King Edward, though somewhat shorter than the Vaucluse. A large portion of her upper deck is being enclosed for shelter, and observation seating is being provided both on the upper and main decks. This class of accommodation will be in excess of that provided on the previous steamers. Messrs. Valentine, Blakey, and Company are supplying the dynamos and the lighting machinery. The propelling power of the steamer will consist of a Babcock and Wilcox high-pressure water-tube boiler and triple expansion engines. The vessel has been built under the supervision of Mr. Walter Reeks, naval architect.

A Protest from Artarmon.—The Artarmon Progress Association met on Saturday to protest against the proposed establishment of brickworks within the residential portion of the district. It was pointed out that if the erection of brickworks was permitted a great injustice would be done to those who had built homes under a building covenant, and that settlement would be seriously retarded. The president of the Progress Association, Mr. F. H. Molesworth, was unable to attend the meeting, but he forwarded a letter, pointing out that if brickworks were to be established, and some of the streets on the subdivision plans closed, as reported, it would constitute a gross breach of faith with those who on the strength of the subdivision plans had purchased their various properties. Mr. Molesworth suggested the appointment of a committee to collect funds for the purpose of testing the legality of the closing of streets.

Kirribilli Strikes a Wharf.—The ferry steamer Kirribilli, which left Circular Quay on her usual 6 o'clock trip to Mosman last night, came into collision rather heavily with the Musgrave-street Wharf. The strong wash from the ferry steamer Kurraba was largely responsible for the impact. About 20ft of sponson beams and a portion of the bulwarks were carried away. This damage necessitated the steamer being taken off the run immediately. It is anticipated that repairs will be completed so that the vessel can resume her usual trips some time to-day.

Willoughby Murder Case.—The death sentence passed on the man Phillips for murder at Willoughby was considered by the Government yesterday at its first Cabinet meeting. No decision was come to. Another Cabinet is to be held this morning, when in all probability Ministers will determine what recommendation to make to the Executive Council, which meets in the afternoon.

A Happy Family.—Adversity, it is said, makes strange bedfellows, but apparently the turn of the political wheel, while it evolves remarkable changes, occasionally brings opponents into close association, implying amicable relations, which, as a fact, do not exist. This was exemplified yesterday on the occasion of the opening of Term. The newly-fledged Attorney-General was at the Bar table waiting to make the formal announcement of his appointment, and, appropriately enough, he was supported on the right by Mr. B. R. Wise, K.C. But the element which created interest as well as amusement was that next to the new Labour recruit was no less a person than Mr. C. G. Wade, K.C., late Premier and Attorney-General. The present leader of the Opposition showed no sign of uneasiness, and as he subsequently did not move in any matter before the Court it is fair to assume that his presence was as much a graceful compliment to the present head of the Crown Law Department as a mark of deference to the Court. Mr. Holman had certainly reason to be pleased at the number of King's Counsel who were in attendance.

A Unique Display.—With a view to calling attention to the opening of the trout season in New South Wales on November 1, the Government Tourist Bureau, in conjunction with the Fisheries Department and Messrs. Eastway Bros., have arranged in the Challis House window a unique display of trout, perch, and fishing equipment. The centre of the window is occupied by a large aquarium, to which the water has been laid on, and in which a number of rainbow trout from the Prospect nurseries have been liberated, thus giving an opportunity to the public to study this great sporting fish. In smaller aquarium cases, perch are shown, and a number of fine specimens of both classes of fish are shown in bottles, dried and mounted, and in casts. Included amongst these are the largest perch ever captured in Australian waters, and the champion trout of the 1908-9 season. The display is attracting great interest. In addition, portion of the window is devoted to a display of citrus fruits, mostly from the Cumberland orchards. These include, although the season is somewhat late, fine specimens of shaddocks, Bengal citrons, Lisbon lemons, Washington navel oranges, as well as many other varieties, and Emperor and thorny mandarins. A few passionfruit and mammoth loquats are also included.

Steamers in Collision.—When the Currie liner Darius, which arrived from Singapore about midnight on Friday, attempted to berth at Parbury's wharf, it was blowing a whole gale from the southward, and rather than risk bumping the wharf the captain headed the vessel for Neutral Bay to anchor for the night. Being in light trim, the force of the wind blew the large steamer about a bit, and an anchor was let go to bring her head to the wind in Neutral Bay. She dragged this anchor, and a second one was dropped. Being then too close to the shore, Captain Patrick decided to shift her again, and in this process the Darius was driven on to the British India steamer Shirala. The anchor of the Shirala on the bow caught the Darius's stern, and carried away stanchions and riggings, and brought the after topmast down with a crash. The Shirala escaped injury. Yesterday workmen from Mort's Dock were engaged at Parbury's wharf effecting the necessary repairs to the Darius. The vessel will go into Woolwich Dock to-day to complete the repairs.

The Satara Wreck.—The master of the British India steamer Satara (which was wrecked below Seal Rocks on April 20) has had his term of six months' suspension reduced. His certificate has been returned to him "as a matter of grace, and not of right," the opinion being expressed that "he should have shown the pilot that the ship was being run into danger." This decision was arrived at as the result of representations made to the presiding Judge by the Imperial Merchant Service Guild.

The postal authorities intimate that the postage on letters posted in the Commonwealth for the province of the Cape of Good Hope (late Cape Colony) will be at the rate of 2d per half-ounce, as from the 1st proximo. Letters posted in the province for the Commonwealth may be prepaid at the rate of 1d per half-ounce.

"Way's in Pitt-street" announce a 12 days' sale of ladies' and children's underclothing, and ladies' blouses.

Mr. Alfred W. Tucker points out that, although it is nearly a week since the alteration of the running times on the railways, no new time-tables have, up to the present, been issued, and, so far as he can see, there does not appear to be any prospect of their being issued in the near future.

THE COMMONWEALTH.

POSTMASTER'S DEATH.

WAS HE OVERWORKED?

MELBOURNE, Monday.

The report of death by suicide of J. J. Guilfoyle, P.M., at Peak Hill, New South Wales, has been brought under the notice of the central postal administration. It is alleged that Guilfoyle was driven to suicide by overwork. Mr. Oxenham, acting secretary to the department, stated yesterday that an inspector had been sent to Peak Hill to investigate and report upon the case.

FEDERAL PAPER MONEY.

Designs are to be called for the Commonwealth bank notes. The Cabinet, at the instance of the Acting Treasurer, Mr. Frazer, decided to offer a prize of £50 for a design for each denomination—10s, £1, and £5.

SHODDY FOOTWEAR.

UNITED ACTION LIKELY.

Some time ago the Minister for Customs (Mr. Tudor) asked the Premiers of the different States if they would introduce legislation directed against the manufacture and sale of boots with soles composed largely of cardboard. He has received replies agreeing to this from New South Wales, Victoria, and Queensland, the States principally concerned. A leading bootmaker to-day called upon Mr. Tudor and stated that the trade was in favour of action being taken to prohibit the sale of such goods.

CHARGE OF PERJURY.

TWELVE MONTHS' IMPRISONMENT.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

The charge of perjury, arising out of the Beatty will case, against Annie Nicholas Rogers was concluded at the Criminal Court to-day. The jury, after a short retirement, returned a verdict of guilty, but recommended accused to mercy on the ground that in all the circumstances of the case the accused had been made a dupe. Accused said she had been unjustly accused and wrongly convicted.

The Chief Justice said that it might have been as well if accused had not made her last remark. The jury had given her case very close consideration, and with their finding he entirely agreed. Accused had shown herself to be a most ready, apt, and unswerving perjurer. The year had been startlingly prolific of this kind of crime, and the time had come when the community must stand up and show a bold front against it. Whilst his Honor was speaking, the accused collapsed and fell to the floor of the dock. She was then carried from the court to an ante-room, where she received medical attention. After some time she was again brought into court, and was sentenced to 12 months' imprisonment.

THE NEW GOVERNMENT.

FIRST CABINET.

RETIRING MINISTERS' FAREWELLS.

Yesterday the new Ministers met for the first time in Cabinet.

The proceedings lasted a little over an hour. The principal subject was the case of the man Phillips, who is under sentence of death. Other questions relating to the duties of the Ministers, and their order, were also dealt with.

During the forenoon the Ministers were introduced to the departments over which they are now presiding. In the Lands offices, Mr. Moore, the retiring Minister, introduced his successor, and spoke in high terms of the ability, zeal, and loyalty with which the officers and staff carried out their work. He assured Mr. Neilsen that in his administration he would have the assistance of a capable and conscientious body of men.

The Under-Secretary said the officers were very gratified to hear Mr. Moore's expression of appreciation of their efforts to assist him in his administration during the past three years. They could, however, scarcely have done less in view of the example of his own devotion to the work of the department, and his enthusiasm in the cause of settlement. They would all remember the kindly personal interest the retiring Minister had at all times taken in the staff. The senior inspector (Mr. Hare) endorsed the Under-Secretary's remarks, which were cordially supported by the large number of officers present.

Mr. Neilsen, in replying, said that in assuming control of the Department of Lands he had attained the zenith of his ambition. When he first entered politics it was his hope to some day become Minister for Lands, and he had accordingly made a close study of the administration of the land laws. The only thing he regretted was that it was Mr. Moore whom he was displacing.

In the Department of Public Works, Mr. Lee was waited on by the Under-Secretary (Mr. Hanna) and the heads of the various branches, and he was bidden farewell. Mr. Griffith was then introduced to the officers. Mr. Lee left the following minute, addressed to Mr. Hanna:—"On relinquishing office after a period extending from August, 1904, to October, 1910, I desire to place on record my high appreciation of the loyal and efficient service rendered to me by yourself and the heads of all the branches in this department, and by the staff generally. My period of office has been marked by the initiation of many new and large works, involving the most careful consideration by the officers, and entailing a heavy strain upon them. I leave this department impressed that the State possesses a most efficient service, capable of undertaking any work, and protecting the public interest; but I regret to say I am equally impressed with the fact that in many cases the officers are inadequately remunerated. The confidence I have reposed in the officers enables me to express my grateful thanks for the faithful service they have rendered in return. My best wishes are extended to yourself and to all the officers and staff in this department."

PERSONAL.

Admiral Sir R. Henderson and staff, returning from Port Darwin per the E. and A. Company's steamer Eastern, were at Townsville on Sunday. The vessel is to make a call at Broadmount specially to land the party there.

Mr. Donaldson, S.M., has had his term of leave extended for a fortnight.

The Attorney-General (Mr. W. A. Holman) is to be tendered a banquet at Cootamundra shortly to celebrate his success in winning his seat and being allotted a portfolio. He will also attend a social at Temora to-morrow.

Messrs. A. G. Rix and S. J. West, students of St. John's College, Armidale, were ordained deacons in St. Saviour's Cathedral yesterday by the Bishop of Goulburn.

At the conclusion of the Victorian Rifle Association meeting at the Williamstown ranges on Saturday, Mr. J. N. Crowley, of West Wyalong, was presented by the markers (about 80 in all) with a gold medal, suitably inscribed, in recognition of his efforts on their behalf at the time of their strike.

The board of management of the Sir Moses Montefiore Jewish Home presented Mr. Moritz Gotthelf with an illuminated address on the occasion of the 70th anniversary of his birthday. He has been connected with the management of that institution since it was established, and to mark the attainment of his three score and ten years he gave a donation of £100 to the endowment fund.

Mr. Watson, superintendent of the Institution for the Deaf and Dumb and the Blind, will have completed his 40th year of service on November 10. On account of declining years, he has intimated his desire to be relieved from duty. While acceding to his request with regret, the directors considered that by his retirement the pupils would lose a most painstaking and skilful teacher and an affectionate and well-wishing friend. A feature of his long administration was that during the whole of the 40 years there had not been a death in the institution. At the annual meeting yesterday the matter was referred to, and the Lord Mayor of Sydney, who presided, the acting president of the institution, Mr. J. R. Love, and several other speakers bore testimony to Mr. Watson's devotion to duty, and his successful administration. It was announced that the president, who was at present on a trip to Europe, had been able to secure a successor to Mr. Watson.

Mr. E. J. White, who has for some years held the position of night officer at Bay-road station, on the North Shore line, has been appointed stationmaster at Rappville, on the Grafton-Tweed line. On the eve of his departure from Bay-road Mr White was presented with a purse of sovereigns by a number of the residents and his fellow officers.

A death has occurred of Mr. Johann Engst, aged [illegible], the only survivor of the band of missionaries who went in 1843 to the Chatham Islands, where he resided ever since.

The late Rev. David Arthur, whose death at the age of 83 years was announced yesterday, was a Presbyterian chaplain in the Imperial Army for 33 years, and was a native of Fife, Scotland. He was attached to the Cameron Highlanders during the Egyptian campaign of 1882, and was present at the battle of Tel-el-Kebir, for which he obtained a medal with clasp and bronze star, and was mentioned in despatches. The deceased also accompanied the Highland Brigade up the Nile in the Soudan Expedition of 1884-5. He leaves a widow and family of one daughter and two sons, one of whom is Dr. Richard Arthur, M.L.A.

DEATH OF COLONEL H. DOUGLAS MACKENZIE.

The death was announced yesterday at Dubbo of Colonel Henry Douglas Mackenzie, lately Colonel-Commandant of the Commonwealth Military Forces in Tasmania, and formerly one of the best-known personalities in the military circles of this State. A son of the late Rev. Charles Mackenzie, of the Mackenzies of Coul, Ross-shire, Scotland, the late colonel was trained for the Royal Navy, in which he attained a lieutenancy. He relinquished sea service for that on land in New South Wales, and soon after the establishment of the Royal Artillery here obtained a commission in the ranks of that important section of the land forces, and speedily rose in his profession. He became a captain and staff officer of the Permanent Artillery, and was regarded by his brother officers as a sound authority on questions of military control and organisation. His opinions were much sought by younger or less-experienced officers, and his advice was invariably cheerfully given. In 1885 the deceased officer went to the Soudan in Egypt with the New South Wales contingent as brigade major under Major Richardson. For this service he was mentioned in despatches, and received the medal with clasps and the Khedive's Star. On his return to Sydney he rose to the position of Assistant Adjutant-General of the New South Wales Forces, first under the command of General Richardson, and subsequently under General French and General Hutton, and was also chief staff officer from 1893 to 1904. His next important appointment in the military life of the Commonwealth was to the position of Commandant of the Commonwealth Military Forces in Tasmania, where his influence was of the greatest benefit. He retired about twelve months ago, having reached the age at which such a course was required by the regulations. Colonel Mackenzie in 1873 married a daughter of the late Mr. J. B. Suttor, M.L.C., and had two sons, one of whom is in Sydney and the other in South Africa, and four daughters—Mesdames Ryrie, Brown, Smith, and Clarke. He was a cousin of Sir Francis Suttor, M.L.C. Mrs. Mackenzie survives the late colonel, who was in his 62nd year.

EXPORT COAL TRADE.

A DIMINISHING QUANTITY.

SERIOUS PROBLEM TO BE FACED.

THE JAPANESE AS COMPETITORS.

Is the export coal trade of Newcastle to go? It represents about 2,500,000 tons a year, or, taking it at an average price of 10s a ton, £1,250,000 in solid cash. In addition to that, there are other things to be considered, if we are to arrive at a proper understanding of the value of this trade to Newcastle. For instance, the handling of the coal and the disbursements of the ships that arrive to take the coal represent a very large sum of money.

To such an extent has the coal trade fallen off, as a result of the big strike, that the present situation is one that is causing a good deal of anxiety, not only on the part of the mine-owners but also of the men. Already one colliery, the Killingworth, has had to close down owing to the slack trade conditions, and it is quite possible that others will have to follow suit. It is true that at this time of the year the trade begins to fall off, November, December, and January being the slackest months of the year, but the position has been accentuated by the loss of trade brought about by the strike, and Japan has already taken some of our customers. Once trade goes, it is hard to recover it, and Japan is going to be a very formidable rival in the matter of coal supplies in the future.

In Manila, the principal market in the East for Australian coal, we are faced with competition not only from Japan, but also from British India and the United States, and another serious competitor has recently arisen in the shape of the Labuan coal deposits, in Borneo, which are being rapidly opened up. In countries so far situated from the base of supplies it will be readily understood that continuity of business is of great importance, and from an experience of many years it has become evident, especially of late, that foreign buyers have got the idea that the labour troubles in Newcastle are of such a serious nature that they are turning their attention to other sources of supply, either of coal or oil, and mines are being opened up that would never have been thought of but for the continuous difficulties with mine employees in this State. Buyers in London and elsewhere are kept so fully advised of labour movements in this part of the world that, as a result of the constantly recurring strikes and rumours of strikes, they are exceedingly nervous about entering into any negotiations for the purchase of Newcastle coal, involving, as it does, obligations for distant charters, and the supply of coal to their customers.

"The idea seems to exist among the leaders of the miners—and it has often been emphasised by them," said a prominent selling agent to a "Herald" representative yesterday, "that we have only to ask a price for our coal and we will get it; but they quite forget that the foreign trade is governed by a variety of conditions over which we have no control. Apart from the great value of the coal trade to the employees, the people of New South Wales are largely interested in the business, seeing that the railways earn on the traction of about 150,000 tons of coal exported to foreign countries annually, while the benefits to the port of Newcastle from the disbursements of ships arriving to load are very great. What the competition of Japan is going to mean to us may be gathered from the fact that the output of the Japanese mines is 11,000,000 or 15,000,000 tons a year, and all this development has taken place within the last 25 years. The Quartermaster-General's contract in the Philippine Islands, which we used to fill, has now gone to Japan. It means a loss to us of about 70,000 tons of coal. And not only has the army contract been lost to us there, but the railway contract as well. In regard to the trade with the West Coast of South America, the Tyne coal is what we had to compete against, outside the local article. Until recently American coal was practically unknown there, but I am informed that 100,000 tons of American coal has been purchased for the Chilian market. Possibly we might have lost some of our trade in any case—the fact that the Japanese miners are paid such low wages is a fact that has to be reckoned with—but there is not the slightest doubt that the strike has precipitated the present position."

ANOTHER POINT OF VIEW.

Mr. G. F. Earp, M.L.C., who is interested in the Maitland coalfields, dealt with the matter from another point of view. "Our foreign business," he said, "depends on getting tonnage, and owners are disinclined to send vessels to Newcastle when they can get cargo elsewhere, such as wheat. When there is no alternative they have to send their ships to Newcastle for freight. We are finding a very great difficulty in executing orders for the East, because of the scarcity of tonnage, and not only to the East, but to the West Coast, San Francisco, and Hawaii. The basis of the foreign trade is tonnage, and the trade suffers to the extent that tonnage is not available. At the present time the harbour of Newcastle is very nearly empty. There is no doubt that Japan is forging ahead in the coal trade. The absence of strikes has tended to make the coal trade with Japan very much more popular than with us, because it can be relied upon, and so we find many people who formerly bought our coal now buying Japanese coal. I refer not only to contracts, but to the ordinary requirements day by day. Lots of buyers in the East and in other places have become disgusted at having their supplies cut off by strikes, and falling back on Japanese coal they have found that they can always get it without any risk or anxiety. The best Japanese coal is excellent, but I am not prepared to say it is as good as ours. The production of Japanese coal is nearly double that of New South Wales, although the mines have only been developed during the last 20 years, and the various strikes that have taken place at Newcastle have been a factor in developing them. In the same way this last strike gave a fillip to the mines in New Zealand as well as Japan. I remember the time when we used to ship coal to Japan, but now matters are quite altered. We have been doing a trade of about 1,000,000 tons a year in the East, and Japan is doing five times that amount, having taken much of the trade we formerly did. Owing to the strike this year's trade with the East will show a big falling-off. I haven't the figures for 1909, but in 1908 our Eastern trade totalled over 1,000,000 tons. The Straits Settlements took 250,000 tons, the Philippine Islands 220,000, Java 113,000, India 178,000, and Hongkong 85,000 tons.

"We have also to remember," said Mr. Earp, "that a lot of Cardiff and Tyne coal is coming into competition with us, and there are the local mines that are being opened up in Sumatra, another development very much assisted by the Newcastle strike."

A SERIOUS PROBLEM.

By the closing down of the Killingworth mine, which formerly did a good business with Manila which has now been lost, about 400 men are affected. This is sufficiently serious, but the position will become much worse if other mines have also to close down. A number of the mines are at present only working half-time. Before the strike the Newcastle mines sent about 500,000 tons of coal to Victoria, half of it being taken by the Government for the railways, etc., but now that the Powlett River State coal mine is in full swing this trade is being lost to us. It is stated that next year the Victorian Government will take no coal whatever from us; further, that the balance of the trade done in Victoria will be taken away from us by the Powlett River mine, which owes its development to the Newcastle strike.

In view of the facts stated above, and more particularly the competition of the Japanese mines, the saving of our export coal trade will become an increasingly difficult problem. The Newcastle miners are paid a hewing rate on the basis of a selling price of 11s per ton, but when this is compared with the wages received by the Japanese miners it is not to be wondered at that Japan is able to cut us out of the market. The Japanese miners work nine hours a day, and 21 days a month, the maximum wage being 2s 3d and the minimum 1s 2d, and waggon and surface hands work 11 hours a day and 25 days a month, the wages varying from 1s 5d to 9d. It is the question of East versus West again. Does it mean the death of our export trade?

And not only Japan, but China is also developing coalfields. About a month ago the first cargo of Chinese coal was landed in San Francisco. Active preparations have been going on for some time to work the Fuchow mines and, as they are situated very close to the shore, commanding facilities for marine transportation, they will doubtless become a serious factor in the Eastern trade.

STEAMER IN A GALE.

RUDDER STOCK BROKEN.

WELLINGTON, Monday.

The steamer Strathclyde ran into heavy weather the day after leaving Newcastle. She passed through Cook Strait on September 25, and the next day a south-west gale overtook her. The lifeboats were lifted out of the chocks, and the rails were damaged. The weather grew worse on the 27th, and the vessel hove to in the hurricane. Next day she would not answer the helm, and it was discovered that the rudder stock was broken right through the trunk. The wind again increased to a hurricane, and oil had to be resorted to. This calmed the waters marvellously, and all hands set to work rigging a jury rudder. An enormous sea was shipped on October 1, doing some damage. Similar experiences were met with until the vessel arrived at Lyttelton, when two jury rudders had been swept away.

IMPERIAL REPRESENTATION.

COALITION OF PARTIES.

LONDON, Oct. 24.

The "Daily News" (Liberal), in referring to the Conference on the powers of the House of Lords now taking place between the leaders of the Liberal and Conservative parties, mentions what it describes as a proposed coup d'etat, a sweeping away of the landmarks of British politics.

The newspaper foreshadows the resummoning of the conference, possibly with an enlarged personnel and a wider mandate, which will include redistribution of seats, reform of the franchise, and Imperial representation.

The "Daily News" expects a coalition of both parties against those who revolt from the proposals, and that such coalition will cost some expensive concessions, especially in the navy estimates.

COMPROMISE ON CONSCRIPTION.

A CONSERVATIVE SUGGESTION.

The "Standard" (Conservative) recommends a concordat between Liberals and Conservatives regarding the navy; also the placing of the Territorials on the Swiss or colonial basis, but with limited service.

The "Standard" adds that Federalism or Devolution is a fair subject for discussion.

"ENGINEERED" SCARE SUSPECTED.

COLLUSION ALLEGED.

LONDON, Oct. 24.

Mr. Keir Hardie, M.P. (Labour), in the course of a speech at Bristol on Saturday, suggested that the demand of Mr. Balfour for an increase in the navy was advanced as he (Mr. Keir Hardie) believed was the case in the naval scare of 1908, by prearrangement with the Government. (Cries of "Oh, no!") Those crying "No" had not been so long in politics as he.

The scare of 1908, Mr. Keir Hardie continued, was ignored until Sir Edward Grey (Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs), Mr. R. M'Kenna (First Lord of the Admiralty), and Mr. H. H. Asquith (Prime Minister) gave colour to it by their countenance.

AERONAUTICS.

SUCCESSFUL AIRSHIP FLIGHT.

LONDON, Oct. 23.

The Lebaudy's dirigible balloon, built to the order of the "Morning Post" for the army, made a flight lasting 24 hours with eight passengers, during which the airship circled over Nantes Cathedral.

[The Lebaudy airship belongs to what is known as the semi-rigid type, that is to say, the rigidity of the exterior form of the gas bag is obtained by means of the use of balloonets and ventilators; on the other hand, the gas bag carries immediately beneath it a combination of two kinds of planes, namely, horizontal and vertical planes, both movable and fixed, which enable the balloon to be steered in any direction, and which ensure stability. The envelope of the dirigible mentioned in the cable is 337ft 10in in length, 39ft 5in in diameter, and has a capacity of 353,165 cubic feet. In the bows it tapers to a sharp point, and is eggshaped at the stern. The planes, which are intended to steer the airship both horizontally and vertically, consist of a vertical plane and two horizontal planes. The fixed planes consist of the tail fins, and the rigid girder built underframe immediately beneath the gasbag.]

Commenting upon the superiority of Italy compared with Austria-Hungary in the matter of Dreadnoughts, the "Zeit" urges that there should be a prompt development of the Austro-Hungarian navy.

POSITION IN PERSIA.

REPLY TO GREAT BRITAIN.

ORDER TO BE MAINTAINED.

TEHERAN, Oct. 24.

The reply of Persia to Great Britain's demand for the suppression of outlaws in Southern Persia emphasises the better conditions which have prevailed in the Empire under the new regime. The reply states that the Government proposes to collect a 10 per cent. surtax on Customs to enable it to maintain order.

Persia considers that the procedure outlined in the Note from Sir Edward Grey, British Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, viz., a policing of Southern Persia by local levies officered from the India army, and supported by a Customs tax levied by Great Britain, to be contrary to the independence of Persia.

TURKISH INDIGNATION.

During the course of the meeting the services of the German Emperor to Islam in Morocco were recalled, and another resolution was passed urging the Emperor to become the saviour of another Moslem State.

In passing the petition the Imperial Assembly was unanimous and enthusiastic, and cheered China and the Constitution for five minutes.

It was argued in the course of the debate that the official classes were unable to remedy the grave situation in which the country found itself, and national representatives were urgently needed to control the finances.

TURKISH OPPOSITION LEADER.

CONSPIRACY CHARGE FAILS.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 24.

Dr. Riza Nour, a deputy from Sinope, and leader of the Opposition, was arrested four months ago on a charge of conspiracy against the State with other members of a secret society, the Ishlahat.

Dr. Riza Nour has now been acquitted, and his accusers have been arrested on a charge of perjury.

It was stated that the centre of the conspiracy in which it was alleged Dr. Riza Nour was concerned, was a secret society, which was so organised that very few of its members knew each other, and only the leading persons were initiated into all the plans, exactly the same arrangements as that followed in the former conspiracy of the Young Turk officers. The chief of the society, it was rumoured, was a son of Abdul Hamid, Prince Achmed; and at another time an Egyptian prince, Afis Hassan, a cousin of the Khedive, as well as a former Grand Vizier.

It was remarked that among the men whose lives were said to be threatened by the conspirators, the most important personage in the Empire, Mahmoud Shefket Pasha, the Minister for War, was not even alluded to. The scheme of the conspirators, it was stated, was to form a Ministry, and then, after introducing the new Government, to dissolve Parliament, and issue writs for new elections. It was also intended, under the cry of the "Restoration of the Sheriat," to organise a great demonstration and declare that Islamism itself was threatened. One of the allegations was that among the women concerned was a daughter of the ex-Sultan Abdul Hamid.

AN ARMY CRITIC.

ORDERED TO BARRACKS.

LONDON, Oct. 24.

Lieutenant Sutor, of the Royal Artillery, who resigned a few days ago, following on a reprimand for insubordination in writing a pamphlet, "The Army System; or Why Muddle Through Thirty Millions a Year During Peace," has been ordered to barracks and deprived of his sword.

Lieut. Sutor went through a University. He has had a good legal training, and has acted for some little time as headmaster of a school. In fact, as he said, in addressing the court martial which tried his case, he has had considerable experience of life. Thus, he was older than is usually the case when he entered the army. In the course of a speech in his defence, Lieut. Sutor said that when he entered the army he found that there was absolutely nothing for him to do. The work which he did amounted to about 30 minutes a day, and even that was far from concentrated essence. He found it something absolutely futile and inane. "It consisted," he explained, "of signing papers which I did not understand, and which no one else understood. I enjoyed the life very much, but my enjoyment, keen and intense as it was, did not blind me to the iniquity and absurdity of it.

"On the first day I joined, my captain, who was very kind, took me to his rooms and showed me his gold lace, carefully wrapped up in tissue paper. At 10.30 that day the duties which I had hardly entered upon were fully completed. In the afternoon I was left entirely to my own resources. Not a single soul was to be seen anywhere. I did not know what to do with myself. Secretaries for War had not then begun to deliver speeches on the subject of the magnificent reforms which they had introduced into the army; otherwise I might have spent a profitable afternoon reading them.

"My life in the army for 10 years has only served to confirm and strengthen what it was impossible for me not to see on the first day I served. For years I had serious thoughts of saying so, but I was mighty comfortable. I knew the big forces that would be arrayed against me, and I had my own interests to consider."

LABOUR'S PROGRESS.

DEBT TO TRADE-UNIONISM.

WHERE THE OSBORNE JUDGMENT HURTS.

LONDON, Oct. 24.

Mr. G. N. Barnes, M.P., chairman of the Labour party, in the course of a speech on Saturday, said that the Taff Vale judgment, which had now been overcome by legislation, had interfered with the organisation of labour on the industrial side. The Osborne judgment interfered with its organisation on the political side, which was of infinitely greater importance.

Trade-unionism, Mr. Barnes said, was not played out. The workers owed all their improvement to trade-unionism, and not to freetrade.

Anxiety is shown in France at a rumoured demand by Spain for an indemnity of £5,400,000 from Morocco, with a view thereby of establishing a financial obligation of Morocco, which will enable Spain to secure favourable treatment in the way of future economic and industrial concessions.

The Moroccan proposal for Customs service on the Riff tribesmen to defray the cost of the indemnity is regarded unfavourably in Madrid.

ST. JAMES' CHURCH.

REV. T. H. PITT'S LICENSE REVOKED.

A further difficulty has arisen at St. James' Church, the license of the Rev. T. H. Pitt, who has been acting as assistant to the Rev. Sidney Marston, having been revoked. Mr. Pitt preached his last sermon in St. James' on Sunday, and is about to go to Queensland, though it is stated his engagement there will only be temporary, and that he will shortly follow Mr. Marston to England. The St. James' churchwardens have had no official notification from the Archbishop, and Mr. Pitt himself, it is stated, has been given no reason for the revoking of his license. It is generally understood, however, that it is the result of the wearing of vestments and other practices to which Archbishop Wright is opposed.

STRIKE LEADER RELEASED.

BOWLING'S TERM ENDED.

FIRST ACT OF NEW GOVERNMENT.

Yesterday evening orders were sent to Goulburn Gaol for the release of Peter Bowling, the imprisoned strike leader.

As soon as Mr. Holman, the Attorney-General and Minister for Justice, took office on Saturday morning, he went through the papers in connection with two matters, one of which was the Willoughby murder case and the other the intended release of Bowling.

He asked the two Judges who presided over the trials, Judge Rogers and Mr. Justice Pring, to furnish him with reports on the subject, which reports were obtained yesterday. After perusing them Mr. Holman forwarded a recommendation to the Governor that the prisoner should be at once set at liberty.

A little later in the afternoon his Excellency's approval was received, and shortly after 6 p.m. Mr. Holman had a telegram sent to the Governor of the gaol at Goulburn, informing him of the decision. The gaol authorities were also requested to make provision for Bowling's conveyance into Goulburn, the penitentiary being some distance from the town. The information was also sent for the benefit of the prisoner that his wife had been informed of the probability of his being soon able to see the outside of the prison walls, and that she was accordingly on her way to Goulburn from Newcastle. Mrs. Bowling would have reached her destination at an early hour this morning.

Mr. Holman explained last night that the action was purely his own, in his Ministerial capacity, though with the fullest approval of the Premier and his colleagues.

Bowling was sentenced on January 27 by Judge Rogers, after being convicted, together with Hutton, Butler, and O'Connor, for having taken part in a strike meeting at Bulli on December 29, to 12 months' imprisonment. On February 10 he was convicted with Brennan, Burns, Lewis, and Gray, before Mr. Justice Pring, of conspiracy in connection with the coal strike, and was sentenced to a further 18 months' imprisonment. The sentences were cumulative, and, therefore, he was listed for 2½ years.

In May last the Wade Government decided that O'Connor, Butler, and Hutton should be released forthwith, and that Brennan, Burns, Lewis, and Gray should be allowed out after serving six months from the date of conviction. In Bowling's case they decided that the 18 months' sentence should be remitted, and that he should be released when he had actually done 12 months. This would have been on February 10 next.

The Attorney-General has received, since he took office, no petitions for further remission of Bowling's sentence. There were among the papers in the department, however, several received by his predecessor. As he put it yesterday, there was no outside starting point for his action. It was entirely upon his own initiative.

The Wade Government also reviewed in May the sentences of Stokes and May, imprisoned for offences in connection with the Broken Hill strike. May was released; but Stokes has to serve until the end of the year.

BOWLING INTERVIEWED.

WILL TAKE UP FIGHT AGAIN.

DIFFERENCE WITH MR. HUGHES.

GOULBURN, Monday.

Bowling was released at 8.30, and was interviewed at Dodd's Hotel.

"Was it a surprise?" asked the reporter.—"It was a pleasure, anyhow," said Mr. Bowling, with a laugh.

"Were you satisfied with your treatment in gaol?"—"They treated me according to regulations."

"What are your future movements?"—"I intend staying in Goulburn till Thursday. I will speak here on Wednesday night, and in Sydney on Thursday. I expect to get back to Newcastle on Friday. Mrs. Bowling will be here to-morrow."

"Have you any message for the workers at Newcastle?"—"I have already had telegrams from Newcastle and Broken Hill congratulating me on my release. My reply will be my presence in Newcastle as soon as I can, as I am very anxious to be with them to take up the fight for industrial freedom at the point I left off nine months ago."

Asked if he would take a position on the wages boards, he said: "One of the officers of the federation visited me in prison, and asked me the same question as you have done. I told him that while I was president of the Miners' Federation I would be prepared to take any office that they might care to appoint me to."

In reply to another question, Mr. Bowling said his opinion on wages boards were well known, and as they were still unaltered it would be useless to repeat them. Asked as to his condition, he said: "My health is very good, but I don't feel quite as strong as I would like."

Questioned as to his political opinion, he said: "My views have perhaps during my incarceration matured, but not changed in principle." Mr. Hughes's name was mentioned. "As far as Hughes is concerned, you can say that I intend to explain the real difference between him and me industrially. As I have been requested by many since my imprisonment to write a truthful account of the recent strike in Newcastle, giving the whole particulars both of his attitude and mine in regard to the trouble, I don't care to express a direct opinion any more than to say I was very dissatisfied with the stand he took." In reply to another query, Mr. Bowling said: "As far as my attitude to the political Labour party is concerned, while they do any good at all to the wage-earning classes of which I am a representative I must of necessity give them credit for doing so. Whenever they don't do so, or legislate in the interests of employing classes, my attitude remains unchanged."

RELEASE ANNOUNCED AT NEWCASTLE.

ENTHUSIASTIC DEMONSTRATION.

NEWCASTLE, Monday.

At a smoke concert held in the Newcastle Trades Hall to-night in connection with the eight-hours celebration, the announcement was made that Mr. Peter Bowling had been released. The news was received just as the secretary of the Eight-hour Committee, Mr. E. J. Brent, was about to reply to the toast of "The Day We Celebrate." "I have news to tell you," said Mr. Brent. "To-night Peter Bowling is a free man."

Every man in the hall sprang to his feet immediately, and cheered loudly. When the uproar died down Mr. Brent said that they were informed that Mr. Holman had been seen in Sydney this afternoon, and asked if steps were being taken regarding Mr. Bowling's release, and he had stated that he was just then waiting for news from the governor of the gaol at Goulburn that Bowling was free.

The president of the Eight-hour Committee, Mr. B. Rees, then called for three cheers for Mr. Bowling, and these were given three times over. Cheers were also given for the Government, and Mr. Maher moved that the gathering, which consisted of representatives of the unions of the whole district, congratulate Mr. Bowling on his release, and that a wire be sent him immediately to this effect. This was carried unanimously, and Mr. E. J. Brent immediately left the gathering and despatched a congratulatory wire to Mr. Bowling on behalf of the Eight-hour Committee. Mr. W. Brennan, secretary of the Colliery Employees' Federation, did likewise on behalf of that body. Mrs. Bowling leaves Newcastle for Sydney to-night to meet her husband.

INTERNATIONAL SOCIALISTS.

At a meeting of the International Socialist party last night it was resolved:—"That this executive of the International Socialist party places on record its emphatic condemnation of the Labour Government's methods of secrecy in connection with the release of Peter Bowling, and that this executive further indignantly protests against the continued unjust imprisonment of Mr. W. S. Stokes, and demands his immediate release."

ARRIVAL OF IMMIGRANTS.

CONTINGENT ON THE ORSOVA.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

New settlers are coming to Victoria in almost every steamer. The R.M.S. Orsova, which arrived to-day, brought out 657 third-class passengers, and all of them, with a few exceptions, were people who had left Great Britain and were coming to Australia either to settle on the land or to obtain work on it. Of these 222 landed at Fremantle and 24 went ashore at Adelaide. Seventy-five of them came to Victoria, while the remaining 336 are booked to Sydney. Of the 75 new Victorian arrivals by the Orsova, only eight were "assisted," that is to say, came out under the aegis of the Victorian Immigration Department. Five of these were sent out by the Agent-General, while three had been nominated by friends in Victoria. Of the five, one —Mr. E. N. Anderson—has come with considerable capital to take up land as the direct result of the M'Kenzie-Mead mission.

SOUTHERN CROSS HYSTERICAL.

LEASES ON THE UNDERLAY.

SOUTHERN CROSS, Monday.

The boom in mining circles still holds unchecked sway. A delirium of speculation has taken hold of the community. The atmosphere is thrilling with tense expectancy. The streets of the old town are thronged with men who have gone through alarums and excursions of a score of bygone rushes, who have heard the shouting and the tumult of the new rush from afar, and have hastened here, determined to put their hardly-earned past experience to profitable present account. With them are new men, who hope to set their feet on the royal road to fortune. The sleepy, slow old town has had its many stirring vicissitudes. There was its own gold rush 25 years ago; then there came the seething, roaring, hurley-burley of the early nineties, when Bayley's and Hannan's, the White Feather, the I.O.U. and Kurnalpi and Siberia, Menzies, and a score other famous finds brought to the inland wastes east of Southern Cross an army of gold-seekers.

The Cross was the base from which this army was victualled and supplied eastward. To it came the tide of adventurers going out to seek fortune westward. To it came back, in due time, a few who had been successful and a myriad who had failed. Southern Cross then was the centre to which all roads led, but the railway followed the gold-hunters to Coolgardie and Kalgoorlie. The legions who had foregathered at the Cross now merely pass through it on the way to greater new centres, and the old town passed into a somnambulent insignificance.

A STARTLING CHANGE.

But a new era has dawned to-day. Months ago the new rich find at the Bullfinch, 22 miles from here, began to attract attention; but the boom is only a fortnight old. Since the beginning of the present month the town has been inundated with visitors, hotels, and other business places are crammed with customers, the mining office is packed with men applying for leases, or transacting other mining business. Telegraph officials are overwhelmed by the rush of urgent work. Everywhere is seen pink flush of urgent telegrams in the hands of men who are dealing in mines or in options, which may or may not represent mines. Rushing through the streets are motor cars and other vehicles, going to or coming from the Bullfinch, while contingents of cyclists and pedestrians are strolling in evidence that the boom is here.

SOME PERTINENT QUESTIONS.

What is the kernel of the situation? Is there any justification for all this frenzy? Is the whole thing a nine-days' wonder—a bubble which may collapse as suddenly as it has been created? Well, one great salient facts stands out, and that is the Bullfinch is a prodigy of richness. Cautious responsible mining men concur in declaring it to be probably the richest thing ever discovered in Australia, perhaps in the world; but they are equally unanimous in refusing to reduce their opinion of its possibilities of wealth to literal statement, because of the very richness which almost beggars description.

REMARKABLE BUNCH OF LODES.

A few facts will serve to illustrate what is meant. In April last the Bullfinch was a mere promising prospecting show, owned by Doolette, Jones, and Shallcoss. Since that time they have proved the existence of six great lodes in the property. Of these what is called No. 1 lode is the principal. There are two shafts, Nos. 1 and 2, down to a depth of 100ft on this lode, and a third down to 60ft. Two former shafts are 30ft apart, and connected at the bottom. Some 55ft of driving on the lode has been done. At the bottom of the connected shafts a width of 12ft is being taken out, without either wall being seen. From the shafts and drive 324 tons have been crushed, for a yield of 2304oz, worth £9789. There is in addition 530 tons of ore bagged at the surface, which the owners are confident will yield at least 10oz per ton. There is a large quantity of rich ore not yet bagged. The length of the rich ore proved on No. 1 lode, by means of costeens and shafts, is 300ft. At the 50ft level in No. 3 shaft No. 1 lode has been driven on for 30ft, a width of 14ft being taken out, without either wall being disclosed. The owners state that careful assaying shows the value of all material taken from this drive to range from 16oz to 20oz per ton. As sinking has proceeded the ore has improved, and from the bottom, at 60ft, assays of 100oz per ton have been obtained. All ore crushed so far has come from No. 1 lode, but the owners state that the ore being broken as sinking proceeds is vastly richer than anything yet crushed.

A VERITABLE GOLCONDA.

Of the other five lodes in the mine four are huge bodies ranging from 10 to 20 odd feet in thickness, and giving values of from half an ounce to 2oz per ton. As stated above, all the ore raised and crushed has been won from the rich No. 1 lode, and in this lode the owners estimate they have proved by work done reserves of ore amounting to 15,000 tons, the value of which they estimate at fully 10oz per ton. The other large lodes are practically unprospected, except by means of costeens. A sixth lode is a smaller body, worth apparently about 30dwt. The work done does not sufficiently indicate the nature of this tremendous congeries of ore occurrences.

Whether the lodes go down vertically, or at what angle they underlie, or what chance there is of any of the adjoining leases getting a share of the lodes, are problems yet to be solved.

ADELAIDE STOCK EXCHANGE EXCITED.

BIG JUMP IN PRICES.

ADELAIDE, Monday.

The demand for Bullfinch stocks was to-day hotter than ever. When the Stock Exchange opened thousands of shares were dealt in before first room. High-priced syndicates had attention at advancing prices, but new flotations had a fluctuating course, with, if anything, a weaker tendency. Kookynies had notice in quarters and halves at the equivalent of from £400 to £620, with one whole dealt in at £610. The cause of the firming was due to an announcement that it was intended to float a company to take on the working of the Chaffinch, a lease under option to a syndicate. Tanami was taken between £60 and £81. Quite a number of Bronzewings were dealt in between £62/10/. An outside option is to be obtained on the Bull Ant lease, which the syndicate is interested in, and there is every probability of a company being formed to undertake its development.

All day there was a continuous clamour for shares. Orders came through from all parts of Australia, except Queensland and Tasmania. The interest that has been awakened all over the State is remarkable. Nearly 200,000 shares in the newly-floated mining companies were traded.

MELBOURNE GAMBLES IN SHARES.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

Interest in the Bullfinch boom was as well sustained as ever to-day, but the dealing was almost exclusively in some of the recent flotations on this side. The briskness in the market is in no way reflected in the transactions in the call room, as none of the stocks have been listed. Market prices in Melbourne are mostly low. The principle of taking quick profits is being adopted. This was demonstrated in the case of the Great Finch shares. They started off well, but a slight advance tempted holders, and values dropped back. Then, among the syndicate shares, Bullfinch Main Lode were carried to £37. Then they got back to £33, but rattled forward again, when the pressure of a few sellers was relieved. A few Adelaide ventures also received attention, but the jobbers are somewhat shy of operating, in view of their lack of knowledge of how developments are going, or as to the general merits of the properties held. Several leading Melbourne investors have representatives on the field.

OFFER OF £200,000 REFUSED.

KALGOORLIE, Monday.

D. L. Doolette has refused an offer of £200,000 for the Bullfinch from Mr. Lionel Robinson, a well-known London sharebroker. Mr. F. Shallcross has purchased one-sixteenth interest in the Bullfinch from Jones, the prospector, who held one-eighth, for £10,000. Jones retains one-sixteenth interest in the mine, and Shallcross, who formerly owned one-sixteenth, now owns one-eighth.

BROKEN HILL INFECTED.

BROKEN HILL, Monday.

The Bullfinch boom has extended to Broken Hill, and a fair amount of investment is being made from this end. The rush to the new field may, it is feared, affect the necessary supply of labour for the Broken Hill mines. If it does, the output must suffer, and work generally be affected.

DEATH OF A CENTENARIAN.

BOMBALA, Monday.

Mr. Thomas Brownlie, of Daisy Hill, Bombala, died this morning, at the great age of 102. He was born at Dunbartonshire, Scotland, and came to Bombala 52 years ago. He leaves a wife and six children.

LABOUR'S EXULTATION.

EIGHT-HOURS DAY IN NEWCASTLE.

THE PROPHECY REALISED.

NEWCASTLE, Monday.

Glorious summer weather, with a delightfully cool breeze, favoured labour's festivities in Newcastle to-day. Eight-hours Day in the Coal City is one of the events of the year, and the miners and unionists generally lay themselves out for a day of real enjoyment.

Special trains and trams brought vast crowds of people from the surrounding district, and they thronged the streets of the city along the route which the procession was to take. Everyone was dressed in holiday attire, the predominating pink and blue dresses of the miners' wives and daughters showing out vividly in the bright sunlight. It was labour's day out, and on every side mutual congratulations were passed regarding the result of the recent elections.

The speeches at the show ground sounded again the optimistic tune set to the words "labour is in power," but a square-jawed miner struck a jarring discord by bellowing out: "But where is Peter." He was met with black looks and requests to remain silent, as Peter would be liberated, but he continued to mumble sentences relative to the piecrust properties of promises.

At 10 o'clock the procession, which was larger than that of last year, started from Watt-street on its march to the Agricultural Show Ground. Marshal E. Buxton led it, followed by two mounted police, the Eight-hour Banner, and the Eight-Hour Committee and official visitors. The latter included Senator McGregor (Vice-President of the Senate), Mr. R. D. Meagher, M.L.A., Mr. G. Cann, M.L.A., and the members of Parliament for the district. Among the interesting displays which flowed were two attractive turnouts arranged by the dredge employees. One consisted of a large model of one of the modern Clam dredges, at present used lifting the large loose boulders and sand at the entrance to the Newcastle Harbour. The other represented Neptune, arrayed in a quaint costume of sea weed, exuding odours reminiscent of the sea, with a monstrous flaxen beard, guarding the uplifted trident, a reposing mermaid, who casually admired herself in a small hand-mirror on a rock. Close by sat an apparently surprised diver, gazing at the unusual scene. The whole tableaux was surrounded by Green gauze, which gave it a watery effect, and a couple of riggling eels added to the reality of the scene. The Newcastle Smelters and Workers' Union gave a very interesting display of copper ore matt, pig and plate copper, and refined copper ingots, behind which they carried a sign bearing the words, "Why do we export our ores." The united boilermakers' had a boiler and small furnace on a lorry, and were busy driving red-hot rivets, while the Operative Bakers' Society were equally industrious in making and throwing out to the crowd small loaves and rolls. The Newcastle branch of the Operative Gas Fitters Society, Arnotts, and the Castlemaine Brewery also had interesting displays.

At the Show Ground a large crowd congregated, and sports were indulged in until after luncheon hour, when speeches were delivered from a lorry near the grand stand. Mr. Ben Rees, president of the eight-hour committee, occupied the chair.

The secretary, Mr. E. J. Brent, moved the following motion:—"That this meeting welcomes the advent of a Government pledged by its platform to give legislative sanction to the principle of an eight-hour working day, and trusts that there will be no unnecessary delay in placing such a measure upon the Statute-book." Mr. Brent said he felt like a prophet, because last year he had said that before they held the next eight-hour demonstration Mr. M'Gowen would be in power. He trusted that next year they would have to congratulate the present Government on having put the eight hours measure on the Statute-book.

Dan Rees, vice-president of the eight hours committee, seconded the motion, and Senator M'Gregor supported it. The latter said he knew that the new Government would do all they possibly could to bring about eight hours in New South Wales, but they must recollect that in New South Wales they had a Legislative Council. They had a Federal Parliament, however, which was about to ask the people for greater powers in industrial matters. If the majority of Labour men in both Houses in the Federal Parliament were not able to give them eight hours when the people gave them the power to do it, then it would be their own fault. No more in New South Wales would they "wade" or "waddle" through a quagmire of unembraced opportunities and broken promises into the "wood of Bega" that had confused the most intelligent minds in the country. They had in New South Wales now a Parliament that would do all they possibly could to carry out the wishes of the people.

Mr. Geo. Cann, M.L.A., said he was pleased to notice a difference in the wording of the resolution. He hoped that the internal babble of pious resolutions would finish, and that the Government would put this measure on the Statute-book. "Early next year," continued the speaker, "we will probably be coming to you to ask you to give us extended powers, and I know you will grant us them."

At the conclusion of Mr. Cann's speech a man in the crowd called out, "Where is Peter? Will you explain to me why Bowling is not here to-day. The Labour party is in power, and he should be here."

When the interruptor was informed that he had not been asked to speak he replied, "Oh, yes; it's always shut up when you don't know what else to say."

Mr. R. D. Meagher, M.L.A., said the Government felt it was under a debt of gratitude to Newcastle for the magnificent result of the elections. They had completed the victory by capturing the Newcastle seat. The speaker paid a tribute to the miners for their behaviour during the recent coal strike. "And," he concluded, "as you in times of storm and stress conducted yourselves with courage and self-reliance we will not abuse Mr. Wade nor anybody else, but wear our honours modestly to-day."

Mr. E. Farrar, president of the Sydney Trades and Labour Council, said he had a tingle of regret at one being absent from the gathering. However, they had a Labour Government in power, and as soon as that Government could put the law into operation Peter Bowling would be with his wife and family again.

Mr. R. Cameron, vice-president of the Colliery Employees' Federation, also regretted the absence of the president of his federation, Mr. Peter Bowling. The other speakers included Messrs. Arthur R. Gardiner, M.L.A., H. Delaney, and A. Warten. The motion was carried unanimously.

The principal sporting events resulted as follows:—Two mile motor race: L. Firth, 1; W. Stallard, 2; J. Yea, 3; time, 3.30. Tug o' war: N.S.W. Traffic Association, 1; Sewer Workers' Union, 2.

In the grand exhibition football match Central Newcastle won the medals, defeating Northern Suburbs by 13 points to 9.

SOCIAL DEMOCRATS.

TO OPPOSE LABOUR CANDIDATES.

"The Social Democrats will be organised for next election, and I hope to be the means of opposing every Labour party candidate in the metropolitan area. The Trades Hall seems to have become a place for breeding intrigue, and a resting-ground for nincompoops who somehow have got into the Labour movement. I am now their political enemy."

Thus Mr. T. W. M'Cristal, who contested the Pyrmont electorate, and who is organising a Social Democratic party. He says this party has been brought into being because men like himself have come to the conclusion that the Labour party, as it is constituted to-day, is no longer representative of trade unionism and democracy, but contained a number of men who used to be Liberals, and men of the moneyed class, who were "watering down" the Labour platform. Mr. M'Cristal yesterday said that the coercive tactics of the executive at the Trades Hall in knocking out the selections of the Labour leagues, and running in their place men who had ratted from the Liberals, had disgusted many old followers. "In my own case, as president of the Wharf-labourers' Union, they tried to undermine my position for daring to stand on the platform of Alderman English, the constitutionally-selected candidate of the Belmore Labour League.

"This has arisen since the Federal elections, and a few of us who are really concerned in this movement have met, and got together a platform for future political organisation. It will be known as the Social Democratic party, and it was in the interests of that party that I contested Pyrmont. Next Thursday night we meet to elect officers, and to map out a plan of campaign for the formation of branches in all the metropolitan centres. I anticipate we will have fully half a dozen Social Democratic party candidates contesting metropolitan seats at the next general election, which I think is not far off. The people at the Trades Hall have 'ratted' on the movement, and I am to be their political enemy from this day on. I hope to be the means of having all their candidates opposed in the future, and opposed by men prepared to advocate the nationalisation of land and the securing of the full results of industry to the producer."

Mr. M'Cristal said the Social Democrats would advocate land nationalisation and the abolition of State Parliaments and State Governors.

THE ULTIMATE GOAL.

"MEN TO RULE THE MASTERS."

MANUFACTURERS AWAKENING.

SOME STRONG SPEECHES.

CONFERENCE TO BE HELD.

"The coming year is going to be one of great moment to the manufacturing interests," said Mr. H. Sparks at the special general meeting of the Chamber of Manufactures last night, in moving that a conference of the manufacturers of New South Wales be convened on a date to be arranged, with a view to the consideration of the trend of industrial legislation, and other matters directly affecting the industries of the State.

"It will no doubt be admitted," he said, "that the Chamber of Manufactures has not made the best use of its opportunities, and, fearing a continuance of the state of listlessness and indifference as is now shown by the main body of the manufacturers to the great social and legislative changes now going on around us, I urge that a conference of manufacturers of New South Wales be held. To-day, the manufacturer of New South Wales is surrounded by a network of laws enacted for the benefit of the employees, and on account of the Labour party holding (as it undoubtedly has done for years both in the Federal and State Parliaments) the balance of power, measures have been passed without due consideration either as to their fairness or the possible results of their being placed on the statute book. Under the conditions of to-day, what can we expect? Some of the industrial laws are fair, others are unreasonable; and I fear that the trend of legislation is toward the increasing of those laws that will press most heavily upon the manufacturing interests. We are all, I take it, in favour of having a well-paid body of workers, and wish the employees to share in the general prosperity, recognising that our interests are really identical; but what will be the ultimate effect of these awards increasing wages all round? How will they affect production, prices, and ultimately the consumption of the Australian productions? Will they not tend to provide work for the foreigner instead of our own people? Are we fully seized of the fact that each step in progressive legislation means an addition to the prime cost of manufacture, and that the margins are already disappearing rapidly? Are these conditions to be regulated by further additions to the Customs duties, or are the manufacturers to take their gruel lying down, while goods manufactured in other parts of the world—under conditions that would not be tolerated for a moment in Australia—come pouring into New South Wales? We all know that the class of industrial legislation I particularly refer to increases the cost of living. Are we to contentedly look forward to the Government fixing the selling prices? The claim that this should be done has certainly been put forward, though it has not yet attained the dignity of a "plank" in any political platform. It must be patent to all that the whole trend of the legislation to-day is clearly in the direction of greater Governmental interference with, and the closer regulation of, industries that have hitherto been left to the free play of economic forces.

"Another matter worthy of your serious consideration is that the Labour party now in control of the Federal Government, finding itself so bound by the Constitution as to be effectually debarred from interfering as far as it desires in the industrial concerns of the States, proposes to have next year a referendum as to the alteration of the Constitution in order to have the necessary power so to do. The result of such an alteration of the Constitution as proposed will be to take completely out of the hands of the States the power of regulating any industrial matters within their own borders. This is a state of affairs, taken into consideration with the evident desire to strike a blow at private enterprise, that no one can afford to look at with equanimity. Can we with confidence give a class Government this overriding power? It is now further proposed to have a referendum as to the tariff. What position is this chamber going to take up?

WORLD-REGENERATION SCHEMES.

The president of the chamber, Mr. Wunderlich, said that the general unrest in the minds of the manufacturers of the Commonwealth, "caused by the socialistic legislative programme of our present rulers, coupled with the recent developments in our own State politics," was a matter of serious concern. No one could be blind enough to fail to realise that we were surrounded by difficulties of the most serious character, and no one could afford to shut his eyes to the gravity of the situation. To his mind this might be summed up in a few words. The ultimate object of all this laboriously constructed modern legislation was that the men should "rule the masters." Already now the men dictated hours, wages, the class of labour that should be employed, etc. The next step would be the governing of the profits. Once that point was reached, the final move would inevitably be in the direction of laying hands on that profit itself on the plea that individual welfare should ever yield to national interests.

"We are therefore constrained in the very near future," said Mr. Wunderlich, "to face the danger of an attempt at wholesale nationalisation of all sources of industrial wealth, with the meagre consolation that we may possibly be offered an opportunity of selling out to our rulers; or, in other words, that we may be glad to accept whatever terms may be thrown at us. Who, having capital and life interests in any industry that he may have built up by his own hands and at the expense of the best years of his life, will calmly and meekly submit to such revolutionary methods? Again, who in the future, with such "rosy" prospects ahead of him, will employ his capital and brains in the furthering of industrial interests in this land? To my mind, those who are engaged in it will have to see it through, for land, factory, machinery, and plant in any one industry are not so readily disposed of as might be supposed, and it is much easier to say 'We will sell out' than to do it. But I apprehend that there will be in the future a distinct disinclination to attempt to develop the growing industrial needs of this country, and all our tariff building and our awakening national sentiment for home-made products will be of little avail to help to create the hives of industry that under normal industrial safety should be springing up in every direction.

"What of the remedy? It is difficult to suggest one, except to say that our chances of resisting an onslaught on our interests lie chiefly in our presenting a strong and united stand in defence of them, not waiting until the moment arrives when we personally feel the pinch, but in uniting in giving our entire support, and throwing the whole weight of our influence in the balance in favour of any one industry that may be attacked. It is difficult to formulate a scheme of defence; some will hold that this organisation should depart from its non-political attitude, and throw itself heart and soul, and with a militant spirit, into the opposing camp. I am afraid that this would be of little use, and only tend to create a position that might disintegrate instead of binding our forces. I think our safeguard must be looked for in the strength of public opinion, which it should be our aim to guide into the proper channel.

"It is held by some that employers of labour are themselves responsible for the present state of affairs by their attitude in refusing to voluntarily grant concessions to the men, that the other side had to put up a fight for every reform, and that if the masters had met the men only half way we would not be facing trouble to-day. That may or may not be so, but the answer is that manufacturers in the majority of cases have the welfare of their men at heart, and on their own initiative have gone the length they could to ensure workable conditions to their men. Others will maintain that our whole system of production, distribution, and unrestricted competition is wrong. There may be a great deal of truth in both assertions, but such philosophical lines of thought and arguments do not enter into the scope of practical manufacturers, whose business in life is to produce goods and find a market for them at a profit. We cannot be expected to experiment in world-regeneration schemes, but have to do our work under existing conditions. Future conditions, such as we fear they will be, are going to be inimical to the fullest development of our industrial possibilities. The proposed Utopian principles, if carried into effect, will destroy the mainsprings of all individualistic enterprise, and future generations will be cast in the dull moulds of a common mediocrity. The expansion of Australian industries will be arrested, and those already in existence will be controlled and hampered by legislation at every turn."

"A RED RAG TO A BULL."

Mr. Ludowici thought the scope of the proposed conference, if it were to be held at all, should be widened so as to take in the whole of Australia.

Voices: That will come later.

Mr. Ludowici: I do not hold with the conference at all. I think it is a great mistake. It is like holding out a red rag to a bull. I have been told—and I think there is a good deal in it—that at the bottom of it all is the cry for more protection. I would warn members against going too strong on that matter. If things are right now, why not leave well alone?

Voices: They are not right.

Mr. T. J. Hitchman thought it was about time the manufacturers began to look after their own interests. "We are being fleeced and robbed of everything, right and left," he said.

The motion was then carried unanimously.

FEDERAL CABINET.

THE POLAR EXPEDITION.

OIL BONUS BILL.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

A meeting of the Federal Cabinet was held to-day. At its conclusion the Acting Prime Minister stated:—"The Oil Bounties Bill was considered, and the measure is now ready for presentation to Parliament. It will include more than one sort of oil.

"In connection with the transcontinental railway, the arrangements necessary to make a quantity survey are being pushed on."

"The appointment of Mr. R. Triggs, of Western Australia, as special accountant to the central postal administration was approved.

"We gave consideration to the request of the special meeting, at which the Lord Mayor of Sydney presided, that an additional £2500 be voted towards the Scott expedition. The Cabinet, while quite of opinion that £5000 was a very fair contribution for Australia, thought that, in view of the present state of the national finances, it had done its part, and looked with confidence to seeing the amount supplemented by some public-spirited citizen.

"The appointment of Major Roam as director of rifle clubs was approved.

"It has been decided not to go on with the Electoral Act Amendment Bill this session.

"The question of placing the whole of the advertising of the Commonwealth Government under the control of one department was considered, and a memorandum is being prepared as to cost and method."

BUSH NURSING SCHEME.

PROGRESS IN VICTORIA.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

A meeting was held at the Town Hall to-day, of the committee appointed to organise a system of bush nursing in Victoria. Sir John Madden, who presided, said that there was in the hands of the Federal treasurer a certain sum of money, and it was for the meeting to decide whether, if it could not be utilised for precisely the method which Lady Dudley originally wished, it could be utilised in some kindred and equally useful direction. It was resolved that the Lord Mayor (Colonel Burston) be treasurer of the fund, and that Dr. J. W. Barrett be the hon. secretary of the movement.

Dr. Barrett explained that with the money subscribed by the Edward Wilson trustees, a private subscriber, and the residents of Beech Forest, funds were immediately available to provide at least one bush nurse. It was decided that the Federal treasurer of the fund be applied to for the money in question, and that when received the further allocation of the sum received be determined by the committee. Dr. Barrett was deputed to draft a scheme by which a practical system of bush nursing (as distinct from district nursing) might be inaugurated.

THE SECOND BALLOT.

HASTINGS AND MACLEAY CONTEST.

PORT MACQUARIE, Monday.

Mr. Davidson has held several meetings on the southern end of the electorate, and at each was well received and tendered votes of thanks. On Saturday he addressed a very large meeting at Comboyne, and has greatly improved his already strong position. He now goes north and will speak at Smith's Creek to-night, then on to Macleay, where meetings will be held daily throughout the week, finishing up at Port Macquarie on Saturday. He speaks confidently of his prospects, and appears to be in no doubt about his election if the Liberal party makes a good rally on polling day. There is no question that the Labour vote will be split in favour of Mr. Morton; but a fair percentage of workers will remain neutral. L. O. Martin, solicitor, of Taree, will speak to-night at the Lansdowne in the interests of Liberalism.

Mr. Morton is still on the southern end of the electorate, and spoke at Comboyne to-day. He has made excellent progress in the campaign, and the Labour vote at Laurieton promises to be almost solidly in his favour. The Macleay League has been advised by the Sydney Political Labour Executive of Mr. Morton's endorsement, and this will ensure a certain Labour following. On the northern end of the electorate, Mr. Bridson is assisting the Independent candidate, and many electors consider Mr. Morton has made a serious mistake in connecting himself with the defeated party, and he will lose votes on this account. The Labour alliance savours of instability, and will certainly have a detrimental effect on polling day, especially as Mr. Bridson denounced Mr. Morton through the public press just before the elections, and branded him as a rail-sitter.

YOUNG WOMAN'S SUICIDE.

"A BURDEN TO ALL."

WAGGA, Monday.

A sad case of self-destruction occurred at the Rock on Friday evening. The victim was a resident named Stella May Sheldrick, aged 21 years. From evidence taken at the inquest held by the District Coroner, Mr. George Stevenson, P.M., it appeared that the deceased, who lived with her parents, had been suffering from serious depression, for which she was receiving medical treatment. On Friday morning she left the house and was not seen alive afterwards. On Saturday morning one of her shoes was found floating in a dam, and the body was subsequently recovered. A letter was found in her pocket worded as follows:—"I am not altogether in my right mind at times, and am a burden to all I come in contact with; so a life like mine is not wanted in the world. I am trying to end this life of mine so full of failures. S.M.S."

The Coroner returned a verdict that deceased was drowned while temporarily insane.

HONOURING MR. C. W. OAKES.

ENTHUSIASTIC LIBERALS.

The big supper-room at the Paddington Town Hall was well filled last night with the friends and supporters of Mr. C. W. Oakes. They had met in response to an invitation to show recognition of Mr. Oakes' services to the electorate and the eastern suburbs generally during that gentleman's nine years' Parliamentary representation. Mr. John White was in the chair. The dominating note of the meeting was one of keen Liberal enthusiasm.

The chairman, after referring to Mr. Oakes's personality, remarked that the result of the election and the defeat of their old representative came as a great surprise to Paddington, notwithstanding that the events of a few months previous had shown that a new element had crept into the electorate. It was disappointing that the Liberal electors should not have better risen to the occasion, especially after Mr. Wade's splendid fight, and shown their gratitude by re-electing Mr. Oakes. (Hear, hear.) "We feel sure that Mr. Oakes's retirement is only temporary, and personally he is in no way discouraged by his defeat." (Cheers.)

Mr. H. Goldstein, who presented a motion for the opening of a subscription list towards a presentation, said that among other things Mr. Oakes knew how to take defeat with manly dignity. Their late member had said at the announcement of the poll: "As a democrat I bow to the will of the electors of Paddington." In this regard he had set an example not only to other defeated candidates, but to those of his opponents who were not manly enough to give him even a cheer. (Hear, hear.) Not one word could be said against Mr. Oakes's personal character. (Applause.) He believed that their late member had left public life a poorer man.

In seconding the motion, Miss M. Stanley said that it took a man to bring out the support of the women. (Hear, hear.) Few candidates in the recent election had received such splendid support from the women. It was because the women knew they had a true man to deal with. (Applause.) It was hardly possible for a man with Mr. Oakes's personal attainments to remain long out of public life. (Cheers.) If it were possible by their activity to do so the women of Paddington would do their utmost to get him returned. (Cheers.)

The motion having been carried, Mr. Arthur Cocks, the hero of the St. Leonards second ballot, was introduced to the meeting. After the cheers had subsided, Mr. Cocks said he had come there as a personal friend and admirer of Mr. Oakes to show his practical sympathy in the movement. "I am of the firm conviction that if you had had a second ballot in Paddington, Mr. Oakes would have been returned." (Cheers.) Paddington had shown wisdom in electing Mr. Oakes, and they must see to it that the blunder of October 14 was rectified in the future—probably before 12 months were over." (Cheers.)

Alderman Magney, Messrs. A. Hornby, Miss Rita Nicholson, Mr. Olding, and several others spoke. A subscription list was opened, and a gentleman who had come from Manly for the express purpose of showing a surf-bather's appreciation in Mr. Oakes, "opened the ball," as he termed it, with a donation. A sub-committee was formed to look after details, and it is possible that a more public appeal will be made.

VICTORIAN RIFLE MEETING

CONCLUDING DAY.

INTERSTATE MATCHES.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

The Jubilee meeting of the Victoria Rifle Association was concluded at Williamstown to-day. The two military events for the Gordon Highlanders' trophy and the Northcote trophy were decided. The former was presented to the military forces of the Commonwealth of Australia and New Zealand by the First Battalion Gordon Highlanders, in commemoration of their services together during the South African War. It is shot for annually by teams of eight men, directed by a commander, and the trophy is held for one year by the winning team. The Northcote trophy was presented by Lord Northcote, for competition among teams of ten men, directed by a commander. This trophy is also held for one year by the winning team.

In the Gordon Highlanders match, teams were drawn up 1200 yards from the target, and in the course of the series of advances fired as many rounds as possible at each of five halts. Forty cartridges were issued to each man. In the Northcote competition teams of 10 men and a commander advanced from 700 or 800 yards towards the disappearing khaki figure of a man, firing as many shots as possible at each halt until about 400 yards from the targets. The retreat was carried out under similar conditions, the teams halting and firing at intervals. The winning team comprised Messrs. Harrison, Tessimond, Ardill, Holliday, Boyd, Kefford, McLeod, Pinkerton, Fisher, and Blacktow.

DEAF, DUMB, AND BLIND INSTITUTION.

PROPOSED NEW BUILDING.

The 49th annual meeting of the Institution for the Deaf and Dumb and the Blind was held yesterday afternoon at the institution, Newtown-road, Darlington. The Lord Mayor of Sydney presided over a large gathering.

The directors presented their annual report, which showed that the year had been one of quiet, steady progress, not marked by any great event, but rather by a steadfast devotion to duty, by the officers and teachers, and a praiseworthy endeavour to succeed on the part of the pupils. The number of children on the roll was 141, three less than 12 months ago. The interesting child, Alice Betteridge, who it was hoped would prove to be another Helen Keller, continued to make advancement in her studies.

The directors pointed out that it would be absolutely necessary very soon to spend a considerable amount of money in providing additional accommodation for children who were known to be eligible for admission, but as the directors had no funds available for the purpose, they have had to delay operations, although plans had been prepared.

The institution was about to enter upon its jubilee year, and if the proposed building could be erected before the next annual meeting, the official opening, it was pointed out, could be made a special feature of the jubilee celebrations. An application had been made to the Government for financial assistance towards the erection of these buildings, but up to the present no reply had been received.

The Lord Mayor moved the adoption of the report. He said the work stood as a monument to the philanthropic and noble-minded men and women of the State, and no institution commended itself more to the public than did this one. On behalf of the city he paid a tribute to the management of the institution, and coupled with it the name of Mr. Watson, who, after 40 years' active service as superintendent, was retiring. His name would ever remain prominent in the history of the institution.

Mr. J. R. Love, vice-president, seconded the adoption of the report. He said they would find from the report that they proposed to increase the accommodation by erecting another building at a cost of £10,000. Half that amount they hoped to get from the Government, and it was not too much to ask for, considering how little the Government did for the institution in comparison to what the institution did for the Government. (Applause.) The present buildings cost £50,000, and the total annual cost for upkeep was £7538. The Government gave them a subsidy of £450, and when the children were absolutely destitute the Government helped the institution to the extent of £26 per child. Altogether the Government gave them now £1233 per year. That left the public to subscribe £6205 to make up the amount required to carry on. The public had done so, but if it was not for this institution, the whole burden of caring for and educating these children would fall on the shoulders of the Government. (Applause.) And when the institution saved the State so much annually, he thought they could with safety go to the Government on this occasion, and ask for a liberal donation. (Applause.)

Sir Philip Sydney Jones said the building must be enlarged if they wished to carry on properly. The dormitories were overcrowded, the dining-room was too small, and the class rooms needed to be separated. (Applause.) The institution was full, and they wanted to take in from 90 to 100 more pupils, providing the compulsory clauses were added to the Act, and they must have a building in which to house these extra children. It was therefore imperative that they should have additional accommodation. (Applause.) They could not celebrate their jubilee in a more appropriate manner than by opening a new building, the erection of which he trusted would be undertaken at once. (Applause.)

Mr. W. H. Simpson said when they had only half the number of pupils in the institution they received as much money from the Government as they were getting now. That was hardly fair. (Applause.) The Government ought not only to assist in the erection of the new building, but also to help more than it did in the maintenance of the institution. (Applause.)

The report was adopted.

The following were elected officers:—President, Mr. John H. Goodlet; vice-presidents, Messrs James R. Love and W. H. Simpson; hon. treasurer, Mr. Fred. Phillips; hon. secretary, Mr. William Rigg; directors (to fill vacancies), Messrs. Robert Chadwick, John Harris, and John Pope. The following were elected to constitute the medical staff:—Hon. consulting physician, Dr. George E. Rennie; hon. consulting surgeon, Dr. Charles P. B. Clubbe; hon. ophthalmic surgeon, Dr. J. C. Halliday; hon. aural surgeon, Dr. John B. Graham; hon. physicians, Dr. Herbert J. Marks, Dr. P. Sydney Jones.

Votes of thanks were passed to the retiring officers, and an examination of the pupils took place. This proved an interesting item on the programme. Mr. Arthur Massey acted as accompanist, and under his direction the blind children sang a number of part songs, one of which was specially composed by Mr. Massey for the occasion.

TRAM LEAVES THE RAILS.

PASSENGERS HAVE TO WALK.

An outward-bound tram car from Sydney to Watson's Bay left the rails at the Gap loop between 12 and 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon. An effort was made to get the cars on the rails again, when it was found that an axle was broken. The disabled car had therefore to be left standing till the arrival of a gang of men with appliances from Sydney. In the meantime, the trams bound to Watson's Bay were unable to proceed further than the Gap loop, as the disabled car was blocking the line, and passengers were subjected to the inconvenience of being compelled to complete the journey from the Gap to the bay on foot. Later on, during the afternoon, a breakdown gang with their appliances, were sent out from town, and they, after a fair amount of trouble, managed to clear the line of the obstruction. It was not till about 4 o'clock, however, that the ordinary trams from the Quay were able to complete their journey to the Watson's Bay terminus.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.

PUGILIST'S RASH ACT.

Snowy Sturgeon, the well-known pugilist, attempted to commit suicide in Palmer-street, Woolloomooloo, shortly after 8 o'clock last night. He was standing on the footpath just opposite Spora's Hotel, when he was noticed to take a small revolver from his pocket, and, after placing the weapon close to his right temple, fire. A number of girls were in the street at the time of the incident, and their screams soon caused a crowd to collect. The injured man, who was bleeding from the wound, was taken to the Sydney Hospital, where it was found that the bullet had not penetrated the skull, but had glanced off and travelled under the skin some little distance. Sturgeon was admitted to the institution, but his condition does not point to his life being in any immediate danger.

ELECTORS WHO VOTED.

A PROGRESS RETURN.

MEN, 231,700; WOMEN, 193,174.

To Mr. F. A. Coghlan, Principal Under-Secretary (Acting), belongs the credit of having laid his plans so well that the electoral machinery set in motion on the 14th instant worked practically without a hitch, and made the polling results available for the information of the public in the quickest time on record. The officer in charge of every polling booth throughout the State had been instructed to wire the totals to Sydney so soon as they were known. A staff of 28 clerks, with Mr. Fotheringham in charge, was sent from the Chief Secretary's Department to the Post Office, to tabulate the polling returns as they came to hand, and at intervals of half-an-hour a bulletin was issued, showing the position in every electorate. The first to send in a return was the officer in charge of the polling booth at Leura. His telegram was lodged at six minutes past 6, and was in the hands of Mr. Coghlan's staff ten minutes later. From that time onward until shortly before midnight telegrams poured in, but the clerks, working in pairs, tabulated them swiftly and accurately, and at the half-hourly intervals were ready with the latest figures, showing the position in each electorate. When work ceased at midnight the whole compilation was complete and accurate, and available for public use. For the subsequent uncertainty as to the result in the Bingara electorate, Mr. Coghlan's staff was not responsible. The returns received by wire were correct, but one of the deputies in the electorate in sending his official record to the returning officer at Bingara transposed two sets of figures, and the error was not discovered until the returning officer made his check count.

Complete and certified returns have now reached the electoral office from the returning officers in 62 electorates. These show 424,874 effective votes to have been cast, of which 231,700 were votes by men, and 193,174 were votes by women. In the same 62 electorates in 1907 the effective votes recorded numbered 346,964, made up of 193,207 votes by men and 153,762 votes by women. Thus there were increases this year of 38,493 male votes and 39,412 female votes in the electorates in question. In the Waverley electorate the women voters outnumbered the men who went to the poll by 786. At St. Leonards women were in the majority by 450, at Middle Harbour their majority was 418, at Gordon 223, at Leichhardt 194, at Annandale 190, at Paddington 170, and at Parramatta 50. The appended return shows the number of men and women who voted in the electorates named:—

EDUCATION OF DEAF MUTES.

QUESTION OF COMPULSORY TRAINING.

There was some straight talk yesterday at the annual meeting of the Institution for the Deaf and Dumb and the Blind on the question of the compulsory education and training of deaf and dumb and blind children.

The directors, in their report, expressed their regret that nothing had been done in this State to bring about the compulsory education of deaf and dumb and blind children. They felt that the time had arrived when steps should be taken to pass a law to compel parents to realise their responsibilities, and to make it possible for children who were deaf or blind to receive such an education and training as would enable them afterwards to earn their own livelihood.

The acting president, Mr. J. R. Love, in speaking on the adoption of the report, said six years ago the late Sir Arthur Renwick prepared a bill to enable this provision to be incorporated in the Education Act, but so far the Government had done nothing in the matter. This was a most important matter for the State, as year by year the deaf mutes and the blind children were increasing as the population increased, and sooner or later action would have to be taken by the Government of the day. Why not now? he asked, before further harm was done. (Applause.)

Sir Philip Sydney Jones said it was a deplorable condition of affairs to find all these children growing up in ignorance. Here was an institution at their doors that had been built up by the philanthropy of the public, and one that had rendered yeoman service in the direction named, but the directors were powerless to compel children to enter the institution, and yet these children were growing up in idleness, ignorance, and may be vice, simply because the Government would not move in the matter. It was not right. (Applause.) So far they had appealed to the various Governments in vain, but they would try again. (Applause.)

Several other gentlemen also referred to the matter.

AUSTRALIAN BAND MUSIC.

A GREAT IMPROVEMENT.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

"There has been such a great improvement since I was out here two years ago, an improvement that was seen in the really first-class playing of some of the bands, that the hard work has been taken off the judging, and I found it pleasurable," said Mr. William Short, the King's Trumpeter, in regard to the work of the bands in the South-street, Ballarat, contests during the week.

Asked whether he would point out defects that had come under his notice, Mr. Short said that one difference was that the euphonium in the best English bands was regarded as one of the finest solo instruments in the band, as important in military bands as the cornet, but in Australian bands it was weak in the tone produced and the style in which it was played. Australian euphonium players had not the fire that the English players possessed. The cornet playing in the contests was splendid, and he had never heard better phrasing and tone. The solo tenor horns had also made cent. per cent. strides. Mr. Short thinks that the middle or inner parts of Australian bands, which were very much in want of improvement two years ago, have increased in expression and tone by leaps and bounds. "They are making music now in producing these essential middle chords," he said. "Some of the bands it was plain have had better training, and that does the trick. People can listen to such bands and will not shrink from them."

THE BEER STRIKE.

A PARTIAL SUCCESS.

BROKEN HILL, Monday.

Although Saturday's beer strike was a failure owing to bad organisation, the publicans brought themselves to see the equity of the beer-drinkers' demands; and at a meeting this afternoon they decided—or a majority did—to reduce the price of beer from 6d to 4d per pint and long glass, and 3d for small glass and medium. This, however, will be for front bars only. In all saloon bars all drinks will be 6d, as before. The new prices come into operation to-morrow. No counter lunches nor extras will in future be supplied to patrons of front bars.

A SHUNTING ACCIDENT.

A shunting accident occurred at the Central Station yard yesterday, but luckily no one was injured. Two trains were being made up on Nos. 3 and 4 roads. At the same time four empty carriages were standing on the crossway near the No. 3 road, waiting for the train to be shunted. When the train on the No. 3 road was being taken out it, through some fault in the interlocking system, got on to the crossway, and crashed into the standing carriages. The bump was a fairly severe one, the two front stationary carriages being severely damaged, whilst the other two carriages were only slightly knocked about. The usual departmental inquiry will be held.

COMMONWEALTH DEFENCE.

LIMBER WAGGONS.

TO BE MADE LOCALLY.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

The Minister for Defence has decided that limber waggons for field guns should be manufactured locally. Senator Pearce says that as the ammunition waggons are now manufactured in Australia, he sees no reason why both should not be made here. He has issued instructions that specifications for waggons be obtained from the War Office, and he hopes that next year a start will be made in Australia with the manufacture of waggons.

MILITARY PENSIONS.

THE GOVERNMENT'S INTENTIONS.

A deputation representing various branches of the Commonwealth military forces waited on the Minister for Defence to-day with reference to the question of military pensions. The deputation said that among members of the service the matter had been receiving attention for some time past, and it had been found that any such scheme which entailed a contribution from the men would involve hardship, since the rates of pay in the Commonwealth service compared somewhat unfavourably with those ruling in civil employment. Senator Pearce, in reply, said that he had recognised that the increased cost of living called for consideration of the adequacy of pay of the permanent forces. He had considered the question of instituting a system of deferred pay, which practically amounted to a pension, except that the men got the money in a lump sum; but he was not committed to anything. There would be a difficulty in getting Parliament to pass a scheme of pensions. A superannuation fund for Public servants generally was now receiving the attention of the Cabinet. Such a fund involved contributions from participants. He would inquire as to whether it would be best to inaugurate a system of pensions, deferred pay, or a superannuation scheme. After inquiry, he would make the necessary recommendation to the Cabinet.

SMALL ARMS FACTORY.

CONTRACT FOR MACHINERY.

EXTENSION OF TIME SOUGHT.

The contractors for machinery for the small arms factory, Messrs. Pratt, Whitney, and Co., were required, by the termination of the tender, to have the plant landed in Sydney by the end of this month. Apparently they will not be able to do this, for they have applied for an extension of time. The Minister for Defence stated to-day that he understood the contractors will charter a steamer in which to bring the machinery. The Department of Home Affairs has informed Senator Pearce that the building, including the power-house, will be ready for occupation by the time the machinery arrives, and in February arrangements will be so far complete as to allow of the making of tests. Probably the actual manufacture of rifles will not be started until May.

WASHED UP ON THE BEACH.

STEAMER'S HATCH FOUND.

The Acting Superintendent of Navigation (Captain Alexander Hacking) received a telegram yesterday from Pilot Mott, at the Manning River, who reports having found, on the beach at South-west Rocks, the hatch of a steamer 7ft 9in by 2ft, built of oregon pine, and painted red. It was branded No. 13 in large white letters. There was also a cut in the hatch LXIII, which it is thought meant starboard No. 13. It had apparently not been long in the water, and was evidently from a large vessel.

POST-OFFICE EMPLOYEE'S DEATH.

Wm. Vaughan, 39, a post-office employee, died at Sydney Hospital yesterday under circumstances which the police deemed fit to report to the City Coroner. Deceased resided with his mother at 360 Crown-street, Surry Hills. About 9 o'clock on Sunday evening his sister found him lying in an unconscious condition at the bottom of the bath. Dr. Windeyer was sent for, and treated Vaughan up till midnight, without result. He was then removed to Sydney Hospital, where he was admitted by Dr. M'Lean, but died shortly after, without recovering consciousness. It is thought that death was due to cerebral hemorrhage.

RAILWAY PICNICS.

The Premier (Mr. M'Gowen), accompanied by Mr. Edden (Minister for Mines) and Alderman Holden, paid a surprise visit to Correy's Gardens, Cabarita, yesterday, on the occasion of the annual picnic of employees of the locomotive mechanical branch of the Eveleigh workshops. About 3000 persons attended the picnic, which was favoured with fine weather. There was no banquet, and consequently no opportunity for speech-making was afforded. The Premier and his friends journeyed to the pleasure resort in one of the Government launches, and after exchanging greetings with several of his old friends, with whom he was associated as a fellow-worker in past years, Mr. M'Gowen returned to the city.

Sports, dancing, and other amusements were engaged in during the day. Mr. R. Humphries was president, and Mr. J. Thomson hon. secretary of the picnic committee.

CHARGE OF RECEIVING.

At the Water Police Court on Friday Richard Archibald Hyne, 44, a member of the firm of Hyne and Hyne, dealers, Kendall-lane, city, was charged with receiving 6060lb of wool and 17 woolsacks, the property of Alfred Charles Van Rompaey and others, trading as Ostermeyer, Dewez, and Rompaey, on or about March 19 last, well knowing the same to have been stolen. The accused, who reserved his defence, was committed for trial.

LOCAL OPTION.

THE N.S.W. ALLIANCE.

STATEMENT BY ARCHDEACON BOYCE.

AGGRESSIVE WORK TO BE RENEWED.

The N.S.W. Alliance State council met yesterday.

Archdeacon Boyce, who presided, made the following statement:—"It is said that we have had a set-back; but as we have never won an electorate for no-license, I cannot see where the set-back comes in. We have not done what was hoped, but we have captured 50 or 60 license through reduction; so outposts have been won, and the liquor party has failed to hold its positions. Is an army securing an advance defeated? Is it driven back?

"But the main point of triumph is in the aggregate vote in the whole State for no-license. In the first poll it was 178,792. Is it reduced? Is there a set-back? Decidedly no. All returns are not in, but in 58 electorates in which they are complete they total for no-license 143,657 votes. If the remaining 32 electorates give the same average, there will be, I estimate, an increase of over 42,000 votes. I claim that this shows no set-back, but a remarkable advance. The other side has captured a host of people who formerly voted for reduction, but their votes were counted against no-license.

"This great addition to our aggregate should heartily encourage the friends of no-license throughout the State. The temperance conflict has always been an uphill one, and it has been rare indeed, especially considering the activity and power of the forces against us in the recent fight, that an event has shown such evident progress. The cause occupies a great position in this State, and was never so strong as to-day. It will go on conquering and to conquer."

The financial statement was considered satisfactory, and it was agreed that the branches of the Alliance throughout the State be urged to keep the machinery of the movement intact, with a view of an early renewal of aggressive work, and the launching of a financial scheme for the "advance to victory fund."

A proposed new platform was submitted to the meeting, and discussed, but in view of the important developments it contained, a postponement was made till another State council, in order that opportunity might be given each member of the State council to carefully consider the proposed amendments before voting.

It was resolved,—"That the council, recognising the statesmanlike leadership of the president, Archdeacon Boyce, during the conduct of the second local option poll campaign, assures him of its unswerving loyalty, and prays that he may be spared to see, in the overthrow of the drink trade in New South Wales, the accomplishment of those ends to which so large a portion of his life and strength have been consecrated."

It was resolved to take counsel's opinion in regard to the publication in the Rous electorate of a letter purporting to have been issued by the Alliance.

FIRE AT NEWTOWN.

An outbreak of fire occurred at a butcher's shop occupied by Mr. Robert Jackson and family, at 601 King-street, Newtown, yesterday morning. John Hogan, Charles Belmore, and several other young men were passing the premises shortly after 2 o'clock when they noticed flames and smoke issuing from an upstairs back room. The inmates were immediately roused, and were able to escape in their night attire before the fire spread. In the meantime the fire brigade was communicated with, and Newtown, George-street West, St. Peters, and headquarters were soon in attendance, and succeeded in extinguishing the flames, but not before both floors and contents were severely damaged. The contents were insured.

CHARGE OF MURDER.

ACCUSED FOUND INSANE.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

In the Criminal Court to-day Demetrius William Morfessie was charged with the wilful murder of his wife at Kilmore, on July 26 last. Mr. Maxwell, who appeared for the accused, submitted that Morfessie was not fit to plead, being insane. The Crown Prosecutor said that it would be necessary to empanel a jury to try the issue as to whether accused was sane or insane.

After the jury had been empanelled, Dr. O'Brien, principal Government Medical Officer Dr. Jones, Inspector-General for Insane, and Dr. Beattie Smith, gave evidence that accused was sane and fit to plead. Dr. Gamble, Government Medical Officer at the Hospital for Insane, Kew, and Dr. Semple, of Kilmore, thought that Morfessie was insane. The jury found that accused was not mentally fit to plead.

The Chief Justice ordered that he be detained during the Governor's pleasure.

THE LABOUR MINISTRY.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—May I crave space in your paper to offer a few remarks concerning the new Labour Ministry? There appears to be some strange omissions, and I, with many hundreds of others, am anxious to know the why and wherefor. Why has Mr. Minahan been left out? He is head of the movement in New South Wales, and if he is fit to fill the position as leader of the Labour movement in this State he is certainly fit to fill the position of Minister for Works. That compliment should have been paid to the movement. As a business man he is well fitted for the head of a department. Then, why is "Andy" Kelly left out, also Messrs. Miller, Stuart-Robertson, and P. Meagher? Has there been some queer work? Where are the Roman Catholics in the Ministry, and why were they pushed on one side? The Catholic vote is solidly democratic in this country, and was given to the Labour party. It put them into power, and now how are we repaid? This vote can just as easily be taken away. There can rise a power against this scheming, a power that can wreck a party or return a party. Where are the industrialists in the Ministry? They, too, like Catholics, are absent. In this Ministry we find one trade-unionist, viz., Mr. Macdonell; only one. But, Sir, what we do find is a Government composed of entirely middle-class men, too many of whom now are in the party. Mr. Griffith, as Minister for Works, will prove a failure. Mr. Beeby will prove a failure also in the Department of Labour. This first Labour Government wants to understand early in its life that it cannot serve God and Mammon. Good and faithful workers have been overlooked for new-comers and opponents of the workers. We are watching and waiting as democrats and workers, and we can turn the tide. I, as a militant trades-unionist, have had my eyes opened, and regret what has taken place, and am now waiting to see what favours this Government will give us in return for the votes referred to.

I am, etc.,

BELMORE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—The scandalous action of the Labour party in leaving a man of Mr. Dacey's standing in the public life of the State out of the Ministry is a bad beginning, and seems to indicate what will happen when fresh appointments are made to the Legislative Council. Are the balance of the Daceys, who have laboured hard and loyally in the movement for the past 20 years, to be parsed over for men who have only come into it for what they can make out of it? It looks like it. It would appear that men who have helped to make the movement what it is to-day have to give place to men who have either done all they could to injure the cause of Labour in politics in the past, and have only joined the party to suit their own personal ends, or men whom no one in the movement ever heard of until they stood for Parliamentary honours. Old hands like myself feel keen on this matter, because coming events have a habit of casting their shadows before, and I have no stomach for work which gives all the profit to the other fellow. No old hand can look at some of our Labour members without feeling resentful at having such men for leaders. When did the land owners become such an important factor in Labour politics as to warrant the sacrifice of a man like Mr. Dacey? Have we to speak of the farmers with bated breath? Are they to get whatever they want, and be allowed to do what they like without question? This smoodging to land owners won't go down with the landless workers. Any fool can see there is nothing in common between the worker and the "cocky," who wants men to toil all the hours that God sends for next to nothing. The farmers' platform is to get land from the State for nothing, and get the country flooded with cheap labour. Every sane farmer votes that ticket.

While truckling Labour members dare not countenance the farmers' demand for cheap labour, they can give the land away for next to nothing, and then build railways to increase its value. I would suggest that next Labour Conference frames a new plank for the benefit of these pampered land owners, to the effect that labourites shall doff their hats whenever they meet a farmer, and that any Labourite found guilty of speaking disrespectfully of land-owners shall be expelled from the movement.

I am, etc.,

"AN OLD LABOURITE."

SALVATORE CIAMPA FROM LONDON.

ROUGH WEATHER ON AUSTRALIAN COAST.

The Italian ship Salvatore Ciampa, 140 days out from London, entered the Heads and anchored in Watson's Bay at 8 o'clock last night. The captain reports that he had a fine weather passage till off the Australian coast. Coming through Bass Straits he ran into strong southerly gales and high seas, which continued right up till his arrival. The South Head light was signalled on Saturday night, but the wind and sea were too heavy to allow of the port being made. The vessel was accordingly hove off the land, where she remained all Saturday night, Sunday, and part of Monday morning. A favourable wind, however, sprang up on Monday, and the vessel was able to make the port, although a fairly heavy sea was running outside. Throughout all the heavy weather the vessel behaved admirably, no damage of any description being reported.

CARGO BY R.M.S. ZEALANDIA.

The American Royal mail steamer Zealandia, which sailed yesterday for Vancouver, via ports, took the following principal lines of cargo:—717 bags rice, 740 sacks ammonia, 750 carcases mutton, 185 cases meats, 728 pieces timber, 1321 bags skins, 75 boxes butter, 117 packages biscuits, 491 bales wool, 50 crates rabbits, and 145 ingots tin.

CHANGSHA FROM HONGKONG.

The China Navigation Company's steamer Changsha, from Hongkong, had a fine weather passage until Sunday. The vessel then encountered the strong south to south-easterly gale and heavy sea. In addition to the passengers whose names are published, there were 11 belonging to the Lilliputian Opera Company returning to Melbourne from a tour, which included a season at Manila. The vessel berthed at Flood's wharf.

THREE WEEKS ADRIFT.

STRATHCLYDE'S RUDDER BREAKS.

AUCKLAND, Monday.

The steamer Strathclyde, 4417 tons, Captain Watt, from Newcastle to South America, arrived at Lyttelton yesterday, having been adrift for three weeks with a broken rudder. She crawled to New Zealand with the aid of a jury rudder.

SIGNALLING AT SEA.

In order to assist officers and men of the mercantile marine to become expert in signalling at sea, the Admiralty propose to appoint naval instructors in signalling at such ports as London, Liverpool, and Glasgow. The idea is, apparently, that officers and seamen should, whilst in port, be able to obtain lessons in signalling from a naval signalling officer. Shipowners have been asked to assist in any way they can by granting facilities to the instructor.

ESSEX FOR LONDON.

The F.H.S. steamship Essex, leaving Sydney to-day for London, Liverpool, and Avonmouth, via ports, will take the following passengers:—Mr. George Hay, Mr. Bayley, Mrs. Bayley, Mr. Thos. Roche, Mr. M. Baynes, Mr. E. J. Coxeter, Mr. E. Whittenbury, Mr. D. Green, Mr. Green, Mr. D. Jenkins, Mr. C. T. Watkins.

SINGLE-BERTH THIRD-CLASS CABINS.

When the mail left London Messrs. Harland and Wolff, of Belfast, had launched the twin-screw Australian liner Themistocles, the first of two 11,500-ton vessels which they are building for the Aberdeen White Star Line (Messrs. George Thompson and Co.). The new vessel, which is 516 feet long, has duplicate sets of reciprocating engines. The Demosthenes, which is practically a sister ship to the Themistocles, will have combination engines. The vessels are expected to make the run to Melbourne in about 40 days. An interesting point in regard to these two Australian liners is that each has a number of single-berth third-class cabins. For these the owners have decided that the fare to Sydney or Melbourne shall be £25. The Themistocles will sail on her maiden voyage on February 15 next.

MORE WIRELESS.

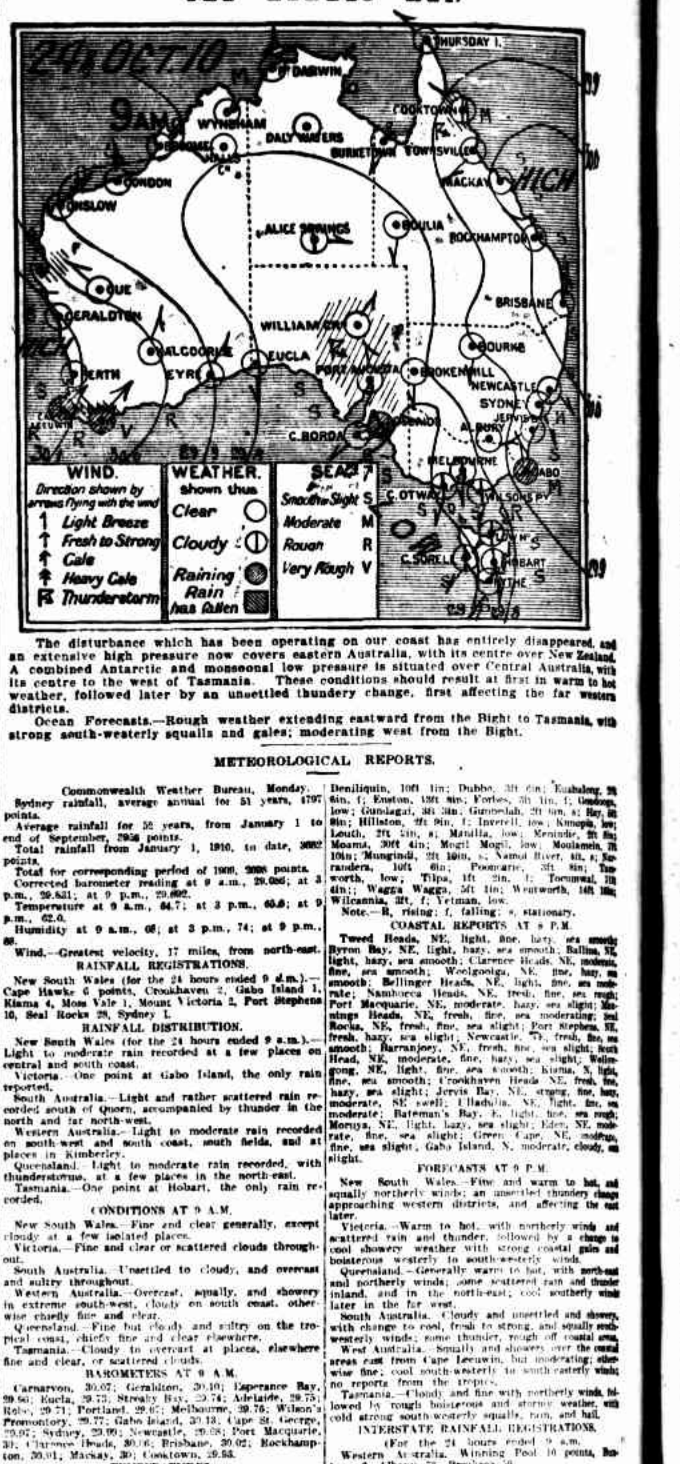
In the early hours of Monday morning the wireless operator of the Orient Royal mail steamer Orontes, now lying at Circular Quay, communicated by means of the Marconi wireless with the R.M.S. Orsova, of the same line, which was then about 100 miles from Melbourne, where she arrived on Monday. The Orsova is the fourth Orient liner which has been equipped with a Marconi installation. The distance of communication was about 500 miles, and it is interesting to note that the conversation took place over the shore range mountains. H.M.S. Prometheus, now at Melbourne, and the P. and O. liner Malwa, which left here on Saturday, were also spoken. The Vancouver mail steamer Zealandia, which has a Marconi installation, was heard in communication with the above-mentioned vessels.

TRAINING SHIPS FOR SYDNEY.

The training ship Mersey, which is 87 days out from Liverpool, and the Medway and Port Jackson (also training ships), from London, August 6 and September 6, are to load wool at Sydney. The Norddeutscher Lloyd schools for officers of the company's fleet—the four-masted barques Herzogin Cecilie and Herzogin Sophie Charlotte are coming to Sydney for wheat loading. They are from Honolulu and San Francisco respectively.

AUSTRALIAN WEATHER.

THE "HERALD" MAP.



The disturbance which has been operating on our coast has entirely disappeared, and an extensive high pressure now covers eastern Australia, with its centre over New Zealand. A combined Antarctic and monsoonal low pressure is situated over Central Australia, with its centre to the west of Tasmania. These conditions should result in first warm to hot weather, followed later by an unsettled thundery change, first affecting the far western districts.

Ocean Forecasts.—Rough weather extending eastward from the Bight to Tasmania, with strong south-westerly squalls and gales; moderating west from the Bight.

FINANCIAL.

NORTHERN TERRITORY DEFICIT.

What will ultimately become of the Northern Territory no one at the moment can say. Meanwhile some figures as to its finances are of interest. In 1909-10 the ordinary expenditure of the Territory amounted to £65,101. Adding to this £4,521 for interest on overdraft account, £94,668 for interest on bonds, stock, and Treasury bills, and £6216 for contribution towards redemption of public debt, we have a total of £210,666 on the side of outlay. The year's revenue aggregated only £47,065, so that the deficit for the 12 months was £163,601. Accrued deficiencies covered by South Australian advances to the amount of £779,724 are carried forward in the accounts from the previous year. During the 12 months South Australia also found the money to pay off £572,800 worth of Treasury bills issued on Northern Territory account; and these two sums added to the deficit of 1909-10 make the total balance due to South Australia on June 30 last £1,516,125. Assuming that the proposed transfer of the Territory to the Commonwealth is not completed nothing is more certain than that there must be another Territory loan in order to repay to the South Australian loan fund the million and a half sterling due on the overdrawn account. All the money advanced to the Territory was borrowed by South Australia for other purposes, and the depleted loan fund will be bound to feel the strain if the construction of loan undertakings is vigorously proceeded with. The total liability of South Australia on Territory account on June 30 last was £3,666,098, made up of loans on general account, £945,991; loans on railway account, 1,202,962; and advances on current account, £1,516,215. This is exclusive of the Port Augusta and Port Darwin telegraph, the cost of which was taken into the finances of South Australia proper.

COMMERCIAL.

THE MARKETS.

FLOUR DOWN, WHITELEAD UP.

The listlessness in the wheat market continues, and flour was yesterday reduced to £9 per ton by the Metropolitan Flour Millers' Association. In general business a very quiet time is being experienced, buyers being very cautious owing to the high prices ruling for most lines. Cornsacks were quoted at 4/5½, but no sales were reported, sellers seemingly having decided to hold on to their stocks. Woolpacks were quiet at unchanged rates, and bran bags were quoted at 3/5½. As in cornsacks, no business was reported.

A cable message was received yesterday morning announcing a further advance in the price of Champion's whitelead of 10/ a ton. The Sydney quotations has not yet risen, though it is very firm at £30 per ton in cwts. Fergusson's is still quoted at £28/10/. Blundell and Spence's linseed oils, raw and boiled, are unchanged at 5/1 and 5/3 per gallon; castor oil remains at 3/9 per gallon for distributing lots; Pratt's turpentine is quoted at 5/, but it is expected that an advance will take place, and all other oil lines are firm, but without quotable alteration in price.

The Eastern produce market continues firm as a whole; linseed, in distributing lots, is worth 23/ to 23/6 for cwts, while parcels are quoted at £21 per ton. Canary seed is now quoted at 16/ to 16/6; moderate business is being done in rice, sago, tapioca, and similar goods at unchanged rates, and oatmeals are very dull of sale. The price is, however, still steady, as the market outside for oats is strong. There is a good inquiry for coffees, and indications are that the world's markets will be still better, owing to the reduction in the Brazilian output. Spices generally are steady.

The largest shipment of potatoes for the season from the northern rivers arrived yesterday, and the best among them sold up to £10/10/ per ton. Maize was quiet, chaff was the same; onions were irregular, and dairy produce was unchanged.

POSITION OF CANNED FISH.

It has been known for a couple of months that the pack of salmon this season was short of that of last, and below the average, and that prices were therefore certain to rise. The "Produce Markets Review" gives the following particulars of the position as it stood at the middle of September:—"The British Columbian pack was short of expectations by no less than 206,500 cases, and when it was found that the Alaska pack was also short by about 500,000 cases, and that shipments to the United Kingdom alone would be 200,000 cases less than usual, there was an immediate demand for a greater quantity than was available, notwithstanding the fact that Alaska packers were asking 1/ to 1/6 per case more than was expected. The position of all grades is very strong, as the demand, particularly in the United States, has been gradually overtaking the supply, and it was only to keep their regular brands before buyers here that Alaska packers shipped to the United Kingdom, as the American demand was sufficient to take every case.

"The French sardine fishery has continued without interruption, but most of the fish caught are of unsuitable sizes, and the net result must be very small. No improvement is reported from either Spain or Portugal, for the fish are running very large, and it is reported that some factories have been closed for over a month owing to the scarcity of suitable sardines. The scarcity of choice reliable lobsters becomes more pronounced week by week, and, as shipments coming forward are considerably less than usual, quotations are steadily advancing."

CUSTOMS ORDERS.

Decisions previously published that picture post-cards are in certain circumstances free of duty do not apply to photographs of Australian subjects, which are dutiable at 30 per cent. under the general and 25 per cent. under the imperial preference tariff. Pictures so closely resembling photographs as to render the distinction difficult. These are to be charged with the same rate as imitations (i.e., if of Australian subjects). Knife lanyards have been added to the list of items to be admitted free as "accoutrements."

The amount of wool manifested to arrive at Darling Harbour yesterday totalled 7683 bales.

BREADSTUFFS.

MARKET WEAK.

The only change in the wheat market is a reduction of quotations by shippers, the publication of the news that the cargo of the Celtic King has been sold in London at 36/ a quarter having confirmed the fears of weakness in that market. It was difficult to get a quotation even at 3/8½ for parcels, and some shippers placed their limit at 3/8. One or two millers were, however, quoting 3/9, but there were no sellers. The Millers' Association met during the day, and decided to reduce the convention price of flour from £9/10/ per ton to £9 per ton for town brands, and £8/17/6 for country.

At Darling Harbour yesterday 440 tons of wheat and 117 tons of flour were manifested to arrive.

INTERSTATE MARKETS.

ADELAIDE, Monday.

The wheat market opened dull to-day, with quotations for farmers' lots general at 3/7. The position was weak, and it was felt that any disposition to rush the market would result in further weakness. Parcel business was stagnant, and values were nominal at 3/8½. Flour continued dull. Bran and pollard were firm. Algerian oats were quiet at 1/11½ to 2/.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

Fair business was done in wheat at 3/9 to 3/9½, but the latter price is not very readily obtainable. Flour was quiet at £9/5/, and bran and pollard at £4/10/. Algerian oats were firmer, with little offering. Business was done in good milling at 2/1 and in good feed at 2/. Medium feed was quoted at 1/11. Maize was firmer. The steamer Wyrallah took 3027 bags direct from Gippsland for Sydney instead of for Melbourne. Prime flat red had moderate business at 2/4 to 2/4½. Chaff was quiet; oaten at 45/ to 57/6, wheaten at 55/ to 67/6. Potatoes were weaker, the demand being affected by the hot weather. Prime sold up to £7. Onions were in larger supply, 20 trucks arriving on Saturday and Monday by special. The demand almost ceased. Sales were £5/15/ to £6 ex railway, and £7 f.o.b. was quoted for picked-over lots. Butter was easier, Western being reduced to /11. Business in tea includes about 200 packages of Ceylon up to 1/. Cornsacks were steadier at 4/8½ to 4/9. Branbags were steadier at 3/5, and woolpacks at 2/3. Fair business was done in cement. Tinplates are in fair inquiry.

PRODUCE MARKETS.

TRADE IN SUSSEX-STREET.

POTATOES MAKE SPLENDID SALES.

NEW BRING TEN GUINEAS.

Most of the chaff salesmen did not consider that the recent rains would cause the market to remain long in a dull state. Their remark was "I believe chaff will sell better shortly." They held the opinion that the rain was too light to do much good, and was too late for much benefit, especially in the coastal districts. Another moderate shipment was expected on Tuesday. Potatoes had a splendid sale. As much as £10/10/ per ton was paid for the best Clarence Rivers. Quite 120 bags of these came to market, this being the largest quantity yet to arrive. The shipper who secured top price took precaution to grade his brand before forwarding it to market. The price was paid readily. The weekly supply of old Circulars from Tasmania arrived. There were 1800 bags for Sydney agents. This was larger than last week's quantity. For the best of them £9 was charged. The onion market was completely four out. The scare at the close of last week still existed among one or two holders. Some would not sell. Others wanted a big price, whilst a few wanted to get rid of last week's at a high rate. The value was uncertain. About 38 cases of Silverskin onions sold at £10/10/. They were the first of the season from Melbourne, and were of a nice size. Further consignments were expected to-day. Maize was quiet. White grain was well inquired for by millers. Good sound grain readily changed hands at 2/7. It was difficult to secure. Yellow sold at 2/5 to 2/6½ mostly. This was because a better quality was unobtainable. Top price at rail was 2/6½, but quality was the reason of it. Prime yellow was worth 2/7. Oats were very firm. Lucerne from the Hunter River did not do much business. Peas and barley were slow of sale. Bran and pollard were steady.

DAIRY PRODUCE.

BUTTER QUIET, BACON FIRM.

EGGS SLOW, CHEESE DULL.

The recent heavy rains give promise to a large increase in the deliveries of butter. The market was quiet. Seconds were opening up in good condition, and grocers were in some instances buying them instead of firsts. Large surplus stocks were on hand. The bacon market was firm for sides at /8½. Imported cheese found quiet attention because it was cheap. Local makes were lightly held and slow of sale. The egg market was slow, with heavy supplies offering. The values of hen eggs did not change. Duck eggs were quoted very easy. All kinds were dragging. Lard found good attention.

Current quotations were:—

Butter.—First grade 102/, medium to good 98/ to 100/, seconds 94/ to 95/, pastry from 80/ per cwt.

Cheese.—Prime and large /6 to /6½; special /7 to /7½ per lb.

Beeswax.—Prime clear, 1/1 to 1/3; dark, 1/ to 1/1 per lb.

FIREWOOD.

Through the rains on Friday and Saturday wood cutters were unable to draw their usual supply, consequently only six truckloads put in an appearance at the sales. Four arrived at Alexandria, and two at Darling Harbour, whilst none came to Newtown. Through the short supply values were naturally dear. The following prices were realised:—

Box, boxwood, 15/ to 16/, good 14/ to 14/6; ironbark and stringy, 11/ to 15/6, best bakers' wood, 15/, good 11/6 to 14/ per ton.

AUCTION SALES.

THE RAILWAY MARKET.

CHAFF UP. DECLINE IN LUCERNE AND POTATOES.

The extra large supply of locally-grown potatoes at the railway market on Monday brought the price down another 5/ per ton. Prime redskins sold at from 6/10 to 7/1, and good at from 6/ to 6/6, while prime whiteskins moved at from 6/4 to 6/10, and good at from 5/6 to 6/1. Chaff rose a corresponding amount, choice quality realising 4/6, prime from 3/8 to 4/3, and good 3/4. Lucerne hay was in very little request, prime small bales bringing 3/6, while choice large bales were disposed of at 4/, and good at 3/2, a total decline approximately of 6/8 per ton being shown. Prime dry yellow maize at 2/6½ rose ½ per bushel, and inferior old white changed hands at 2/8.

YESTERDAY'S SALES.

SHEEP.

MODERATE SUPPLIES. GOOD DEMAND.

Out of 44,946 sheep (including lambs) balloted for sale, from 100 consignors, 44,605 head were penned. Upwards of twenty drafts ranged from 700 to 2070 head, the balance of the consignments being mainly in lots of 90 to 300 head. The sheep comprised a larger proportion of shorn than woolly, with ewes strongly in evidence. Good, useful quality merinos formed the bulk of the supply, with a fair representation of prime and odd pens of extra prime, woolly merino wethers selling to 20/4. Medium and light were moderately in evidence. Crossbreds were not too plentiful. There were occasional pens of both woolly and shorn, ranging from useful hoggets to odd pens of extra prime wethers that sold at 21/3. The shorn ranged from quarter and half wools to recently off shears and machines. There was the usual attendance of buyers, including exporters and the Sydney Meat Preserving Company, Ltd. All sections operated freely, and as the supply was within requirements the market opened at last Thursday's closing rates, but speedily firmed to late improved rates, with a tendency in sellers' favour for prime shorn wethers. LAMBS.

About 3200 lambs were penned. The supply comprised a larger proportion of suckers than lambs and hoggets, both crossbred and merino. Good useful quality were well represented, with a sprinkling of prime; medium and light being moderately in evidence. The market opened to dull competition; the demand was slack, especially for lambs and hoggets, and values were 6d to 1s per head lower. As the sales progressed, the tone improved, especially for prime suckers, which reached previous levels. Quotations: Prime suckers and woolly lambs 10/ to 11/6, extra prime suckers 12/6 to 14/, good suckers and lambs 7/ to 8/6, medium, young, and light 4/ to 5/6.

CATTLE.

HEAVY SUPPLIES—LOWER VALUES.

Upwards of 1862 cattle were listed for sale, and 1790 head were yarded. The consignments included three drafts from Queensland, aggregating 280 head. Those from this State came principally from the northern and north-western districts, with one draft of 120 head from the west. The yardings comprised all descriptions, and included a large proportion of useful quality handy weight bullocks and steers, with a capital representation of good quality cows and heifers. There was a very fair showing of prime light and medium-weight bullocks and steers, as well as a sprinkling of prime weighty bullocks; also a fair proportion of prime cows and heifers. There was a moderate attendance of buyers, and the supply was an ample one on top of last Thursday's heavy yarding. The market opened to slack competition at 5/ to 10/ per head below last Thursday's reduced rates. There was a further weakening as sales progressed, especially on prime heavy bullocks, with 15/ to 20/ per head below previous rulings. Quotations: Yards of prime medium-weight bullocks £8/5/ to £9/15/, yards of prime heavy bullocks £9 to £9/5/, yards of prime light bullocks and steers £7 to £7/15/, yards of good bullocks and steers £5 to £6, yards of medium and light steers £3/5/ to £4/3/; yards of prime cows and heifers £5 to £5/10/, yards of extra prime cows and heifers £6 to £6/15/, yards of good cows and heifers £4 to £4/10/, yards of medium and light £2/4/ to £3/5/. The improved tone of the market last week was strongly in evidence at the resumption of operations yesterday, fine wools especially meeting with very keen competition. Crossbreds again sold well, and show an appreciation of ½d to 1d per lb above the level of a fortnight ago. There was only a fair demand for scoureds. These remarks refer to the sale of the Australian Mortgage, Land, and Finance Company, Limited, and Pitt, Son, and Badgery, Limited.

The Co-operative Wool and Produce offered at auction 4340 bales of wool, comprising a good assortment, although burr was still greatly in evidence. Last week's rates were fully maintained, with competition very keen on all good, free lines, particularly crossbred. The highest price obtained by them in the grease was 13½, for 13 bales AAA w wool, from the Binnia clip, belonging to Mr. J. M'Master, Binnia Downs, via Gunnedah. This wool was of beautiful quality, well grown, and in nice condition. In the scoured they sold 10 bales A1 h, 9 A1 w, and 16 A1 e of the AS/Alma clip at /22, that being the top price obtained by them for the day. This wool comes from Maxwelton, North Queensland, belonging to Mr. Arthur Bulman, and was well scoured and of nice length and quality. TO-DAY'S WOOL SALES.

At the sales to be held in the Sydney Wool Exchange this afternoon Dalgety and Company, Limited, will offer a catalogue of 6000 bales, commencing at 3 o'clock prompt.—Advt.

MELBOURNE.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

The wool sales were resumed to-day, when Dalgety and Co., Ltd., and Younghusband, Row, and Co. Propy., Ltd., submitted catalogues totalling some 6000 bales. Although the selection embraced a wide range, wools from the Hay, Deniliquin, and Corowa districts, and Western Australia and the northern parts of Victoria, comprised the bulk of the offerings. The best features of the market were again in evidence. Fine-haired merinos, together with comebacks and crossbreds, elicited the keenest competition, at values which represent the highest parity of the series, the tendency throughout being towards higher prices. In the greasy section top price for the day, and a record for the season to date, was 14. This was made by Lalbert Park JH (comeback). It must be added, however, that the price referred to was more in the nature of cold-water washed wool.

Dalgety and Co. report that they offered a representative catalogue of over 4000 bales. Prices were:—Murray Downs, merino, from Swan Hill, 1/ for fleece and 11½ for necks; Hay in block, from Mulwala, N.S.W., comeback, 1/3½; M'Crae Bros., Werai, Deniliquin, merino, 1/0½; John Hollands, Lalbert Park, from Quambatook, Wimmera district of Victoria, comeback, 1/2.

MINING.

COPPER AND SILVER EASY. BULLFINCHES ACTIVE.

The position of affairs yesterday morning was easy to analyse. Copper and silver shares were rather easy; tin shares were decidedly in the background; whilst the Bullfinch group of gold propositions was very much in evidence, in consequence of the market boom in those stocks both in Adelaide and Melbourne.

Without a plan showing the situation of the various option leases to the Bullfinch mine, where the original gold discovery was made, also without any information of a reliable character as to whether or not there is any prospect of the leases being on a continuation of the Bullfinch lode, shares were freely dealt in. As a matter of fact, there is, according to the mining representative of the Southern Cross newspaper, considerable difficulty in tracing the lode, for the reason that the country is flat, the reef does not outcrop, and the surface generally consists of several feet of alluvium, which has to be costeened some depth, in order to pick up the reef. It will doubtless be some time before a Government survey plan is published showing the position of the various leases embraced in the 30 miles of country pegged out on the strength of the Bullfinch discovery.

That the tone of the market for silver shares was easy is shown by the fact that the transactions recorded in the leading Broken Hill stocks were within a fraction of last week's closing rates. In the copper section Mount Elliotts made a further advance; Kyloe Copper pref. and Queen Bee were unchanged; but Tolwong Mineral was a shade easier. Though buyers did not make vigorous calls for other copper shares, sellers would not mark down prices, and this was the cause of the limited amount of business recorded.

Outside the Bullfinch group, gold shares did not command much attention; whilst tin shares were also exceedingly quiet, with Tongkah Harbour Tin still holding firm.

The attention of the market during the afternoon was again largely occupied with the Bullfinch boom. The speculative fever appears to have struck Adelaide very severely, and the infection has extended to Melbourne, Broken Hill, and this city.

MINING NOTES.

The Stannum Tin-dredging Company has ceased work, owing to the water supply being finished.

The Kulamadau Company (Woodlark Island) reports a crushing of 720 tons, for gold valued at £2500. The profit was £1180.

The Broken Hill Block 14 Company has declared a dividend of 1/ per share on all shares, and interest on preference shares, payable on November 23. The transfer books close on November 9.

Last week the Cope's Creek dredge worked 49½ hours, principally working one shift, finally cleaning up the paddock for a yield of 3 tons of tin ore. Now preparing for shifting barge to new site early next week. A parcel of 5 tons 6cwt 3qr 22lb of dressed tin ore was sent away on Tuesday morning.

The manager of the Black Range West Company telegraphed yesterday:—South drive from crosscut advanced to a total distance of 65ft. No material change. There is a little quartz between the walls of an average value of 7s per ton. No work has been done in the winze, as we are waiting for the arrival of the pump."

It is stated that a local syndicate has secured an option over a 24-acre block in close proximity to the Bullfinch mine. A new company is to be formed, the prospectus of which is now in course of preparation, and will be issued within the next 48 hours. A block of contributing shares were applied for yesterday. It is stated that Mr. Hamilton, of the Great Boulder mine, has made a report on the 24-acre block in question.

KYLOE COPPER MINE.

LODE CUT AT 500 FEET.

The following is a copy of a telegram received yesterday from the general manager of the Kyloe Copper mine:—"Have struck the lode at 500ft level, width 2ft 6in, estimated value 11 per cent."

THE BODANGORA GOLD MINES.

DICK'S REWARD REVIVED.

On the death some years ago in Scotland of the late Mr. R. T. Dick, who owned and worked the mine known as Dick's Reward, at Bodangora, near Wellington, the trustees of the deceased gentleman's estate closed down the mine, and it has remained idle up to the present time. The mine, together with an adjoining mine and battery plant, were ultimately purchased by the Mitchell's Creek Gold Recovery Company, which has been some time in the profitable extraction, by means of cyanide, of the gold contents of a huge heap of tailings resulting from the crushing of quartz from the lodes in the Mitchell's Creek and Dick's Reward mines.

The Mitchell's Creek Gold Recovery Company are now the vendors of the Dick's Reward mine, which is being floated into a public company, under the title of the Bodangora Gold Mines, No Liability. The company is being constituted in 2500 shares of £1 each, 12,500 fully paid up to be issued to the vendors as part payment for their interest in the property, together with £2500, of which £2000 are to be paid out of the first application and allotment money, the balance of £1500 to be paid in instalments of £500 each. It is stated that the £2500 is to purchase machinery bought by the vendors for the purpose of working Dick's Reef, and to repay the cost of unwatering and examination of the mine, together with purchase of option and lease rents.

The mine has been thoroughly sampled, and reported upon by Messrs. Savage and Ashcroft, mining engineers, whose report and assay plan show that, on a conservative estimate, there are 6000 tons of payable stone left standing above the 500ft level, while the reef has been opened on the bottom levels for 1060ft in length, the whole of which is of payable size and value. It is practically certain that payable stone will be found to exceed these measurements. With such a great and continuous length of stone there is every probability of its extension in depth, which is to some extent confirmed by the fact that the adjoining Mitchell's Creek mine was worked down to 1200ft. Though not a large or very rich ore, there is every reason to expect that with competent management this reef will yield profitable returns for a long time to come.

Mr. T. W. Horton, mining engineer, visited the property at the request of the vendors, and confirmed the report of the sampling done by Messrs. Savage and Ashcroft. In order to reduce the amount to be called up on the contributing shares, it has been decided to defer the erection of aerial tram and installation of air drills until the mine has reached the productive stage, so that the immediate expenditure of £8750 shown as required in Messrs. Savage and Ashcroft's report will be reduced to about £7000, which it is anticipated will be sufficient to equip the mine and place it in a condition for active production. This amount of £7000 includes the sum of £3500 cash consideration to be paid to vendors as previously mentioned.

BROKEN HILL MINES.

BROKEN HILL, Monday.

Good results continue to attend the opening up of the B. H. South Extended Mine at the 930ft level. Rich ore is showing in both the north and south drives off the crosscut. The ore is rich, both in lead and zinc. The body appears to be making direct towards the Silver City Blocks, where high-grade ore is still in the north drive.

BLOCK 14 DIVIDEND.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

The Broken Hill Proprietary Block 14 Company, Ltd., has declared a dividend of 1/ per share on the ordinary shares, and a dividend of 1/ per share on the preference shares, together with 10 per cent. interest, for the half-year to September 30 last, on the preference shares, payable on November 23. Transfer books close November 9.

VICTORIAN SPORTING NOTES.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

The final forfeits for the Melbourne Cup are due before 4 o'clock to-morrow afternoon. There were 14 scratchings for the race to-day, leaving 62 still in. There is every likelihood of a big field contesting the race this year. Trafalgar continues the most talked of horse for the race, Comedy King, Tanami, Flavinius, Britain, and Malouree being next fancied.

Blue Gem, who is in the Melbourne Cup and Derby, is considered an unlikely starter for both events. She may run in the Maiden Plate and Oaks.

Second forfeits for the Williamstown Cup were due at 4 p.m. to-day, and after the time for declaring had expired 40 remained in the race. The scratching of one of these, Lady Ruenalf, however, came to hand at two minutes to 5 o'clock.

Invitations for the Jubilee Cup meeting of the V.R.C. were sent to the heads of racing clubs in various parts of the world, but, as far as can be learned, there will not be many distinguished visitors from abroad. Unless there is Court mourning on account of the death of the Duke of Teck, his Excellency the Governor-General and his Excellency the State Governor will be present at the meeting.

CYCLING AND MOTORING.

MOTOR NOTES.

According to the "Autocar," motor cars, whether for passenger or traction purposes, were a big factor in the German Imperial manoeuvres in Prussia last month (September). Seventy-three cars were on the field, besides a number of motor trains or trailers. The German Motor Volunteer Corps were represented by no less than 30 cars; five were placed at the disposal of the War Office, 22 for military cabinet, and manoeuvre umpires, 10 for the staffs of the two army corps carrying on the fights, one for the inspector of the field artillery, and one for the German military attaches. Twelve new Mercedes cars recently bought by the War Office were set down for service to transport the foreign attaches and the German Emperor's guests. There were several other motor tractors employed in the commissariat department, and two motor vans, each with two trailers, were told off to follow the Parseval and Gross airships to supply them with their necessary supplies for action.

Alick M'Neil and M'Intosh report the sale of a six-cylinder Noiseless Napier to Mr. Norman Ramsay, of Canbooya, Darling Downs, Queensland. Mr. Ramsay is a well-known pastoralist in the north, and the family are known better as Ramsay Bros., of Ondooroo, being big station owners in Queensland. It is stated that this is the tenth Napier car this family have purchased.

Messrs. Woolf, of Croydon, and Rafferty, of Wagga, have respectively purchased 14-16 h.p. four-cylinder Belsize cars, which they intend to use in connection with the motor-hiring business. Both cars are fitted up with Sankey's steel bodies, which means a great saving in the weight of the car.

Recent experiments in France have proved that the motor bicycle is by far the most suitable vehicle for tracking aeroplanes in flight. Experiments were conducted during some recent manoeuvres, in which the motor cyclist was set to follow a flying machine across country. Especially in country lanes and across hilly districts does the motor bicycle score over all other types of vehicles. In actual warfare it would be of the utmost importance to discover the destination of the aeroplanist, and, if possible, to bring him to earth before he got there. With this object in view, the authorities in France are said to be training a special corps of expert riflemen, who will be mounted on motor bicycles and attempt to bring down the aeroplanist in flight.

A suggestion has been made relative to the establishment of a local motor-car factory, based on the assumption that protection and assistance would be forthcoming from the Federal Government in the shape of a duty, or perhaps a bonus. Possibly this assistance might be available, but it is rather doubtful whether it would be a paying proposition to instal a factory to produce the motor chassis that is in demand to-day. It is stated that over 1000 imported cars are sold annually in Australia, but they are of varied horse-power and design, and to justify the outlay in establishing a factory it would be necessary to secure practically the whole of the available output; and the motor car of to-day has hardly arrived at that stage of standardisation. No doubt the time will come when the local-made motor vehicle will replace the imported article on our roads, but it will be a slow process, and will depend materially on the question of complete standardisation of the engine, gears, and frame. The time is not far distant when all the body work will be done in Australia; that, however, is not a question of standard, but one of fancy and adaptation to requirements.

LAWN TENNIS.

NEW SOUTH WALES ASSOCIATION.

About forty members attended the special general meeting held last night, and the resolutions passed at the extraordinary general meeting held on September 30 were confirmed. These provide for debenture-holders to have three representatives on the council, and for a printed copy of the balance-sheet to be posted to every life and ground member, debenture-holder, and secretary of every affiliated association or club, at least seven days before the annual general meeting. Provision is also made that at all general meetings every ground and life member who is also an ordinary member shall have one vote in his capacity as a ground or life member, and one vote as a member of an affiliated club. It is also provided that the hon. secretary must, and on the request of two delegates shall, call a meeting of delegates to make suggestions to the council. Hitherto only one meeting of delegates in the year was possible. At the conclusion of the special meeting the adjourned annual meeting was proceeded with, when the balance sheet for the year ended February 28 was adopted.

A meeting of the country week committee was held yesterday. It was decided that the week shall begin on Boxing Day. This year a competition between teams of ladies representing country teams is to be included in the programme, and also a country singles championship, for which Mr. W. P. Dunlop, president of the association, has intimated his wish to present a trophy of the value of £10 10s. Entries for all events close on November 30.

PRESENTATION TO MR. HORACE RICE.

A few of Mr. Horace Rice's friends and supporters entertained him at dinner at Paris House last Saturday evening. Mr. P. B. Colquhoun occupied the chair, and proposed the health of the guest of the evening. The toast was supported by Messrs. W. P. Dunlop (president N.S.W. Association), A. D. Webb (ex-State champion), T. H. Hicks (hon. secretary Australasian and N.S.W. associations), G. W. Wright (metropolitan champion), Dr. Bowker, A. V. Doyle, and C. A. Royle, and was drunk with enthusiasm. Mr. Colquhoun, on behalf of those present and a few others who were unavoidably absent, presented Mr. Rice with a framed photograph of himself and a detailed list of his performances, suitably illuminated. Mr. Rice made a suitable response. Amongst Mr. Rice's achievements a unique record exists of having played in 24 matches against Victoria—13 in Sydney and 11 in Melbourne.

BOWLS.

INTERSTATE MATCH.

The first of three interstate games between Victoria and Western Australia was played at Brighton to-day, the home team winning by 135 to 62.

BOXING.

WHITTAKER v CHERVEY WILLIAMS.

Chervey Williams, the heavyweight champion of Queensland, who has been training with the American boxers at Sir Joseph Banks' Hotel, Botany, will meet Jack Whittaker, of North Sydney, at the Gaiety Athletic Club, to-night. Whittaker, who on his first appearance in the ring was thought by many good judges to be too slow, has improved with every contest, as his various opponents can testify, and as Williams is well known as a steady, hard-hitting boxer, a tip-top contest is assured. The contest will start at 9 o'clock.

ED. WILLIAMS IN SYDNEY.

Ed. Williams, the Victorian middleweight champion, who is billed to meet Billy Papke at the Stadium on Wednesday night for the middleweight championship of the world, has arrived in Sydney from the southern capital. He states that his condition leaves nothing to be desired, and that physically he is a much different man from what he was when he made his last appearance in a Sydney ring. He expects to give the American representative a sharp run for his money, and feels hopeful of securing the title.

BELLINGEN, Monday.

At the local Stadium on Saturday night W. Soutar, 11st 8lb, of Grafton, knocked out Bob Thompson, 12st 6lb, of Bellingen, in the fourth round, in a match for £30 a side. Soutar has fought 21 fights on the Richmond, Clarence, and Bellinger, winning 19 and drawing 2. He is matched to fight Paddy Lynch, who is recognised as one of the best on the North Coast, next month.

AMUSEMENTS.

MR. WILLIAM HOLMAN'S RECITAL.

Mr. William Holman, the well-known elocutionist and actor, entertained a large audience at St. James's Hall last night with a lecture-recital on Shakespeare's comedy, "The Merchant of Venice." His artistic scheme included a few introductory remarks, more especially upon the sources of the plot, and the nature of the principal characters, together with an idea of the status of the Jews in England at the period in which the great poet lived. Mr. Holman ultimately recited the greater part of the comedy from memory, a very considerable achievement, to which he added the variety of expression and the avoidance of the purely elocutionary style needed to sustain the interest of his audience. The characters of Portia and Nerissa were successfully taken by his pupils, Miss V. Rose Brown and Miss Vera Keogh. The former, who played her part with sympathy, insisted a little too much upon the accentuation of the leading words of her sentences, but the fault was a slight one, since only the significant words were so treated. Misses Millie Hughes, Muriel Casey, Taylor, and Agnes Caspers formed a harmonious vocal quartet for "Orpheus with his Lute," and the two firstnamed also won cordial acceptance in the duet, "Where is Sylvia?" Miss Mollie Bruton was the pianist. Mr. Holman was applauded with enthusiasm throughout the evening. Mr. Lawrence Campbell presided.

BUILDINGS AND WORKS.

PROGRESS OF THE TRADE.

ROMAN CATHOLIC CATHEDRAL, ARMIDALE.

The Roman Catholic Cathedral at Armidale, being erected by Dr. O'Connor, Bishop of Armidale, is the culmination of a life's work. It will occupy a commanding position near the present pro-Cathedral—which is picturesquely situated in the vicinity of many fine buildings, public and otherwise. The completed building, including transepts, will be 140ft long; the nave and aisles will be 65ft wide, the transepts 135ft across. The baptistery will be at the front of the building. The tower will be 26ft square, and including the spire, 160ft in height. The plan shows nine bays, with stone columns supporting the nave arcades; the sanctuary is 36ft by 35ft, with a polygonal end, and on either side a spacious nuns' chapel, sacristy, and an acolytes vestry opening therefrom, of strikingly beautiful appearance. The main front is broken by four lofty buttresses, well proportioned and striking effective. The baptistery has an octagonal end, with a high turret roof, with a cross finial. The aisles are finished with embattled parapets, resting on moulded corbels. The tower door has a traceried stone tympanum, and stone head, enclosed in pointed arches, with label moulds. There is a circular tracery window over, opening into the tower, on a level leading into the gallery. The Cathedral will be built of brick, with stone and marble dressings. The fine hammer beam roof panelled in the bays will be covered with best Bangor slates. The cost of the contract just signed will be £21,380. Mr. George F. Nott, of Armidale, is the contractor. The architects are Messrs. Sheerin and Hennessy.

GENERAL NOTES.

Among the last acts of the outgoing Minister for Works (Mr. Lee) was the signing last week of three important contracts, involving an expenditure in the aggregate of nearly £28,000. The first was for the erection of the female patients' wing at the Hospital for Consumptives at Waterfall. The necessity for this building has long been recognised, and the hospital will be able to do twice the work it now accomplishes. The contract price is £12,321.

The second contract was for the erection of veterinary school buildings at the Sydney University. These will prove a useful adjunct to the already large pile of buildings at this the senior school of learning of the State. The cost of the veterinary school will be £11,637.

The third contract was for the supply and fixing of the fittings for the additions to the medical school at the University. These are all of the finest and most up-to-date of their several kinds, and will cost nearly £4000.

Messrs. Power and Adam, architects, are preparing plans for the erection of a factory at Redfern, alterations to residential premises in Bligh-street, additions to business premises in George-street, erection of a residence at Marrickville, for all of which tenders will be invited in a few days.

Under the direction of Mr. Roscoe J. Collins, architect, the following buildings were commenced last week:—Open-air theatre at Mosman, residence at Roseville, cottage at Croydon, pair of cottages at Randwick, residence at Manly, cottage at Leichhardt.

Fresh tenders are called for the construction of the Fernhill extension of the western suburbs sewerage scheme. The closing date has been fixed for November 14.

It is proposed to erect buildings adjoining the Theatre Royal, to become part of the theatre property. The matter came before the last meeting of the works committee of the City Council in the form of a report from the city building surveyor, dated October 18. The committee decided to forward the report to the council with the following recommendation:—"That a report by the city building surveyor, dated October 18, with regard to plans for new buildings proposed to be erected in, and adjoining the Theatre Royal, Castlereagh-street, submitted for approval, be adopted, such report stating that the proposed building will be on land adjoining the theatre on the north side, although through access from one building to the other will not exist. 'The new structure will be used for wardrobe, rehearsal, mechanics, electricians, and office purposes, and it is proposed to build over the existing right of way above the ground floor, and recommending that the plans of this building, though not actually forming part of the theatre itself, should be referred to the Government authorities to be dealt with under the Theatres and Public Halls Act.'" The building surveyor was inclined to give approval to the plans as submitted.

Mr. R. Keith Harris, architect, has plans in preparation for two shops and an entertainment hall in the city, lodge buildings at Macksville, and a residence at Cremorne.

Mr. H. B. Coles, architect, is preparing working drawings for a house on the heights of Mosman, and for a cottage at Neutral Bay.

Mr. G. A. Roberts has plans in hand for a residence at Killara, and for additions to a cottage at Hornsby.

To-morrow tenders close in the office of Mr. L. S. Robertson, architect, for additions to a shop at Manly.

The Sacred Heart Roman Catholic Church at Darlinghurst is to be rebuilt from plans by Messrs. Nangle and Nurzey, architects, who are now calling for tenders to carry out the work. The church will be larger than the present edifice, and of an entirely different design.

In the office of Mr. O. Harley, architect, plans are complete for four cottages at Waverley, and for a cottage at Killara.

Messrs. Buchanan and M'Kay, architects, are completing drawings and specifications for a cottage at Rose Bay, and for a villa residence at Marrickville.

LIFE SAVING.

INTERVIEW WITH MR. W. HENRY.

Mr. W. Henry left for Brisbane by last night's train, and was seen off by representatives of the local branch of the Life-saving Society.

Prior to his departure he was interviewed by a representative of the "Sydney Morning Herald," and questioned concerning the impressions local efforts in the direction of the noble art of saving life had made upon him. The Sydney beaches, he considers, are a foretaste of Paradise, and the arrangements for surf-bathers are simply delightful He does not know of any place where similar conditions prevail, nor has he seen such surfing or efficient methods. Such an effect have his experiences made upon him that he intends taking back to England with him photos showing various phases of rescue work, and will try and introduce the system on the various beaches of Great Britain.

The Surf-bathing Association has decided to present Mr. Henry with a completely equipped reel, line, and belt, to take back with him to England, and he will give demonstrations with them. It is likely that Mr. A. Watson, a well-known man in surfing, will be in England next March, and, with the Tartakover brothers already there, Mr. Henry will be able to form a strong squad.

On returning from his visit to New Zealand, Mr. Henry will go through the experience of being rescued, so as to have practical knowledge of the method adopted here. In his opinion there is nothing round England to be compared to the surf-bathing he has witnessed during the past few days. The shooting of the breakers was quite new to him.

Yesterday Mr. Henry, in company with Mr. G. S. Williams, secretary of the New South Wales branch, was present at the Municipal Baths, and went through a number of evolutions. During the afternoon he was the guest of the East Sydney Club at a launch picnic. The Sobraon was visited, Captain Mason cordially welcoming Mr. Henry, and personally thanking him for his kindness to the late B. Kieran when in England. The Sobraon boys gave a number of songs, and they were addressed by Mr. Henry. A trip was made up the Lane Cove River, where Mr. Cecil Healy presented Mr. Henry with the club's badge of honorary membership—a medallion with waratah thereon.

CARNIVAL AT CASINO.

CASINO, Monday.

The Casino Swimming Club and Life-saving Brigade, expecting a visit from Mr. W. Henry, general secretary of the Royal Life-saving Society, had arranged a carnival for the end of the month in his honour, but Mr. J. C. Wearne, hon. instructor, received word on Saturday that Mr. Henry cannot come. Great disappointment is felt.

UNITED PROTESTANT DEMONSTRATION.

A general committee meeting of the United Protestants was held last evening in the Protestant Hall to discuss the society's progress up to the present date. The annual picnic, which for a long time past has been held on November 9, was rendered impossible this year, owing to the death of the late King, and it has been found difficult to find a suitable date in lieu of the old one. The occasion has now been fixed for Anniversary Day next year, and a good sports programme has been arranged.

DISABLED BY CRUEL ECZEMA.

"I was for eight months the victim of terrible suffering from eczema. My hands were like raw beef, and I was told that my complaint was weeping eczema. I had it more or less all over my body, as well as on my face, and it gave me so much suffering that I could neither work nor sleep. The chemist gave me a prepared powder, and told me to bathe my hands in water and dust them with the powder. But this did me no good. It seemed rather to chap my hands more, so I went to see a doctor. He gave me some medicine, and told me that I might not be rid of the disease for two years. I became fairly downhearted. The disease gradually grew worse, and eventually I was unable to attend to any of my domestic duties.

"After a lapse of several months, I happened to go to the house of a neighbour's sister, whose little boy had had ringworm, and was cured, I was told, by Cuticura. I was recommended to try it myself, and when I got home I persuaded my husband to send for a set of the Cuticura Remedies. Their use had immediate effect, my skin peeled, and new flesh formed within a week. It is glorious to be once more able to get about and attend to my duties. I am quite cured, and it is Cuticura alone that has cured me. Mrs. A. Holton, The Grove, near Wantage, Berks., England, August 30, 1909." Reference: R. Towns and Co., Sydney.—Advt.

To Mr. Raleigh.

Sir,—I am pleased to certify that you ROASTED A JOINT OF MEAT, BOILED VEGETABLES IN THREE VESSELS, and ALSO WATER IN A KETTLE, AT THE SAME TIME, in your "Paragon" Gas Stove, WITH A RING taken from the English Stove which I had in use, and which ring, fixed in the English Stove, WOULD ONLY BOIL ONE VESSEL. The test was carried out in my own kitchen, and in my presence. I cannot now understand any person using an English Gas Stove when such convincing evidence of its great waste of gas can be so clearly seen. You may use this certificate in any way you please. Yours, etc., M. STEPHEN.

National Bank-chambers, Pitt-street, Sydney, February 6.

Mr. M. Raleigh.

Dear Sir,—This is to certify that you took a ring from the English Gas Stove I am using at present, fixed it in one of your "Paragon" Stoves, and with it ROASTED A JOINT AND COOKED VEGETABLES IN THREE VESSELS AT THE SAME TIME. I can only boil ONE VESSEL with the same ring in the English Stove. Had I not seen the work done in my own kitchen, I could scarcely believe it possible. You are at liberty to publish this testimonial for the benefit of the public.—Yours, etc., A. C. THOMAS.

BIG BARGAINS IN CAMBRIC INSERTION AND EDGINGS.

We have just purchased, direct from the Manufacturer, a large consignment of fine quality Cambric Insertions, Edgings, Flouncings, and All-over Pattern Embroideries.

We got these at a very heavy concession—one of the luckiest snaps we've made for many a day—that's why we are able to offer them to-day so much below their value.

We ask you to inspect our special Window Display of these goods—and assure you that similar value is quite unobtainable elsewhere. Remember, Embroideries are very fashionable this season.

It reflects credit on your good judgment if you use Cherry Blossom Boot Polish.

Have you tried Cherry Blossom yet? It is easy to use, quick to polish, and very economical. It softens the leather, and keeps it in good condition. It excludes the moisture from your boots, and thus makes them wear longer. Only a little is required once or twice a week on a pair of boots, and you get the largest sold at the price—3d and 6d each—Black and Tan. Get a tin of Cherry Blossom Boot Polish to-day. Be sure you get the genuine.

AFTER THAT RAIN THE MOSQUITO.

It Only Wanted
last week's little downpour to bring the SUMMER PEST
buzzing about our ears in hungry malevolence.
'Tis a "Timely Time" for

A WORD ABOUT MOSQUITO CURTAINS.

IT IS A FACT that we make more Curtains than any other house in Australia, and send them far and wide all over the Commonwealth.

The explanation is simple; every Net is of ample width and length, honestly made, and as comparison will show cheaper than any other make on the market.

MOSQUITO-PROOF CURTAINS,
for Half-Tester and Italian Beds.
(We charge NO EXTRA for Italians.)
2ft 6in—6/11, 8/11, 9/11, 10/11, to 19/11,
3ft—7/11, 9/11, 10/11, 12/11, to 21/9,
3ft 6in—8/11, 10/11, 12/11, to 23/9,
4ft—9/11, 11/9, 14/11, 16/11, to 27/9,
4ft 6in—10/11, 12/11, 14/11, to 35/6,
5ft—12/11, 14/11, 17/11, to 32/6.
It is a Unique feature of our Curtains that they [illegible]

GUARANTEED TO FIT

your Bedstead, and we are not satisfied until you are.

OPEN-FRONT CURTAINS, trimmed with a Dainty Lace, are priced for Double Beds at 20/, 25/, 27/6, 29/6, up to 90/,
with an added VALANCE of Nottingham or Applique Lace, or Lace-trimmed Net, from 29/6, 32/6, 35/6, to 60/.

COT NETS are a necessity, for if the little one doesn't sleep, you won't.
2ft x 4ft Curtains cost 4/11, 5/11, to 10/11,
2ft 6in x 4ft 6in, 5/11, 6/11, to 11/9,
2ft x 5ft, 6/11, 7/11, 12/11.

These solve the problem for the Camp, Garden, or Verandah. All you need is a [illegible] bough, a nail, anything to hang a cord on, and you are safe. Made on collapsible hoop, to roll up and go in a pocket, 5/6, 6/6, 7/6, 8/6, 10/6.

A BOLD SAYING.

Whatever the Size, the Shape, or the Make of your Bedstead, we can fit it with a Mosquito-proof Curtain of better quality for a lower price than you can obtain elsewhere in Australia.

That is a claim
we have made for 25 years,

AND HAVE NEVER FAILED TO MAKE GOOD.
